DAY IN CONGRESS

SCHEEPER RESOLUTIONS IN THE SENATE.

INTERVENTION IS URGED

TO INDUCE GREAT BRITAIN TO SPARE BOER'S LIFE.

HOUSE TALKS PHILIPPINES

INDIANA MEMBERS HEARD ON TARIFF BILL.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Soon after the senate convened today Mr. Culberson (Texas) secured the adoption of a resolution directing the secretary of war to transmit to the senate copies of all suggestions, statements, criticisms and correspondence between the war department or any official thereof and any person or corporation relating to the customs tariff affecting the Philippine islands.

Mr. Teller offered the following concurrent resolution which he asked to go over until tomorrow:

"Whereas, It is announced that sentence of death has been passed upon Commandant Scheepers, of the Orange Free State army, now a prisoner of war in the hands of the British forces in South Africa; and,

"Whereas, It is known that said Commandant Scheepers was captured while lying sick and wounded in hospital, such capture being in violation of articles 1 and 5 of the Geneva convention; and,

"Whereas, His execution by the British authorities will lead to acts of retaliation and reprisal; be it

"Resolved, By the senate, the house of representatives concurring, that the president request the government of Great Britain to set aside in the interest of humanity such sentence of death and accord to Commandant Scheepers the privileges and immunities guaranteed under the Geneva convention."

After reading press dispatches reciting the statements of fact in the resolution Mr. Teller said:

"I am told we can have by tomorrow official evidence that the statements in the resolution are correct. This is a case which certainly calls for the intervention of the United States or of some other government which has some feeling of humanity. War, wherever it is, should be conducted upon principles of humanity or at least, if not, we should enter our protest against it."

COMMERCE BILL UP.

At the conclusion of routine business Mr. Nelson called up the bill establishing a department of commerce. Mr. Quarles, of Wisconsin, offered an amendment providing that the secretary of commerce should have complete control of the work of gathering and distributing statistical information naturally relating to the subject confided to his department, and to this end the secretary of commerce should have authority to call upon the other departments of the government for statistical data to be published as he may deem wise.

At 2 o'clock the unfinished business—the Philippine tariff bill—was laid before the senate, but as no senator was prepared to proceed with the debate the measure, on motion of Mr. Lodge, of Massachusetts, in charge of it, was laid aside temporarily and the senate continued the discussion of the department of commerce bill.

IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, Jan. 22.—At the opening of the session of the house today Mr. Dalzell (Pa.), from the committee on rules, presented a special rule to exclude from the floor of the house before the session all persons except members and those entitled to the floor during the session, employes of the house and members of the press. Heretofore it has been the custom to admit all persons to the floor until fifteen minutes before the house meets. Mr. Dalzell explained that the purpose of the new rule was to exclude from the floor before the sessions persons, as he expressed it, who came into the hall "principally to get out of the cold."

In answer to questions Mr. Dalzell said that visitors could be admitted to the floor upon the cards of members. The rule was adopted, 103 to 27.

The house then went into committee of the whole and resumed the debate upon the general deficiency bill. It was agreed that general debate should close at 2:20 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Padgett(Tenn.), the first speaker, advocated the adoption of a declaration in favor of pledging the United States to give independence to the Philippines.

After some further remarks by Mr. Cassidy (Nev.) and Mr. Bower (Ind.), Mr. Watson (Ind.) closed the general debate with an hour's speech in defense of the administration's Philippine policy. He denounced the statement which, he said, was made on the other side that the United States had taken the place of Spain as the despoiler of the Philippines. He produced figures from the Spanish budget to show that 50 per cent of all the revenues of the islands under the Spanish regime was diverted to the mother country. On the other hand, he said, every dollar raised from taxation since the American occupation had gone into the insular territory. He then contrasted what we were doing in the islands in the way of education, public improvements, etc., with what was done in the old Spanish days.

WIVES WILL ORGANIZE.

The committee has issued an invitation to the wives of all union machinists in the city to meet Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at 138 Calhoun street, for the purpose of organizing a ladies' auxiliary to the International Union of Machinists.

VIOLATED COURT'S ORDERS

HERBERT BICKNESE GOES TO JAIL FOR CONTEMPT.

Judge Aiken's Order Anent a Divorce Suit Obeyed—News About the Court House.

At this writing Mr. Herbert Bicknese, of 253 East Washington street, has probably a higher appreciation of the dignity of a court than he ever had before, although he may feel a deep sense of contempt which he will not soon express. Yesterday afternoon Mary Bicknese, his wife, filed an application for divorce in the superior court and she also asked for an order restraining her husband from visiting her or in any way interfering with her or the property in her possession. The injunction was granted and made a part of the record and late last evening service was obtained on the defendant. Mr. Bicknese did not think well of the order and promptly proceeded to monkey with the buzz saw. He went to the premises and made himself at home as usual, commenced regulating things and prepared to remove a lot of personal property which he claimed as his own, in the meantime taking occasion to make a few remarks. His wife remonstrated and finally called for police protection. This morning she made complaint to the court and Deputies Ryan and Huguenard were sent out after Herbert. He was found and brought into court where P. B. Colerick appeared as his attorney. He was asked to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court in violating the express order of the court before the ink with which the order was written was fairly dry. Herbert failed to purge himself and the order of the court was that he be taken to the county jail and kept there for twenty-one days. Attorney Colerick made a motion to modify the order but at this writing it still stands.

BIG FORECLOSURE SUIT.

This morning Eliza Hanna Hayden and Fred J. Hayden, through their attorney, S. R. Alden, commenced foreclosure proceedings against the Fort Wayne Driving club and D. N. Foster on a mortgage for $18,000. The suit is to close up the affairs of the driving club, which have long been in an unsettled condition and the mortgage covers the property for a number of years known as the Fort Wayne Driving park, which was bought from the Haydens, but never fully paid for.

MINERS GO ON STRIKE.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 22.—The miners at the West End Coal company's colliery at Mocanaqua, went on strike today because non-union workmen were employed. The strikers number 500.

Revival services in charge of Rev. J. T. Hatfield will begin at St. Paul's M. E. church this evening. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips will conduct the singing.

Mrs. Perry McKinley, of Bloomingdale, underwent an operation for appendicitis at St. Joseph hospital today. Dr. English was the operating surgeon.

HEAVY SHORTAGE

SHORTAGE IS VERY LARGE

TURNS OVER MUCH PROPERTY TO EMPLOYERS.

HIS SALARY NEVER EXCEEDED $40 PER WEEK.

Cincinnati, Jan. 22.—It was reported today that Theodore Braemer, secretary and treasurer of the J. & F. Schroth Packing company, of this city, was short in his accounts from $160,000 to $500,000. The story as printed in all the local papers was that Braemer, when charged with the shortage of $160,000, resigned from his position and then transferred to trustees a large amount of property to cover any shortage that further investigation might disclose. Braemer today admitted the resignation and the transfer of property, but denies that any shortage in his accounts existed other than might be due to errors in bookkeeping. Until recently Braemer, who had been with the firm twenty-five years, received $25 per week as bookkeeper. His salary never exceeded $40 per week. He has transferred one of the finest residences in the city and other valuable property and over $200,000 in stocks and bonds to his former employers. His employers always believed his statements about his fortunate speculations and investments and never examined his books.

Interviews with Braemer and his attorney, Harland Cleveland, and with Joseph W. O'Hara, attorney for the Schroth Packing company were to the general effect that published accounts of the "discrepancies" will fall short of the sum reported. That Braemer is actually short in his accounts is denied and it is claimed that Braemer transferred property to trustees, and not to the Schroth estate, pending a more definite arrangement of matters between Braemer as secretary and treasurer of the Schroth concern and the company.

Braemer said that he had transferred to the trustees $72,000 in Standard Oil and Cincinnati Gas and Electric stock. This, he said, would amply cover any errors which might be found on the books.

"I tell you the truth of the matter," said Braemer. "The 'old man' and I have been fighting for about six months and I concluded to quit and I resigned Sunday. Some errors had been discovered in the books and it was mutually agreed to have an expert go over them. In order to indemnify the company Attorneys Cleveland and O'Hara were appointed trustees of my estate and I turned over to them the $72,000 in stocks. If any shortage is found I will be to blame. My salary was $50 a week and had been for the past ten years. I owned $15,000 worth of stock in the company. In conclusion I wish to state that if there is any shortage I know nothing of it."

BIGGEST IN ITS HISTORY.

The crowd at Princess rink last evening on the occasion of the masquerade carnival was the biggest that has attended an event of the kind since the rink was opened. A large crowd of skaters occupied the floor, some of the costumes being handsome and others of a very amusing character. The first prizes were won by Miss May Kickley and Frank M. Bauner, while the prizes for the most comical costumes went to Miss Krock and George Rohle. Mr. Rohle gave a perfect impersonation of "Happy Hooligan" and his many woes, while Miss Krock, as a Bowery girl, caught the fancy of the crowd. Another masked carnival will be given early next month.

MINERS DELAY ELECTIONS

ARE WAITING FOR REPORT ON CHARGES.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22.—National officers of the United Mine Workers of America will not be elected until the committee appointed to investigate charges preferred against President John Mitchell and Secretary-Treasurer Wilson has made its report to the convention, probably Friday.

The feeling in the convention today was that the report of the investigating committee will exonerate Mitchell and Wilson and that they will be re-elected.

The miners cheered President Mitchell when he appeared on the stage today. A minute after taking up the gavel he said he felt it would be more satisfactory to the convention at large if a delegate from each of the two additional districts to which Miss Meredith's charges had been sent be appointed on the committee named to investigate, so W. D. VanHorne, who presided yesterday, took the chair and appointed Delegate Lawrence Love, of district 13, of Iowa, and Pat Dolan, of district 5, of Pennsylvania.

The first order of the routine business was the appointment of a committee on constitution, as follows: J. W. Howe, district No. 19; Chris Evans, No. 6; Peter Hanrany, No. 21; John T. Dempsey, No. 1; W. T. Morris, No. 12; G. W. Purcell, No. 11, and Paul P. Pulaski, No. 19.

The convention at 10:30 o'clock adjourned to 1:30 p. m. because little or nothing could be done until the committees had time to get to work.

PENNSYLVANIA RIVERS RISE

FLOODS THREATEN LARGE SECTIONS OF STATE.

West Chester, Pa., Jan. 22.—Dr. Francis Clemens, jr., of Paoli, near here, was drowned late last night in Ridley creek. In company with his brother he was returning from a visit to a patient and while attempting to cross the stream, which had been swollen by the heavy rain, his carriage was overturned and its occupants precipitated into the creek. Dr. Clemens was swept away and his body has not yet been recovered. His brother was rescued by a farmer who heard his cries for assistance.

SCHUYLKILL OVERFLOWS.

Philadelphia, Jan. 22.—The heavy rain of yesterday and last night has caused the Schuylkill river to overflow its banks and from various near-by points reports were received today that the water is steadily rising. At Manayunk, a suburb of this city, the river is twenty feet above normal and many of the manufacturing establishments along the banks at that place have suffered serious damage. The river drives through Fairmount park are under water.

FLOODS CLOSE COLLIERIES.

Hazleton, Pa., Jan. 22.—Eight of the collieries in the Hazleton district, which had recently resumed operations after being idle since the flood in December, were closed down again today because of the high water in the workings as a result of last night's heavy rain.

SMALL STREAMS IN FRESHET.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 22.—As a result of the heavy rains of yesterday and last night all the streams of this county are out of their banks, some being higher than for twenty-five years. A number of small bridges were carried away. The Susquehanna river is slowly rising. The ice on it began breaking up this morning and up to noon was slowly passing off.

WATER GAINING IN MINES.

Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 22—The heavy rain of the past twenty-four hours has swollen the Schuylkill river and its tributaries, many of which have overflown their banks. The water is gaining in many of the inner workings of the mines and it is feared that the damage of December will be repeated. Portions of electric railway to Orwigsburg are washed away and traffic is temporarily suspended.

"MORAL SUICIDE" HIS THEME.

Rev. Z. A. Harris will speak this evening at the West Creighton avenue Church of Christ, upon "Moral Suicide." Much interest is manifested in these meetings, and the attendance is increasing. Mr. Hawes, the song evangelist, will sing tonight, "Can a Boy Forget His Mother?" and "He'll Never Forget to Keep Me." Mr. Hawes is a composer of considerable note and sings many of his own songs. The services continue during the week.

SCHEEPERS SHOT

BOER LEADER WAS EXECUTED LAST SATURDAY.

BY ORDER OF KITCHENER

GRIM DECREE CARRIED OUT

NEXT SATURDAY WAS THOUGHT HIS DOOMSDAY.

New York, Jan. 22.—It has just been discovered that through a cable error an Associated Press dispatch announced that the death sentence upon Commandant Scheepers, of the Boer army, had been confirmed by General Kitchener and that he would be executed next Saturday. The fact is that he was executed on last Saturday, January 18.

INFECTION IN AN ABRASION.

While cleaning out her kitchen sink a few days ago Mrs. H. A. Popp, of 99 Lake avenue, suffered a slight abrasion on the first finger of the right hand. No attention was paid to the cut, but in a few hours it began to pain and soon the entire arm was affected. It was thought that amputation would be necessary, but the attending physician has hopes of saving the limb.

E. F. YARNELLE NOT IN RACE

COULD NOT ACCEPT NOMINATION FOR CONGRESS.

Appreciates the Kindly Interest of Friends, But Says He Will Keep Out of Politics.

E. F. Yarnelle, the well known Fort Wayne wholesale hardware man, who has been receiving favorable mention in connection with the republican nomination for congress in this district, authorizes The Sentinel to say that not only is he not a candidate for the place, but that business interests would not permit him to give such a proposition the slightest consideration, even if he were disposed to do so.

"No one appreciates the kindly expression of friends or values their esteem to a greater degree than do I," said Mr. Yarnelle to a reporter for The Sentinel this afternoon. "When somebody suggested my name in connection with the nomination I did not believe the matter of sufficient importance to warrant a statement. I find, however, that in various parts of the district my friends have been taking the matter seriously and have even taken steps to send delegates to consult me with reference to making the race. The sincerity of their support cannot be doubted, and I appreciate their kindness thorough. It is gratifying to have the good will of such men and I shall never forget their evidence of confidence and esteem. But I have a business which demands my attention, and I could not think of giving the matter of a congressional nomination the slightest consideration. I am not in politics."

DISORDER AT CONFIRMATION

London, Jan. 22.—The ceremony of the confirmation of the Rt. Rev. Charles A. Gore as bishop of Worcester, at the church house, Westminister today, was attended by an extraordinary scene of tumult. The the hall was thronged and there were numerous objectors to the confirmation, among whom was John Kensit, the notorious anti-ritualist crusader. They protested so vehemently that what was intended to be a semi-religious ceremony assumed the character of a disorderly political gathering. Bishop Gore's editorship of Lux Mundi and the fact that he is the founder of a monastic celibate society figured largely among the arguments of the protestors. The vicar general ruled out most of the protests, whereupon Kensit, in vigorous terms, defied the vicar general to stifle him, declaring he would continue to protest until ejected by force.

A great uproar followed and it was only when the vicar general prepared to carry out his threat to clear the hall that Kensit consented to sit down.

Shouts of "farce" and "conspiracy" accompanied Bishop Gore's declaration and the administration of the oath.

TOOK LEG BAIL.

Last evening Constable Kenelly arrested William Weber, charged with paternity by Inez Ray, the affidavit being filed in Bullermann's court. At the hour of arrest Weber said he could not give bail and the officer, knowing him quite well, took him home with him and the prisoner enjoyed the constable's hospitality during the night and at breakfast. Afterwards the two went to court and today Weber said he thought he could fix the matter up by going to see his aunt, who lives in Lakeside. The twain went to Lakeside, where the young man and the aunt held a short consultation. The young man then took off his overcoat and hat, laid them on a chair close by the officer, and said he wanted to step out into the back lot. He is still stepping.

BRINGS HOME CHINESE WIFE

"LONG JIM" RETURNS FROM VISIT TO CHINA.

Has Arrived at San Francisco With Wife and Baby and Will Start Home at Once.

In a few days Fort Wayne will have opportunity to give reception

to the first Chinese woman and Chinese baby to come here and add to the human variety of this city. Probably by the first of next week Jim Wah, widely known in Fort Wayne by the appellation of "Long Jim," will be in Fort Wayne. He arrived in San Francisco the 18th inst., from Canton, China, whither he went nearly three years ago to take unto himself a wife of his own nativity. "Long Jim" was successful in his matrimonial pursuit and brings home with him to Fort Wayne not only a wife, but a real live Chinese baby.

Sam Wah, "Long Jim's" brother, and at present in charge of the Wah Kee laundry, 8 West Wayne street, received a telegram from "Long Jim" a day or two ago announcing the latter's arrival in the port of San Francisco, and asking him to make the necessary arrangements to have him identified as a resident of the United States so that he could be allowed to land under the provisions of the Chinese exclusion law. Sam Wah telegraphed the necessary identification to the proper official in San Francisco and it is probable that "Long Jim" will start today for Fort Wayne.

No Chinese woman has ever resided in this city and "Long Jim's" wife and their little Chinese baby will doubtless be the subject of much lively curiosity when they arrive.

"Long Jim" is one of the most intelligent Chinamen who ever came to Fort Wayne, has many friends and a host of acquaintances. His appellation of "Long Jim" comes from his unusual stature. He is very much larger than the average of Chinamen.

WILL JOIN THE NAVY.

Master Scott Weir leaves tomorrow for San Francisco, where he will enter the navy. The young man will enter as an apprentice and has hopes of being assigned to active duty at an early date.

Mrs. George Welsh, of Clay street, entertained a large crowd of ladies this afternoon at a tea.

A REVIEW OF SOME OF THE PRESENT CONDITIONS.

San Francisco, Jan. 22.—Regarding a standing army in the Philippines, Governor Taft is reported by the Call to have said:

"Fifteen thousand men will be an ample force in the islands before the close of the year. I was told this only a few days before I came away. Officers thoroughly versed in the situation gave me the figures.

"I will explain to you how peace can be maintained in the islands. We have organized a native constabulary, which is working efficiently. Congress allows us to maintain a constabulary of 5,000 men. They are under the command of Major Allen, who has already enlisted 2,500 men in this branch of the service. When the force is fully organized the men will be distributed in the provinces, 150 men to each province. The detachments of constables are commanded by four officers, three of whom are retired volunteer officers and the other a native Filipino. When the constabulary is fully equipped it will be detailed in the field to clean out the Ladrones, who are intimidating the natives. These Filipino constables can be maintained by the government at a cost of $250 each a year, while the soldiers in the islands cost Uncle Sam about $1,000 a head.

"I know that the Pacific coast people would like to see free trade instituted between this country and the islands," said the governor, "but I am sorry to say that I cannot see how it would work.

"The civil government adopted a tariff schedule which is working well, but our internal revenue receipts are not large. When you tax a country too heavily you spoil it, and that is the situation in the Philippines.

"We have asked that the Dingley tariff be reduced for the products of the island at least 50 per cent. We hope that congress will be as generous to the Philippines as it was to Porto Rico. The reduction of the Dingley tariff will mean the opening up of a large market for tobacco and sugar of the island as well as for other products there. Hemp you need, and are buying in larger quantities every day. By so reducing the Dingley tariff a good market for the Pacific coast will be opened up."

Governor Taft said there had been no serious clash with the militiary authorities and declared that the best of good feeling existed between himself and General Chaffee.

This evening Governor Taft will be the guest of honor at a reception to be tendered him by the Union League club, in which the chamber of commerce, board of trade and other organizations will join.

A BAD CASE OF D. T.'S.

ARMENIANS ATTACK TURKS.

Constantinople, Jan. 22.—Two armed Armenian bands have appeared at Sandjak, in the Mush district of Asiatic Turkey. In an encounter between the Armenians and a detachment of Turkish troops the latter lost an officer and two men killed.

HEAVY SNOW AT BUFFALO.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Seventeen inches of snow have fallen here since yesterday noon and it is still falling. The snow is very wet and has not drifted. Railway traffic has been open. Mails from Chicago arrived this morning somewhat late, but up to 9 o'clock no mails had arrived from New York.

His employers always believed his statements about his fortunate speculations and investments and never examined his books.

Interviews with Braemer and his attorney, Harland Cleveland, and with Joseph W. O'Hara, attorney for the Schroth Packing company were to the general effect that published accounts of the "discrepancies" will fall short of the sum reported. That Braemer is actually short in his accounts is denied and it is claimed that Braemer transferred property to trustees, and not to the Schroth estate, pending a more definite arrangement of matters between Braemer as secretary and treasurer of the Schroth concern and the company.

Braemer said that he had transferred to the trustees $72,000 in Standard Oil and Cincinnati Gas and Electric stock. This, he said, would amply cover any errors which might be found on the books.

"I tell you the truth of the matter," said Braemer. "The 'old man' and I have been fighting for about six months and I concluded to quit and I resigned Sunday. Some errors had been discovered in the books and it was mutually agreed to have an expert go over them. In order to indemnify the company Attorneys Cleveland and O'Hara were appointed trustees of my estate and I turned over to them the $72,000 in stocks. If any shortage is found I will be to blame. My salary was $50 a week and had been for the past ten years. I owned $15,000 worth of stock in the company. In conclusion I wish to state that if there is any shortage I know nothing of it."

BIGGEST IN ITS HISTORY.

The crowd at Princess rink last evening on the occasion of the masquerade carnival was the biggest that has attended an event of the kind since the rink was opened. A large crowd of skaters occupied the floor, some of the costumes being handsome and others of a very amusing character. The first prizes were won by Miss May Kickley and Frank M. Rauner, while the prizes for the most comical costumes went to Miss Krock and George Rohle. Mr. Rohle gave a perfect impersonation of "Happy Hooligan" and his many woes, while Miss Krock, as a Bowery girl, caught the fancy of the crowd. Another masked carnival will be given early next month.

MINERS DELAY ELECTIONS

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22.—National officers of the United Mine Workers of America will not be elected until the committee appointed to investigate charges preferred against President John Mitchell and Secretary-Treasurer Wilson has made its report to the convention, probably Friday.

The feeling in the convention today was that the report of the investigating committee will exonerate Mitchell and Wilson and that they will be re-elected.

The miners cheered President Mitchell when he appeared on the stage today. A minute after taking up the gavel he said he felt it would be more satisfactory to the convention at large if a delegate from each of the two additional districts to which Miss Meredith's charges had been sent be appointed on the committee named to investigate, so W. D. VanHorne, who presided yesterday, took the chair and appointed Delegate Lawrence Love, of district 13, of Iowa, and Pat Dolan, of district 5, of Pennsylvania.

The first order of the routine business was the appointment of a committee on constitution, as follows: J. W. Howe, district No. 19; Chris Evans, No. 6; Peter Hannany, No. 21; John T. Dempsey, No. 1; W. T. Morris, No. 12; G. W. Purcell, No. 11, and Paul P. Pulaski, No. 10.

The convention at 10:30 o'clock adjourned to 1:30 p. m. because little or nothing could be done until the committees had time to get to work.

PENNSYLVANIA RIVERS RISE

FLOODS THREATEN LARGE SECTIONS OF STATE.

West Chester, Pa., Jan. 22.—Dr. Francis Clemens, jr., of Paoli, near here, was drowned late last night in Ridley creek. In company with his brother he was returning from a visit to a patient and while attempting to cross the stream, which had been swollen by the heavy rain, his carriage was overturned and its occupants precipitated into the creek. Dr. Clemens was swept away and his body has not yet been recovered. His brother was rescued by a farmer who heard his cries for assistance.

SCHUYLKILL OVERFLOWS.

Philadelphia, Jan. 22.—The heavy rain of yesterday and last night has caused the Schuylkill river to overflow its banks and from various near-by points reports were received today that the water is steadily rising. At Manayunk, a suburb of this city, the river is twenty feet above normal and many of the manufacturing establishments along the banks at that place have suffered serious damage. The river drives through Fairmount park are under water.

FLOODS CLOSE COLLIERIES.

Hazleton, Pa., Jan. 22.—Eight of the collieries in the Hazleton district, which had recently resumed operations after being idle since the flood in December, were closed down again today because of the high water in the workings as a result of last night's heavy rain.

SMALL STREAMS IN FRESHET.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 22.—As a result of the heavy rains of yesterday and last night all the streams of this county are out of their banks, some being higher than for twenty-five years. A number of small bridges were carried away. The Susquehanna river is slowly rising. The ice on it began breaking up this morning and up to noon was slowly passing off.

WATER GAINING IN MINES.

Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 22—The heavy rain of the past twenty-four hours has swollen the Schuylkill river and its tributaries, many of which have overflown their banks. The water is gaining in many of the inner workings of the mines and it is feared that the damage of December will be repeated. Portions of electric railway to Orwigsburg are washed away and traffic is temporarily suspended.

New York, Jan. 22.—It has just been discovered that through a cable error an Associated Press dispatch announced that the death sentence upon Commandant Scheepers, of the Boer army, had been confirmed by General Kitchener and that he would be executed next Saturday. The fact is that he was executed on last Saturday, January 18.

INFECTION IN AN ABRASION.

While cleaning out her kitchen sink a few days ago Mrs. H. A. Popp, of 99 Lake avenue, suffered a slight abrasion on the first finger of the right hand. No attention was paid to the cut, but in a few hours it began to pain and soon the entire arm was affected. It was thought that amputation would be necessary, but the attending physician has hopes of saving the limb.

E. F. YARNELLE NOT IN RACE

COULD NOT ACCEPT NOMINATION FOR CONGRESS.

Appreciates the Kindly Interest of Friends, But Says He Will Keep Out of Politics.

E. F. Yarnelle, the well known Fort Wayne wholesale hardware man, who has been receiving favorable mention in connection with the republican nomination for congress in this district, authorizes The Sentinel to say that not only is he not a candidate for the place, but that business interests would not permit him to give such a proposition the slightest consideration, even if he were disposed to do so.

"No one appreciates the kindly expression of friends or values their esteem to a greater degree than do I," said Mr. Yarnelle to a reporter for The Sentinel this afternoon. "When somebody suggested my name in connection with the nomination I did not believe the matter of sufficient importance to warrant a statement. I find, however, that in various parts of the district my friends have been taking the matter seriously and have even taken steps to send delegates to consult me with reference to making the race. The sincerity of their support cannot be doubted, and I appreciate their kindness thorough. It is gratifying to have the good will of such men and I shall never forget their evidence of confidence and esteem. But I have a business which demands my attention, and I could not think of giving the matter of a congressional nomination the slightest consideration. I am not in politics."

London, Jan. 22.—The ceremony of the confirmation of the Rt. Rev. Charles A. Gore as bishop of Worcester, at the church house, Westminister today, was attended by an extraordinary scene of tumult. The the hall was thronged and there were numerous objectors to the confirmation, among whom was John Kensit, the notorious anti-ritualist crusader. They protested so vehemently that what was intended to be a semi-religious ceremony assumed the character of a disorderly political gathering. Bishop Gore's editorship of Lux Mundi and the fact that he is the founder of a monastic celibate society figured largely among the arguments of the protestors. The vicar general ruled out most of the protests, whereupon Kensit, in vigorous terms, defied the vicar general to stifle him, declaring he would continue to protest until ejected by force.

A great uproar followed and it was only when the vicar general prepared to carry out his threat to clear the hall that Kensit consented to sit down.

TOOK LEG BAIL.

Last evening Constable Kenelly arrested William Weber, charged with paternity by Inez Ray, the affidavit being filed in Bullermann's court. At the hour of arrest Weber said he could not give bail and the officer, knowing him quite well, took him home with him and the prisoner enjoyed the constable's hospitality during the night and at breakfast. Afterwards the two went to court and today Weber said he thought he could fix the matter up by going to see his aunt, who lives in Lakeside. The twain went to Lakeside, where the young man and the aunt held a short consultation. The young man then took off his overcoat and hat, laid them on a chair close by the officer, and said he wanted to step out into the back lot. He is still stepping.

"LONG JIM" RETURNS FROM VISIT TO CHINA.

Has Arrived at San Francisco With Wife and Baby and Will Start Home at Once.

to the first Chinese woman and Chinese baby to come here and add to the human variety of this city. Probably by the first of next week Jim Wah, widely known in Fort Wayne by the appellation of "Long Jim," will be in Fort Wayne. He arrived in San Francisco the 18th inst., from Canton, China, whither he went nearly three years ago to take unto himself a wife of his own nativity. "Long Jim" was successful in his matrimonial pursuit and brings home with him to Fort Wayne not only a wife, but a real live Chinese baby.

Sam Wah, "Long Jim's" brother, and at present in charge of the Wah Kee laundry, 8 West Wayne street, received a telegram from "Long Jim" a day or two ago announcing the latter's arrival in the port of San Francisco, and asking him to make the necessary arrangements to have him identified as a resident of the United States so that he could be allowed to land under the provisions of the Chinese exclusion law. Sam Wah telegraphed the necessary identification to the proper official in San Francisco and it is probable that "Long Jim" will start today for Fort Wayne.

No Chinese woman has ever resided in this city and "Long Jim's" wife and their little Chinese baby will doubtless be the subject of much lively curiosity when they arrive.

"Long Jim" is one of the most intelligent Chinamen who ever came to Fort Wayne, has many friends and a host of acquaintances. His appellation of "Long Jim" comes from his unusual stature. He is very much larger than the average of Chinamen.

WILL JOIN THE NAVY.

Master Scott Weir leaves tomorrow for San Francisco, where he will enter the navy. The young man will enter as an apprentice and has hopes of being assigned to active duty at an early date.

Mrs. George Welsh, of Clay street, entertained a large crowd of ladies this afternoon at a tea.

GOVERNOR TAFT TALKS OF THE PHILIPPINES.

LARGE ARMY IS NOT NEEDED

A REVIEW OF SOME OF THE PRESENT CONDITIONS.

San Francisco, Jan. 22.—Regarding a standing army in the Philippines, Governor Taft is reported by the Call to have said:

"Fifteen thousand men will be an ample force in the islands before the close of the year. I was told this only a few days before I came away. Officers thoroughly versed in the situation gave me the figures.

"I will explain to you how peace can be maintained in the islands. We have organized a native constabulary, which is working efficiently. Congress allows us to maintain a constabulary of 5,000 men. They are under the command of Major Allen, who has already enlisted 2,500 men in this branch of the service. When the force is fully organized the men will be distributed in the provinces, 150 men to each province. The detachments of constables are commanded by four officers, three of whom are retired volunteer officers and the other a native Filipino. When the constabulary is fully equipped it will be detailed in the field to clean out the Ladrones, who are intimidating the natives. These Filipino constables can be maintained by the government at a cost of $250 each a year, while the soldiers in the islands cost Uncle Sam about $1,000 a head.

"I know that the Pacific coast people would like to see free trade instituted between this country and the islands," said the governor, "but I am sorry to say that I cannot see how it would work.

"The civil government adopted a tariff schedule which is working well, but our internal revenue receipts are not large. When you tax a country too heavily you spoil it, and that is the situation in the Philippines.

"We have asked that the Dingley tariff be reduced for the products of the island at least 50 per cent. We hope that congress will be as generous to the Philippines as it was to Porto Rico. The reduction of the Dingley tariff will mean the opening up of a large market for tobacco and sugar of the island as well as for other products there. Hemp you need, and are buying in larger quantities every day. By so reducing the Dingley tariff a good market for the Pacific coast will be opened up."

Governor Taft said there had been no serious clash with the militiary authorities and declared that the best of good feeling existed between himself and General Chaffee.

This evening Governor Taft will be the guest of honor at a reception to be tendered him by the Union League club, in which the chamber of commerce, board of trade and other organizations will join.

A BAD CASE OF D. T.'S.

STREET NUMBERS

CITY HALL IS BESIEGED BY APPLICANTS.

STREET NUMBERING SYSTEM EXPLAINED.

UNSCRUPULOUS AGENTS ARE ABROAD IN THE CITY.

The city hall is in a continuous state of turbulency and turmoil these days, all occasioned by the unexpected demand for new street numbers under the new numbering system. As a matter of accommodation the announcement was made several weeks ago that certain streets had been completed and all persons desiring their numbers could get them, The news spread and soon persons in all parts of the city commenced besieging the engineer's and clerk's offices for their numbers, whether they were in the completed district or not. Many, of course, were disappointed, but the clerks at the city building with sublime urbanity tried to satisfy all comers in one way or another, and at their great inconvenience. While the system has been completed, the copying of the notices has not yet been accomplished and to hunt numbers promiscuously from all parts of the records is an arduous job, although a very easy one after the books are completed. The clerks are also obliged to waste a great deal of time explaining that the numbers given out are correct and why they are correct, and in hunting up lot numbers. The person applying for a number is supposed to present the exact description of the property upon which the number is to be placed. Instead of doing this a majority of the applicants come with only their old house number; that is absolutely of no use to the clerks, who go by a description of the real estate only and know nothing and are expected to know nothing about the old numbers. The Sentinel several months ago explained the plan upon which the new system is based and once it is understood it is very simple and absolutely free from confusion.

SYSTEM EXPLAINED.

For the benefit of those who failed to read the first explanation and for those who have read it have forgotten it, the system will again be briefly outlined. The north and south divisions are marked by St. Marys and Maumee rivers and the east and west divisions by Calhoun street. For the portion lying south of the rivers the first block starts at the first lot south of the Clinton street bridge and the initial is 100; so if there is ever a house built on the first lot south of said bridge on the east side of Clinton street, that house number will be 101. The next block south will commence with No. 200 and so on until Superior street is reached, which will start with 500, all the time going south of course. The Palace saloon, corner Calhoun and Columbia, is No. 600, Alter's cigar store, corner Main and Calhoun, is 700, Old National bank, corner of Berry, is 800, southwest corner of Jefferson is 1100, southwest corner of Williams street is 2000, same corner at Creighton avenue is 2300, Pontiac street is 2700 and the last house at the corner of Calhoun and Richardsville avenue is 3832.

On the north side the numbers run from south to north, and the base line is at the extreme south bend of the St. Marys river at Swinney park, where West Washington street would strike it if the street were continued. There is no street there, but if Mechanic street should ever be extended south to the river, the first number on the right hand side, looking north, would be No. 100. Taking that as the base line the Riverside hotel just across the Wells street bridge on Cass street is No. 902 North Cass, although it is the first house north of the river on Cass street; following this line on Wells street the corner of Wells and Third is 1400, Sixth street starts with 1600 and Archer avenue finishes it with 1799 North Wells. Going west on High street, St. Marys avenue northwest corner, facing on High is No. 100 High street and the corresponding corner on DeGroff street would be 1300.

EAST AND WEST STREETS.

The east and west streets are easier to figure because there is a common base line, which is Calhoun street. The northwest corner of any street running east and west is 200 at Harrison, 500 at Fairfield avenue, 700 at Broadway (until the turn to the southwest is made) 900 at Jackson and 1400 at Garden. Going east the southeast corner always being taken as a starting point, starts with 300 at Barr, 700 at Hanna, 900 at Harmer, 1400 at Schick, 1800 at Walton avenue and finishing with 2132 at Glasgow avenue. Intervening blocks of course commence with the intervening numerals by hundreds.

IN LAKESIDE.

In Lakeside the same general base lines govern—that is, Washington street for the north and south divisions, and Calhoun street for the east and west divisions. Therefore, the first right hand number on Columbia avenue after crossing the Columbia street bridge is 702, which corresponds to the first number on Washington street directly south of it, being the first right hand number east of Hanna street. The lowest number on Lake avenue, which is a block shorter than Columbia avenue, is 802 On north and south streets in Lakeside the south line is Edgewater avenue and therefore the first number on Dearborn street, for instance, is 902, which corresponds with the number on Calhoun street, if Edgwater avenue were extended west until it struck Calhoun street. In Nebraska the same base lines are likewise observed.

Another point for the information of the public is a warning against the unscrupulous representation of agents and vendors of house numbers. For the purpose of saving the residents and property owners the trouble of applying at the city hall in person for their correct numbers, the board of works allowed some persons to take out the official notice books and make such sales as they could. It has been found necessary to call in all these books on account of the representations made by some salesmen, and none are now out. Tenants in some instances were approached and told that they were obliged to buy numbers and buy at once from the persons trying to effect the sale; that they were the official representatives of the city and in support showed their books. They endeavored intimidation by saying that unless the numbers were purchased immediately the tenant or owner was laying himself open to a $10 fine. All this is bosh. No books are now out and there are only two provisions in the ordinance which interest the tenant or owner generally. One is that the numbers must be not less than three inches long and the other provides a penalty of $1 for refusal to comply with the ordinance, but no time limit is stated and the city will never have any disposition to be unreasonable; besides the government is not yet ready to supply numbers to all portions of the city. Plenty of time will be given by official notification when it becomes necessary for the ordinance to be put into full effect.

GRABBED UP HIS RAILROAD

George Townsend, a member of the firm that built the Fort Wayne and Southwestern electric line, is well known in Fort Wayne and his friends in this city will be interested in the following story from the Huntington News-Democrat:

"There is one subject on which Mr. Townsend, of Townsend & Reed, is rather evasive. Along in the 80's, before the present partnership was formed Mr. Townsend was given $20,000 by his father and told to go out and make his fortune. Mr. Townsend was a graduate from a civil engineering school and evolved the scheme of building a trolley line in the holy land. He accordingly borrowed a few thousand and went to Asia and began working on franchises. To shorten the story, Mr. Townsend soon came to an agreement with the city of Jerusalem and soon had forty miles of electric line in operation. The Arabian government took a fancy to Mr. Townsend's route and formally confiscated it. The builder scarcely saved enough to buy transportation home.

"Mr. Townsend is thoroughly converted to the view that Yankees are the safest people to deal with and will confine his operations to America henceforth. Mr. Townsend has a fine collection of photographs of the road he built and they represent a fortune and an unique experience. Suit was brought in English courts for the value of the road and the suit is still pending."

REACHED HARTFORD CITY.

(Hartford City Gazette.)

The workmen who are making the grade for the Muncie, Hartford City and Fort Wayne electric line have reached Hartford City and a large force of men and teams are at work on the south side. The grade is being constructed through the woods and is directly south of the intersection of Jefferson street and the Ritter gravel road. Ties are distributed along the right-of-way between here and Muncie and the company expects to run its first train July 4.

LARGE AUDIENCE DELIGHTED

Annie, the dairymaid, is the first character to appear in the opening scene of the play, "Beside the Bonnie Briar Bush." That role was sustained in last night's performance at the Masonic Temple by Miss Bessie Baldwin, a Fort Wayne contribution to the theatrical firmament, and as soon as she came into view of the splendid audience that entirely filled the Temple, there began such a hearty and prolonged ovation as delayed the beginning of the play. Miss Baldwin smiled and bowed as the applause began, but the applause continued and assumed bigger volume and broader heartiness, and the pretty dairymaid, blushing in a very unprofessional way and with eyes sparkling with pleasure, began to become a bit confused by her reception, but looked all the prettier for her confusion. And the ovation continued, but Annie pirouted to the stage center and ended it all by becoming a Scotch lassie with a brogue and an accent that were a most deceitful counterfeit.

The play, "Beside the Bonnie Briar Bush," greatly resembles the book from which it takes its name. It is a series of very realistic pastoral pictures hung on something of a thread of plot. As the plot has no intricacies the better attention can be given the pictures, which are the true delight of the play. That fine old gentleman and venerable and high-minded exponent of the dramatic art, J. H. Stoddart, as Lachlan Campbell, a stern and canny, opinionated but withal large-hearted old Scotchman of the country, presented as fine and impressive a piece of character acting as it has ever been the pleasure of a Fort Wayne audience to see. Notwithstanding his nearly four-score years, this worthy survivor of the old school of actors gave finish to his part, vigor to his acting and discovered depths of feeling that profoundly moved the great audience.

The balance of the cast was good, much above the average of supporting companies. Miss Irma La Pierre, as Flora, daughter of Lachlan Campbell, gave a fine rendition of the character and added many charming graces to the part. Reuben Fax, as Archibald McKittrick, was as good as he ought to be and furnished the divertisement of the play. Good old Dr. MacLure, beloved of all readers of Dr. Watson's charming book, was well borne out by John Jennings, and good-natured, motherly Margaret Howe found a faithful exponent in Miss Hattie Foley. Miss Gertrude Robinson, as the little lad Gordie, and Miss Edith Taliaferro, as the little lassie Jeannie, were splendidly given and the little ladies received, as they deserved, the warm approval of the audience. Augustine Duncan, as "Tammas" Mitchell, was a fine example of love-lornness, and all the others of the cast were good.

Miss Baldwin, though assuming a somewhat minor part, had nevertheless opportunity to show in the presence of her friends fulfillment of that promise she gave on the amateur stage here of becoming an artist of much more than common merit. She is full of love for her art and imparts to her work a spirit that amounts to abandonment. She is vivacious, highly intelligent and gives to all her efforts a piquant dash that adds a highly original quality to all that she does. A very pretty incident occurred at the close of the second act, when the venerable Mr. Stoddart led her before the curtain to receive the plaudits of her friends and several handsome floral offerings. Miss Baldwin's friends feel more than ever encouraged that great success is in store for her in her chosen career.

BEET SUGAR MAN IN THE CITY

J. W. HENRY, OF KALAMAZOO, LOOKING OVER FIELD.

Allen County Farmers Have Held Several Meetings—Factory in Prospect.

A movement is under way to establish a beet sugar refinery in Allen county, where the product of a culture which as yet in its infancy may be utilized without shipment to distant points.

J. W. Henry, secretary of the Kalamazoo Sugar Beet company, is in the city. Mr. Henry is one of the most prominent beet sugar manufacturers in the country, and his concern in Michigan has been marvelously successful. His visit at this time is to look over the Allen county field, where farmers are just beginning to show a general interest in the cultivation of sugar beets, and it is the ultimate idea to establish a refinery in this county if the prospects seem to warrant it.

Within the past few weeks a number of meetings of farmers—one or two of them at Woodburn—have been held to consider the beet sugar factory proposition, and Mr. Henry on his visit today has met quite a large number of farmers. The experimental crop of beets in Allen county has demonstrated that its culture here is entirely practicable, and that it would prove a profitable product.

A Woman's Gratitude.

I feel it my duty to inform you of the good Wine of Cardui has done me and is still doing me. I have been a sufferer for some time with female troubles and it seemed at times I could scarcely bear my suffering. At last I lost appetite and became so languid I could do nothing but lay about from day to day, until finally my mother induced me to try your Wine of Cardui, which I did with great success. I have only taken two bottles but there is a decided change in looks and feelings.

Mrs. HORTENSE STUTZ.

Mrs. Stutz wrote this letter because she felt it was her duty to write it. She wrote this letter because she wanted suffering women to take and find the same relief she found. The reputation of this pure Wine rests upon what 1,000,000 cured women like Mrs. Stutz say of it—1,000,000 American women who know the distress, agony, terror and anguish, humiliation and despair that female troubles bring to a modest woman. We tell you that this curse—this misfortune—may be banished forever by the use of Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui will regulate menstrual derangements just as surely as the moon regulates the tides. It is a simple, bitter, vegetable wine, perfectly harmless under all circumstances, and used in connection with Thedford's Black-Draught, to assimilate and digest its virtues, it will regulate the menstrual habit, stop the pains, restore the menses when suppressed, stop them when flooding, prevent miscarriage, make the period of pregnancy pleasanter, confinement easier and recovery quick. Procure a bottle from your druggist and take it in the privacy of your home. You cannot doubt this.

STREET NUMBERS

CITY HALL IS BESIEGED BY APPLICANTS.

STREET NUMBERING SYSTEM EXPLAINED.

UNSCRUPULOUS AGENTS ARE ABROAD IN THE CITY.

The city hall is in a continuous state of turbulency and turmoil these days, all occasioned by the unexpected demand for new street numbers under the new numbering system. As a matter of accommodation the announcement was made several weeks ago that certain streets had been completed and all persons desiring their numbers could get them. The news spread and soon persons in all parts of the city commenced besieging the engineer's and clerk's offices for their numbers, whether they were in the completed district or not. Many, of course, were disappointed, but the clerks at the city building with sublime urbanity tried to satisfy all comers in one way or another, and at their great inconvenience. While the system has been completed, the copying of the notices has not yet been accomplished and to hunt numbers promiscuously from all parts of the records is an arduous job, although a very easy one after the books are completed. The clerks are also obliged to waste a great deal of time explaining that the numbers given out are correct and why they are correct, and in hunting up lot numbers. The person applying for a number is supposed to present the exact description of the property upon which the number is to be placed. Instead of doing this a majority of the applicants come with only their old house number; that is absolutely of no use to the clerks, who go by a description of the real estate only and know nothing and are expected to know nothing about the old numbers. The Sentinel several months ago explained the plan upon which the new system is based and once it is understood it is very simple and absolutely free from confusion.

SYSTEM EXPLAINED.

For the benefit of those who failed to read the first explanation and for those who have read it have forgotten it, the system will again be briefly outlined. The north and south divisions are marked by St. Marys and Maumee rivers and the east and west divisions by Calhoun street. For the portion lying south of the rivers the first block starts at the first lot south of the Clinton street bridge and the initial is 100; so if there is ever a house built on the first lot south of said bridge on the east side of Clinton street, that house number will be 101. The next block south will commence with No. 200 and so on until Superior street is reached, which will start with 500, all the time going south of course. The Palace saloon, corner Calhoun and Columbia, is No. 600, Alter's cigar store, corner Main and Calhoun, is 700, Old National bank, corner of Berry, is 800, southwest corner of Jefferson is 1100, southwest corner of Williams street is 2000, same corner at Creighton avenue is 2300, Pontiac street is 2700 and the last house at the corner of Calhoun and Richardsville avenue is 3832.

On the north side the numbers run from south to north, and the base line is at the extreme south bend of the St. Marys river at Swinney park, where West Washington street would strike it if the street were continued. There is no street there, but if Mechanic street should ever be extended south to the river, the first number on the right hand side, looking north, would be No. 100. Taking that as the base line the Riverside hotel just across the Wells street bridge on Cass street is No. 902 North Cass, although it is the first house north of the river on Cass street; following this line on Wells street the corner of Wells and Third is 1400. Sixth street starts with 1600 and Archer avenue finishes it with 1799 North Wells. Going west on High street, St. Marys avenue northwest corner, facing on High is No. 100 High street and the corresponding corner on DeGroff street would be 1300.

EAST AND WEST STREETS.

The east and west streets are easier to figure because there is a common base line, which is Calhoun street. The northwest corner of any street running east and west is 200 at Harrison, 500 at Fairfield avenue, 700 at Broadway (until the turn to the southwest is made) 900 at Jackson and 1400 at Garden. Going east the southeast corner always being taken as a starting point, starts with 300 at Barr, 700 at Hanna, 900 at Harmer, 1400 at Schick, 1800 at Walton avenue and finishing with 2132 at Glasgow avenue. Intervening blocks of course commence with the intervening numerals by hundreds.

IN LAKESIDE.

In Lakeside the same general base lines govern—that is, Washington street for the north and south divisions, and Calhoun street for the east and west divisions. Therefore, the first right hand number on Columbia avenue after crossing the Columbia street bridge is 702, which corresponds to the first number on Washington street directly south of it, being the first right hand number east of Hanna street. The lowest number on Lake avenue, which is a block shorter than Columbia avenue, is 802. On north and south streets in Lakeside the south line is Edgewater avenue and therefore the first number on Dearborn street, for instance, is 902, which corresponds with the number on Calhoun street, if Edgwater avenue were extended west until it struck Calhoun street. In Nebraska the same base lines are likewise observed.

Another point for the information of the public is a warning against the unscrupulous representation of agents and vendors of house numbers. For the purpose of saving the residents and property owners the trouble of applying at the city hall in person for their correct numbers, the board of works allowed some persons to take out the official notice books and make such sales as they could. It has been found necessary to call in all these books on account of the representations made by some salesmen, and none are now out. Tenants in some instances were approached and told that they were obliged to buy numbers and buy at once from the persons trying to effect the sale; that they were the official representatives of the city and in support showed their books. They endeavored intimidation by saying that unless the numbers were purchased immediately the tenant or owner was laying himself open to a $10 fine. All this is bosh. No books are now out and there are only two provisions in the ordinance which interest the tenant or owner generally. One is that the numbers must be not less than three inches long and the other provides a penalty of $1 for refusal to comply with the ordinance, but no time limit is stated and the city will never have any disposition to be unreasonable; besides the government is not yet ready to supply numbers to all portions of the city. Plenty of time will be given by official notification when it becomes necessary for the ordinance to be put into full effect.

George Townsend, a member of the firm that built the Fort Wayne and Southwestern electric line, is well known in Fort Wayne and his friends in this city will be interested in the following story from the Huntington News-Democrat:

"There is one subject on which Mr. Townsend, of Townsend & Reed, is rather evasive. Along in the 80's, before the present partnership was formed Mr. Townsend was given $20,000 by his father and told to go out and make his fortune. Mr. Townsend was a graduate from a civil engineering school and evolved the scheme of building a trolley line in the holy land. He accordingly borrowed a few thousand and went to Asia and began working on franchises. To shorten the story, Mr. Townsend soon came to an agreement with the city of Jerusalem and soon had forty miles of electric line in operation. The Arabian government took a fancy to Mr. Townsend's route and formally confiscated it. The builder scarcely saved enough to buy transportation home.

"Mr. Townsend is thoroughly converted to the view that Yankees are the safest people to deal with and will confine his operations to America henceforth. Mr. Townsend has a fine collection of photographs of the road he built and they represent a fortune and an unique experience. Suit was brought in English courts for the value of the road and the suit is still pending."

(Hartford City Gazette.)

The workmen who are making the grade for the Muncie, Hartford City and Fort Wayne electric line have reached Hartford City and a large force of men and teams are at work on the south side. The grade is being constructed through the woods and is directly south of the intersection of Jefferson street and the Ritter gravel road. Ties are distributed along the right-of-way between here and Muncie and the company expects to run its first train July 4.

LARGE AUDIENCE DELIGHTED

Annie, the dairymaid, is the first character to appear in the opening scene of the play, "Beside the Bonnie Briar Bush." That role was sustained in last night's performance at the Masonic Temple by Miss Bessie Baldwin, a Fort Wayne contribution to the theatrical firmament, and as soon as she came into view of the splendid audience that entirely filled the Temple, there began such a hearty and prolonged ovation as delayed the beginning of the play. Miss Baldwin smiled and bowed as the applause began, but the applause continued and assumed bigger volume and broader heartiness, and the pretty dairymaid, blushing in a very unprofessional way and with eyes sparkling with pleasure, began to become a bit confused by her reception, but looked all the prettier for her confusion. And the ovation continued, but Annie pirouetted to the stage center and ended it all by becoming a Scotch lassie with a brogue and an accent that were a most deceitful counterfeit.

The play, "Beside the Bonnie Briar Bush," greatly resembles the book from which it takes its name. It is a series of very realistic pastoral pictures hung on something of a thread of plot. As the plot has no intricacies the better attention can be given the pictures, which are the true delight of the play. That fine old gentleman and venerable and high-minded exponent of the dramatic art, J. H. Stoddart, as Lachlan Campbell, a stern and canny, opinionated but withal large-hearted old Scotchman of the country, presented as fine and impressive a piece of character acting as it has ever been the pleasure of a Fort Wayne audience to see. Notwithstanding his nearly four-score years, this worthy survivor of the old school of actors gave finish to his part, vigor to his acting and discovered depths of feeling that profoundly moved the great audience.

The balance of the cast was good, much above the average of supporting companies. Miss Irma La Pierre, as Flora, daughter of Lachlan Campbell, gave a fine rendition of the character and added many charming graces to the part. Reuben Fax, as Archibald McKittrick, was as good as he ought to be and furnished the divertisement of the play. Good old Dr. MacLure, beloved of all readers of Dr. Watson's charming book, was well borne out by John Jennings, and good-natured, motherly Margaret Howe found a faithful exponent in Miss Hattie Foley. Miss Gertrude Robinson, as the little lad Gordie, and Miss Edith Taliaferro, as the little lassie Jeannie, were splendidly given and the little ladies received, as they deserved, the warm approval of the audience. Augustine Duncan, as "Tammas" Mitchell, was a fine example of love-lornness, and all the others of the cast were good.

Miss Baldwin, though assuming a somewhat minor part, had nevertheless opportunity to show in the presence of her friends fulfillment of that promise she gave on the amateur stage here of becoming an artist of much more than common merit. She is full of love for her art and imparts to her work a spirit that amounts to abandonment. She is vivacious, highly intelligent and gives to all her efforts a piquant dash that adds a highly original quality to all that she does. A very pretty incident occurred at the close of the second act, when the venerable Mr. Stoddart led her before the curtain to receive the plaudits of her friends and several handsome floral offerings. Miss Baldwin's friends feel more than ever encouraged that great success is in store for her in her chosen career.

BEET SUGAR MAN IN THE CITY

J. W. HENRY, OF KALAMAZOO, LOOKING OVER FIELD.

Allen County Farmers Have Held Several Meetings—Factory in Prospect.

A movement is under way to establish a beet sugar refinery in Allen county, where the product of a culture which as yet in its infancy may be utilized without shipment to distant points.

J. W. Henry, secretary of the Kalamazoo Sugar Beet company, is in the city. Mr. Henry is one of the most prominent beet sugar manufacturers in the country, and his concern in Michigan has been marvelously successful. His visit at this time is to look over the Allen county field, where farmers are just beginning to show a general interest in the cultivation of sugar beets, and it is the ultimate idea to establish a refinery in this county if the prospects seem to warrant it.

Within the past few weeks a number of meetings of farmers—one or two of them at Woodburn—have been held to consider the beet sugar factory proposition, and Mr. Henry on his visit today has met quite a large number of farmers. The experimental crop of beets in Allen county has demonstrated that its culture here is entirely practicable, and that it would prove a profitable product.

I Coughed

It's the experience of every one. Sooner or later we all take cold. Colds naturally tend downward, that's the trouble. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops this downward tendency and quickly cures these early colds. Ask your doctor. If he says this isn't so, don't believe us.

"I know from personal experience that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral quickly breaks up a heavy cold on the lungs."

WITH A CRY UPON HIS LIPS

JOSEPH L. DARLING EXPIRED FROM HEART TROUBLE.

Veteran Piano Tuner Had Been Ill Several Weeks, But Was Presumed to Be Recovering.

Joseph L. Darling, for the past twenty years a piano tuner in this city and quite well known, died early this morning at his apartments in the Pixley-Long block. Mr. Darling had been ill for the past four weeks, but during the past few days so much improvement was shown that his wife was greatly encouraged. Yesterday, though feeling quite well, a heart weakness developed. Mr. Darling arose at midnight, sat by the grate for a time and then returned to his bed. This was repeated at 3 o'clock this morning, and soon after returning to bed he was stricken by the fatal attack of heart trouble. Throwing his hands above his head the patient uttered a loud cry and sank back into the sleep of death. He was not able to speak to Mrs. Darling after the attack.

Mr. Darling was born at Keene, N. H., and was nearly seventy years of age. He was twice married, the first wife and several children having preceded him in death. The widow who survives came with him to this city twenty years ago from Bucyrus, Ohio, where they were married. Charles Ashley, of this city, is a grandson of the deceased, and other relatives reside in the east. Mr. Darling was a skilled piano tuner, and has followed that occupation since his residence in Fort Wayne.

Announcement of the funeral services will be made later.

Miss Anna Baillie is confined to her home by illness.

Perhaps Coffee is Getting Its Work in on You.

People who think they can digest coffee and yet are sick half the time might learn a valuable lesson in health and get some happiness out of life if they would make up their minds to quit coffee and take Postum Food Coffee.

You can trace the results so accurately as to leave no possible doubt of the cause of the sickness and the reasons for the return of health.

A lady from Blue Mount, Miss., gives her experience. She says, "I always used to drink milk, but in '98 I went down to the southern part of the state to teach school and boarded in a family of coffee drinkers. I began drinking one half of a cup at a meal. The habit grew on me and I increased the amount.

Gradually I became nervous, my complexion grew sallow and yellow and finally my stomach would frequently throw off the food. I gradually ate less and less, depending upon the coffee to keep me up. Finally I concluded that the trouble was malaria, and the doctor advised me to leave that part of the country. So I went back up to the hills in the hope of getting better. Instead of that I got worse. Palpitation of the heart set in and I got so weak I could scarcely work.

I took a great many remedies but found no relief. I went to the mountains in California for two months without improvement. I was thoroughly discouraged about my condition when one day a friend said, 'Why don't you give up coffee?' 'Quit coffee,' I said, 'Why that is about all I live on.' She begged me to try leaving it off and use Postum Food Coffee.

I did not have much faith in the experiment, I had tried so many things without benefit, but I decided to yield to her entreaties. In less than two weeks after I quit coffee and began using Postum the pall of ill health left me and I began to sleep as sound as anyone. My complexion improved, and my stomach began to regain its strength.

Now, after three months' use of Postum, I feel as well as I ever did. I would not be without Postum Food Coffee and will never drink another drop of coffee. It came too near killing me." Mrs. Vera Deniat, Blue Mountain, Miss.

FUGITIVES ALL CAPTURED.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 22.—A Ledger reporter just returned from McNeil's island brings the news that every one of the eleven criminals who escaped from the United States penitentiary on McNeil's island Sunday noon, slept behind prison bars last night. The last four to be taken, James Moriarity, Mike Williams, Bruce Kenwright and J. P. Stewart, were captured at 11 o'clock last night, near the crossroads where the other prisoners were taken. The capture was effected without a shot being fired. The men had a sack full of chickens and were evidently prepared to make a feast. The four men did not take their capture much to heart. Moriarity will lose a credit of twenty months on his sentence and Williams will forfeit two years and two months. All the officers are jubilant over the successful and exciting man hunt of the last three days and nights.

DEWALD—KLUG.

The marriage of Miss Katherine DeWald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry DeWald, and Nicholas Klug was solemnized at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Catholic church, Rev. J. H. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents on Barr street. Mr. and Mrs. DeWald left later on a wedding trip.

I Coughed

It's the experience of every one. Sooner or later we all take cold. Colds naturally tend downward, that's the trouble. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops this downward tendency and quickly cures these early colds. Ask your doctor. If he says this isn't so, don't believe us.

"I know from personal experience that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral quickly breaks up a heavy cold on the lungs."

Veteran Piano Tuner Had Been Ill Several Weeks, But Was Presumed to Be Recovering.

Joseph L. Darling, for the past twenty years a piano tuner in this city and quite well known, died early this morning at his apartments in the Pixley-Long block. Mr. Darling had been ill for the past four weeks, but during the past few days so much improvement was shown that his wife was greatly encouraged. Yesterday, though feeling quite well, a heart weakness developed. Mr. Darling arose at midnight, sat by the grate for a time and then returned to his bed. This was repeated at 3 o'clock this morning, and soon after returning to bed he was stricken by the fatal attack of heart trouble. Throwing his hands above his head the patient uttered a loud cry and sank back into the sleep of death. He was not able to speak to Mrs. Darling after the attack.

Mr. Darling was born at Keene, N. H., and was nearly seventy years of age. He was twice married, the first wife and several children having preceded him in death. The widow who survives came with him to this city twenty years ago from Bucyrus, Ohio, where they were married. Charles Ashley, of this city, is a grandson of the deceased, and other relatives reside in the east. Mr. Darling was a skilled piano tuner, and has followed that occupation since his residence in Fort Wayne.

Announcement of the funeral services will be made later.

SPOT HIM.

Perhaps Coffee is Getting Its Work in on You.

People who think they can digest coffee and yet are sick half the time might learn a valuable lesson in health and get some happiness out of life if they would make up their minds to quit coffee and take Postum Food Coffee.

You can trace the results so accurately as to leave no possible doubt of the cause of the sickness and the reasons for the return of health.

A lady from Blue Mount, Miss., gives her experience. She says, "I always used to drink milk, but in '98 I went down to the southern part of the state to teach school and boarded in a family of coffee drinkers. I began drinking one half of a cup at a meal. The habit grew on me and I increased the amount.

Gradually I became nervous, my complexion grew sallow and yellow and finally my stomach would frequently throw off the food. I gradually ate less and less, depending upon the coffee to keep me up. Finally I concluded that the trouble was malaria, and the doctor advised me to leave that part of the country. So I went back up to the hills in the hope of getting better. Instead of that I got worse. Palpitation of the heart set in and I got so weak I could scarcely work.

I took a great many remedies but found no relief. I went to the mountains in California for two months without improvement. I was thoroughly discouraged about my condition when one day a friend said, 'Why don't you give up coffee?' 'Quit coffee,' I said, 'Why that is about all I live on.' She begged me to try leaving it off and use Postum Food Coffee.

I did not have much faith in the experiment. I had tried so many things without benefit, but I decided to yield to her entreaties. In less than two weeks after I quit coffee and began using Postum the pall of ill health left me and I began to sleep as sound as anyone. My complexion improved, and my stomach began to regain its strength.

Now, after three months' use of Postum, I feel as well as I ever did. I would not be without Postum Food Coffee and will never drink another drop of coffee. It came too near killing me." Mrs. Vera Deniat, Blue Mountain, Miss.

FUGITIVES ALL CAPTURED.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 22.—A Ledger reporter just returned from McNeil's island brings the news that every one of the eleven criminals who escaped from the United States penitentiary on McNeil's island Sunday noon, slept behind prison bars last night. The last four to be taken, James Moriarity, Mike Williams, Bruce Kenwright and J. P. Stewart, were captured at 11 o'clock last night, near the crossroads where the other prisoners were taken. The capture was effected without a shot being fired. The men had a sack full of chickens and were evidently prepared to make a feast. The four men did not take their capture much to heart. Moriarity will lose a credit of twenty months on his sentence and Williams will forfeit two years and two months. All the officers are jubilant over the successful and exciting man hunt of the last three days and nights.

The Mormon church has decreed that all marriageable and eligible men in the employ of the church's various enterprises must get married before next June or lose their jobs. The edict is all right, but it ought to limit the number of wives each is to take. Zeal to comply with the decree and ambition for promotion may lead to some overdoing in the matter of obedience.

It is said that Governor Taft's arrival in Washington is awaited with keen anxiety by the administration leaders, who hope he may present in his report on the Philippines some scheme of government that will promptly put an end to the policy of reconcentration that has just been recommended by General Bell as the only efficacious method of dealing with the insurrectos in southern Luzon. That hope will not be confined to the administration. The American people will not long be patient with the adoption of such methods as drove this nation to crush Spanish power in Cuba.

John D. Rockefeller is said to have in contemplation the gift of $26,000,000 to Chicago university the present year. Rumor has it that Mr. Rockefeller inquired of President Harper what funds would be needed to carry to completion the vast plans he has in mind for the university and was told that something above $26,000,000 would be necessary. This prodigious sum of money the oil magnate now has it in mind to give. If he makes the donation he will be almost neck and neck with Mr. Carnegie in the sum total of his benevolence, and it is a part of this interesting report that Mr. Rockefeller's ambitions were fired by lately hearing the library building acclaimed as the greatest author of benevolence the world has ever seen.

Prof. P. A. Allen has sold his interest in the Bluffton Banner to George L. Saunders, who has been for a year or more employed on that newspaper as foreman. Professor Allen has been editor of the Banner for the past eleven years and has made a host of friends in Bluffton and throughout the state. He has maintained a policy of clean and high-minded journalism and the Banner has ranked as one of the best of the weekly newspapers of the state. His departure from the field of northern Indiana journalism will be greatly regretted by his newspaper brethren, as well as by his readers. We hope to see the high standard maintained by Professor Allen continued by Editor Saunders. Professor Allen has not yet decided upon his future engagements.

The day has gone by in Allen county when party decree has power to make intelligent men walk to the polls and vote for any kind of man for office regardless of all considerations save that his name appears on the party ticket. Men have come to regard the public business as something more important than as a mere opportunity to give some political worker a job at good pay and with not too much to do that savors of work. Political ties are less and less binding upon men to hold them to unquestioning support of party tickets when such tickets have little more than the party name to commend them to voters. Good men, capable men, sober men, honest men are wanted in office, and the time is near at hand when any other kind of candidates will have to reckon with the common sense and independent spirit of intelligent voters. The elevation to office of intemperate, incapable and altogether unfit men is a disgrace to the party that does it and the community that tolerates it. With good men available, as good men always are, for public office, no political party has a shadow of excuse for foisting bad men on the people. There is a limit to the patience of the voters and when their indignation is once aroused they will wreak vengeance on the political party that has tolerated the domination of unworthy men.

INVENTOR IS PROSPERING.

H. L. Kimmel, formerly of this city, is now a prosperous manufacturer in Princeton, Ill., and is progressing rapidly on the road to success. Mr. Kimmel is the inventor of an ingenious ball-bearing axle for carriages that does away with a great deal of friction and prevents the rattling so objectionable in the prevailing type of carriages. The axle has a number of improvements over other types, and the business has grown to such an extent that Mr. Kimmel has been obliged to double the output of the factory. Mr. Kimmel will soon apply for a patent on a non-rattling quick shifter for carriages. The inventor was a machinist while a resident of Fort Wayne, and he is very well known here.

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA.

Boston, Jan. 22.—Secretary E. G. Preston, of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, has started for Washington to lay before George F. Hoar, senior senator from Massachusetts, petitions urging that a reciprocal trade arrangement between the United States and Canada be negotiated and ratified. The petitions have been endorsed by boards of trade of about forty cities and manufacturing towns and have been signed by the leading business men of these places. In all, more than 10,000 names are enrolled. Secretary Preston will present Senator Hoar a letting setting forth the position of those who favor reciprocity legislation.

LOSING HIS EYESIGHT.

William W. Eckart, of 26 Brooklyn avenue, is gradually losing his eyesight, and it will be but a short time before he is entirely blind. Mr. Eckart has been peculiarly unfortunate, having for the past twelve years been a cripple, the result of a fall in which his spine was injured. A portion of the spinal column was fractured and since that time Mr. Eckart has been deprived of the use of his lower limbs.

ORGANIZED A GLEE CLUB.

A large number of young men of the high school held a meeting last evening and formed a glee club, electing William Nutting president and Ed Lukens secretary and treasurer. There are thirty-four members and the musical director is Prof. Wm. Miles. The club will give a concert some time before commencement, and they will begin rehearsals soon.

SOCIAL HONOR FOR MRS. FISKE

NEW YORK SOCIETY TAKES UP FAMOUS ACTRESS.

Society Leaders Tender Her a Reception and Give Her Place of Honor in Her Art.

New York, Jan. 22.—Mrs. John Jacob Astor and other society leaders yesterday formally recognized Minnie Maddern Fiske as the social head of the acting profession of America by a public reception at the Waldorf-Astoria. The compliment was unusual and significant in more ways than one. There is a murmur in society over the action of the New York leaders in publicly putting their stamp of approval on Mrs. Fiske, while the latest popular feminine foreigner among the players, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, has so far gone unwelcomed by them. It is not considered that Mrs. Campbell will be slighted here, but it is at the same time evident that society proposes to make it known that Mrs. Fiske has the place of honor.

There was no doubt that the people gathered to do honor to Mrs. Fiske were the elect, and it seemed that there was a purpose on the part of those present to make the occasion one of exceptional compliment to the actress. The significance of the reception may be gained from the names of the more prominent who took part in it. It was a sort of farewell to Mrs. Fiske, who is temporarily leaving her Manhattan theater here to enter upon a tour of other cities, and the women crowded about her with all manner of congratulations over her success as a manager. Among those present were: Mrs. Jose Aymar, Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. William Jay, Mrs. William Rockefeller, Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Mrs. Thatcher M. Adams, Mrs. Francis R. Appleton, Mrs. Frederick Allen, Mrs. George Bowdoin, Mrs. Charles T. Barney, Mrs. Wyllys R. Betts, Mrs. W. Rathbone Bacon, Mrs. Edmund L. Baylies, Mrs. Middleton S. Burrill, Mrs. Helen R. Bishop, Mrs. Barbey, Mrs. J. Abercrombie Burden, Mrs. John S. Barnes, Mrs. Muhlenburg Bailey, Mrs. James A. Burden, Mrs. J. Wells Champney, Miss Clarke, Mrs. Stuart Coats, Mrs. Fulon Cutting, Mrs. Bayard Cutting, Miss Cuyler, Mrs. Dwight Collier, Mrs. Alfred Chapin, Mrs. John J. Chapman, Mrs. John S. Kennedy, Mrs. D. Hennen Morris, Mrs. Helen Munroe, Mrs. Pierre Mali, Mrs. William Church Osborn, Mrs. James W. Pinchot, Mrs. Thayer Robb, Mrs. J. Hampden Robb, Mrs. S. M. Roosevelt, Mrs. Frederick Roosevelt, Mrs. Marion Story, Mrs. Paul Tuckerman, Mrs. J. Kennedy Tood, Mrs. Alexander T. Van Nest, Mrs. Seward Webb, Mrs. George Lewis, Mrs. Benjamin Knower, Mrs. H. A. Murray, Mrs. H. H. Ripley, Mrs. J. F. Auerbach, Mrs. Charles Lea, Mrs. James C. Nesser, Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, Mrs. E. D. Adams, Mrs. George F. Baker, Mrs. John Claflin, Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, Mrs. E. P. Curtis Lewis, Mrs. David M. Morrison, Mrs. George F. Victor and Mrs. J. J. McKesson.

NOTED STARS TO SEPARATE.

New York, Jan. 22.—Nat C. Goodwin and Miss Maxine Elliott may appear as separate stars after this season. They have been considering this course for some time and have almost decided to make the venture.

"We have had much difficulty in finding plays in which we can both have suitable parts," says Mr. Goodwin, "and this may induce us to appear with separate companies.

"We are now considering a play for Miss Elliott which has no part for me, and if the play is accepted she will appear next season as a star under my management. If we do not accept this play the present arrangement will probably continue for another season, if not longer."

FILIPINO IS NOT AMERICAN.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 22.—John K. Gowdy, consul general of the United States at Paris, rules a native Filipino is not an American citizen, and accordingly the customs authorities at Philadelphia have levied a duty upon a valuable painting by Feliz Resurreccion Hidalgo, a native of Manila. The painting is to be hung within a week at the exhibition of the Academy of Fine Arts. If the picture is purchased and kept in this country the purchaser must pay the duty in addition to the price set by Hidalgo. Opportunity will then be afforded for an appeal to the courts from Consul General Gowdy's decision.

Much interest attaches to the picture aside from that arising from the tariff controversy. It is entitled "Nocturne" and Hidalgo used this line from Lamartine by way of description: "Et seuls a nous aimer-aimons nous pauvre chien."

It is the best example of Hidalgo's work that has reached this country. Hidalgo is young and has not attained a vogue. His early education in art was received at the Academy of Fine Arts in Manila. One of his pictures received a silver medal at the world's exposition at Paris in 1889.

MISS STONE CANNOT HAVE HER LIBERTY AT ONCE.

Brigands Will Keep Her a Period After the Ransom Has Been Paid Over.

Constantinople, Jan. 22.—It is understood that the American negotiators for the release of Miss Ellen M. Stone and her companion, Madame Tsilka, to whom the money subscribed for the ransom of the captive missionaries was sent, may have to entrust the fund to the brigands for some days before the latter release the captives, in accordance with the precedent adopted in the cases of previous brigandages. The bandits are said to insist on this point, in order to enable them to dispose of the cash before retaliative measures can be organized. There is some risk in adopting this course, but the behavior of Miss Stone's captors thus far encourages confidence that they will fulfill their engagements.

BRITISH BARK IS LOST.

Auckland, New Zealand, Jan. 22.—News has just been received here that the British bark Savernake, which sailed from San Francisco October 9 for Queenstown, was wrecked November 14 at Reao, an island in the east of the Tuamotu group, in the south Pacific. Part of the crew are at Tahiti, and ten others are at Reao. The captain and three men are missing. Assistance has been sent to the Savernake. The bark Savernake was built at Stockton, England, in 1869. She is of 1,226 tons net register, and is owned by R. P. Hodgens & Co., of Swansea.

PASSED SPURIOUS COIN.

San Francisco, Jan. 22.—Ulysses G. Blair and wife have been arrested for passing counterfeit coin. Blair admits his guilt and says his wife assisted him in passing the coin. Getting rid, he says, of about $600 a month. The counterfeits are the most perfect that have been seen in this part of the country. His method of disposing of the spurious coin was by placing it in small amounts with the bookmakers at the Oakland race track. Today the man and wife will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Heacock. Blair posed as a capitalist and has been popular socially.

BLIZZARD IN CLEVELAND.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 22.—A snow storm that followed a week or two of comparatively clear weather began early Tuesday morning and has raged unceasingly since, increasing in violence until this morning, when it has become a veritable blizzard. The snowfall is the heaviest of the winter and has greatly impeded street and steam railway traffic. A high wind has accompanied the fall of snow and piled it into great drifts all over town.

BIG GIFT TO A HOSPITAL.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 22.—Samuel Mather, who has given thousands of dollars to Lakeside hospital, has again become its benefactor and has about completed the arrangements for a donation approximating $40,000. The gift has been offered to the hospital board under slight conditions, the compliance with which will be but a small matter. The formalities of these conditions are now being arranged and the donation will soon become an absolute fact.

SLAIN FOOTPAD IDENTIFIED.

San Francisco, Jan. 22.—The footpad who was shot by Policeman Taylor while fleeing from the scene of the murder of Officer Robinson, has been identified as Jack Wade, who is wanted in Stockton for robbery. He is said to be known to the police in several eastern cities.

CHECK FROM MR. JEFFERSON.

Canton, Ohio, Jan. 22.—President Day, of the McKinley National Memorial association, has received from Joseph Jefferson, the actor, a check for $100, to be added to the memorial fund.

IN MEMORY OF LATE QUEEN

Commemorative Services Are Held Throughout Great Britain and Elsewhere.

London, Jan. 22.—The first anniversary of the death of Queen Victoria, today, was marked by commemorative services throughout the United Kingdom and the colonies and at the British embassies and legations abroad.

At Windsor, King Edward and Queen Alexandra, most of the other members of the royal family, Lord Salisbury, Lord Rosebery and the German ambassador to Great Britain, Prince Von Wolff-Metternich, attended a service at noon in the Frogmore mausoleum. The German ambassador laid a wreath from Emperor William on the tomb.

Later two thousand holders of tickets filed through the mausoleum and viewed the recumbent statue of the late queen, which is now beside the statue of the prince consort.

There were accession services this afternoon in many of the churches, while military and naval salutes were fired by the artillery and from the guns of the warships, which were decorated with bunting.

The court has laid aside all visible signs of mourning and returned to bright colors.

IN BERLIN.

Berlin, Jan. 22.—A memorial service in commemmoration of the first anniversary of the death of Queen Victoria was held today at the English church here. It was attended by the emperor and empress, Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia, the British ambassador, Sir Frank C. Lascelles; the United States ambassador, Andrew D. White; Secretary Jackson, of the United States embassy, and other Americans. The imperial chancellor, Count Von Buelow, and many German officials were also present.

ARE HELD FOR THE CRIME

VALPARAISO MEN STILL ACCUSED OF MURDER.

Valparaiso, Ind., Jan. 22.—Excitement in Porter county over the second story of Frank Sprencil in the Davidson case is at fever heat and bids fair to become a very lively issue in local politics. Sprencil, who was a night watchman for the Pennsylvania railroad, was the principal witness for the state in securing indictments against Michael Curtin, Rob Fleming and Roy Sowers for the murder of young Davidson. According to his testimony before the coroner his identification of two of the prisoners was complete, he having been an unwilling witness to their attempts to dispose of the body. Friday afternoon, under a rigid examination before the grand jury, Sprencil broke completely down, retracted all the former testimony and completely exonerated the prisoners, saying Davidson was killed by being struck by a train.

Prosecutor McAlee and Deputy Tickham at once accepted Sprencil's new story and advised that the prisoners be dismissed. Judge Heard, who had been retained as special state's attorney, did not, however, accept Sprencil's new story. He warmly opposed the dropping of the prosecution and was practically invited to step out of the case. A local newspaper took the matter up and a committee of prominent citizens was formed to demand that Heard be given control of the investigation, excluding the prosecutors. Judge Gillette reinstated Heard in the case and he is now conducting the examination before the grand jury. Public feeling is intense and many ugly stories are in circulation.

HE WAS SHORT $16,000.

St. Louis, Jan. 22.—The investigation of the books of the late H. C. Tatum, secretary and treasurer of the Western Commercial Travelers' association, who recently committed suicide, has been concluded and shows a shortage of about $16,000. It is stated that Mr. Tatum made a confession to certain members or a committee of the association when the examination of his books was commenced, prior to the annual election, which was held three days before his death. He informed the committee that they would find a shortage and said that it had all gone on the races. The accounts were found to balance up to last October, when the first shortage or discrepancy was discovered.

A COLLEGE PROFESSOR.

One of Georgia's Useful Educators is Grateful For What Pe-ru-na is Doing For Suffering Humanity.

F. A. Curtright, A. B., Principal of the Georgia Normal and Industrial Institute, and editor and proprietor of the "Georgia Helping Hand" writes the following glowing words concerning Peruna, and its efficacy in the cure of catarrh.

He says: "I was induced to try Peruna by the advice of a friend, and certainly believe that suffering humanity would be relieved if they only gave Peruna a fair trial. Would that I could frame words sufficient to express my gratitude for the benefits derived from its use."—F. A. CURTRIGHT, Greensboro, Ga.

Hon. W. N. Roach, United States Senator from North Dakota, in a letter written from Larimore, North Dakota, says:

"Persuaded by a friend, I have used Peruna as a tonic, and am glad to testify that it has greatly helped me in strength, vigor and appetite. I have been advised by friends that it is remarkably efficacious as a cure for the almost universal complaint of catarrh."—W. N. Roach.

Senator Roach's wife recommends Peruna also. She says: "I can cheerfully recommend your excellent remedy, Peruna. Indeed, I know of no other remedy as good as yours. It is a grand tonic, and many of my friends have used it for catarrh with good results."—Mrs. W. N. Roach.

The most common phases of summer catarrh are catarrh of the stomach and bowels. Peruna is a specific for summer catarrh.

Mr. Wm. Hebley, Duquesne, Pa., writes:—"I am cured of catarrh of the stomach of two years standing. I had it so bad that I could not eat anything but milk. I doctored with several doctors and they could give me relief for a short time only. I saw Peruna recommended and thought I would try it, and I now think I am cured of catarrh. I have worked two months and did not lose a day."—Wm. Hebley.

Mr. Moses F. Merrill, Columbus, Cherokee Co., Kansas, Rural Route No. 3, writes:

"I had been troubled with systemic catarrh, which affected the lower bowels especially. I was troubled with running off of the bowels and troublesome catarrh of the bronchial tubes which caused spitting of thick mucus. Since taking Peruna my improvement has been wonderful. My bowels are regular as clock-work. I can now eat like other people and my vituals digest."—Moses F. Merrill.

Hon. Willis Brewer, Representative in Congress from Alabama, writes the following letter to Dr. Hartman:

House of Representatives,
Washington, D. C.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen—"I have used one bottle of Peruna for lassitude, and I take pleasure in recommending it to those who need a good remedy. As a tonic it is excellent. In the short time I have used it it has done me a great deal of good."—Willis Brewer.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

The Mormon church has decreed that all marriageable and eligible men in the employ of the church's various enterprises must get married before next June or lose their jobs. The edict is all right, but it ought to limit the number of wives each is to take. Zeal to comply with the decree and ambition for promotion may lead to some overdoing in the matter of obedience.

It is said that Governor Taft's arrival in Washington is awaited with keen anxiety by the administration leaders, who hope he may present in his report on the Philippines some scheme of government that will promptly put an end to the policy of reconcentration that has just been recommended by General Bell as the only efficacious method of dealing with the insurrectos in southern Luzon. That hope will not be confined to the administration. The American people will not long be patient with the adoption of such methods as drove this nation to crush Spanish power in Cuba.

John D. Rockefeller is said to have in contemplation the gift of $26,000,000 to Chicago university the present year. Rumor has it that Mr. Rockefeller inquired of President Harper what funds would be needed to carry to completion the vast plans he has in mind for the university and was told that something above $26,000,000 would be necessary. This prodigious sum of money the oil magnate now has it in mind to give. If he makes the donation he will be almost neck and neck with Mr. Carnegie in the sum total of his benevolence, and it is a part of this interesting report that Mr. Rockefeller's ambitions were fired by lately hearing the library building acclaimed as the greatest author of benevolence the world has ever seen.

Prof. P. A. Allen has sold his interest in the Bluffton Banner to George L. Saunders, who has been for a year or more employed on that newspaper as foreman. Professor Allen has been editor of the Banner for the past eleven years and has made a host of friends in Bluffton and throughout the state. He has maintained a policy of clean and high-minded journalism and the Banner has ranked as one of the best of the weekly newspapers of the state. There is some risk in adopting this course, but the behavior of Miss Stone's captors thus far encourages confidence that they will fulfill their engagements.

BRITISH BARK IS LOST.

Auckland, New Zealand, Jan. 22.—News has just been received here that the British bark Savernake, which sailed from San Francisco October 5 for Queenstown, was wrecked November 14 at Reao, an island in the east of the Tuamotu group, in the south Pacific. Part of the crew are at Tahiti, and ten others are at Reao. The captain and three men are missing. Assistance has been sent to the Savernake. The bark Savernake was built at Stockton, England, in 1869. She is of 1,226 tons net register, and is owned by R. P. Hodgens & Co., of Swansea.

PASSED SPURIOUS COIN.

San Francisco, Jan. 22.—Ulysses G. Blair and wife have been arrested for passing counterfeit coin. Blair admits his guilt and says his wife assisted him in passing the coin, getting rid, he says, of about $600 a month. The counterfeits are the most perfect that have been seen in this part of the country. His method of disposing of the spurious coin was by placing it in small amounts with the bookmakers at the Oakland race track. Today the man and wife will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Heacock. Blair posed as a capitalist and has been popular socially.

BLIZZARD IN CLEVELAND.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 22.—A snow storm that followed a week or two of comparatively clear weather began early Tuesday morning and has raged unceasingly since, increasing in violence until this morning, when it has become a veritable blizzard. The snowfall is the heaviest of the winter and has greatly impeded street and steam railway traffic. A high wind has accompanied the fall of snow and piled it into great drifts all over town.

BIG GIFT TO A HOSPITAL.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 22.—Samuel Mather, who has given thousands of dollars to Lakeside hospital, has again become its benefactor and has about completed the arrangements for a donation approximating $40,000. The gift has been offered to the hospital board under slight conditions, the compliance with which will be but a small matter. The formalities of these conditions are now being arranged and the donation will soon become an absolute fact.

SLAIN FOOTPAD IDENTIFIED.

San Francisco, Jan. 22.—The footpad who was shot by Policeman Taylor while fleeing from the scene of the murder of Officer Robinson, has been identified as Jack Wade, who is wanted in Stockton for robbery. He is said to be known to the police in several eastern cities.

CHECK FROM MR. JEFFERSON.

Canton, Ohio, Jan. 22.—President Day, of the McKinley National Memorial association, has received from Joseph Jefferson, the actor, a check for $100, to be added to the memorial fund.

IN MEMORY OF LATE QUEEN

Commemorative Services Are Held Throughout Great Britain and Elsewhere.

London, Jan. 22.—The first anniversary of the death of Queen Victoria, today, was marked by commemorative services throughout the United Kingdom and the colonies and at the British embassies and legations abroad.

At Windsor, King Edward and Queen Alexandra, most of the other members of the royal family, Lord Salisbury, Lord Rosebery and the German ambassador to Great Britain, Prince Von Wolff-Metternich, attended a service at noon in the Frogmore mausoleum. The German ambassador laid a wreath from Emperor William on the tomb.

Later two thousand holders of tickets filed through the mausoleum and viewed the recumbent statue of the late queen, which is now beside the statue of the prince consort.

There were accession services this afternoon in many of the churches, while military and naval salutes were fired by the artillery and from the guns of the warships, which were decorated with bunting.

The court has laid aside all visible signs of mourning and returned to bright colors.

IN BERLIN.

Berlin, Jan. 22.—A memorial service in commemmoration of the first anniversary of the death of Queen Victoria was held today at the English church here. It was attended by the emperor and empress, Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia, the British ambassador, Sir Frank C. Lascelles; the United States ambassador, Andrew D. White; Secretary Jackson, of the United States embassy, and other Americans. The imperial chancellor, Count Von Buelow, and many German officials were also present.

ARE HELD FOR THE CRIME

Valparaiso, Ind., Jan. 22.—Excitement in Porter county over the second story of Frank Sprencil in the Davidson case is at fever heat and bids fair to become a very lively issue in local politics. Sprencil, who was a night watchman for the Pennsylvania railroad, was the principal witness for the state in securing indictments against Michael Curtin, Rob Fleming and Roy Sowers for the murder of young Davidson. According to his testimony before the coroner his identification of two of the prisoners was complete, he having been an unwilling witness to their attempts to dispose of the body. Friday afternoon, under a rigid examination before the grand jury, Sprencil broke completely down, retracted all the former testimony and completely exonerated the prisoners, saying Davidson was killed by being struck by a train.

Prosecutor McAlee and Deputy Tickham at once accepted Sprencil's new story and advised that the prisoners be dismissed. Judge Heard, who had been retained as special state's attorney, did not, however, accept Sprencil's new story. He warmly opposed the dropping of the prosecution and was practically invited to step out of the case. A local newspaper took the matter up and a committee of prominent citizens was formed to demand that Heard be given control of the investigation, excluding the prosecutors. Judge Gillette reinstated Heard in the case and he is now conducting the examination before the grand jury. Public feeling is intense and many ugly stories are in circulation.

STRONG EVIDENCE sustains the popular verdict that Ely's Cream Balm is worth its weight in gold. Trial size 10 cents. Full size 50 cents. Sold by druggists and mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., New York.

Proberta, Cal.

Messrs. Ely Bros.:—I have been afflicted with catarrh for twenty years. It made me so weak I thought I had consumption. I got one bottle of Ely's Cream Balm and in three days the discharge stopped. It is the best medicine I have used for catarrh.

Very truly,

Frank E. Kindlespire.

HE WAS SHORT $16,000.

St. Louis, Jan. 22.—The investigation of the books of the late H. C. Tatum, secretary and treasurer of the Western Commercial Travelers' association, who recently committed suicide, has been concluded and shows a shortage of about $16,000. It is stated that Mr. Tatum made a confession to certain members of a committee of the association when the examination of his books was commenced, prior to the annual election, which was held three days before his death. He informed the committee that they would find a shortage and said that it had all gone on the races. The accounts were found to balance up to last October, when the first shortage or discrepancy was discovered.

A COLLEGE PROFESSOR.

One of Georgia's Useful Educators is Grateful For What Pe-ru-na is Doing For Suffering Humanity.

F. A. Curtright, A. B., Principal of the Georgia Normal and Industrial Institute, and editor and proprietor of the "Georgia Helping Hand" writes the following glowing words concerning Peruna, and its efficacy in the cure of catarrh.

He says: "I was induced to try Peruna by the advice of a friend, and certainly believe that suffering humanity would be relieved if they only gave Peruna a fair trial. Would that I could frame words sufficient to express my gratitude for the benefits derived from its use."—F. A. CURTRIGHT, Greensboro, Ga.

Hon. W. N. Roach, United States Senator from North Dakota, in a letter written from Larimore, North Dakota, says:

"Persuaded by a friend, I have used Peruna as a tonic, and am glad to testify that it has greatly helped me in strength, vigor and appetite. I have been advised by friends that it is remarkably efficacious as a cure for the almost universal complaint of catarrh."—W. N. Roach.

Senator Roach's wife recommends Peruna also. She says: "I can cheerfully recommend your excellent remedy, Peruna. Indeed, I know of no other remedy as good as yours. It is a grand tonic, and many of my friends have used it for catarrh with good results."—Mrs. W. N. Roach.

The most common phases of summer catarrh are catarrh of the stomach and bowels. Peruna is a specific for summer catarrh.

Mr. Wm. Hebley, Duquesne, Pa., writes:—"I am cured of catarrh of the stomach of two years standing. I had it so bad that I could not eat anything but milk. I doctored with several doctors and they could give me relief for a short time only. I saw Peruna recommended and thought I would try it, and I now think I am cured of catarrh. I have worked two months and did not lose a day."—Wm. Hebley.

Mr. Moses F. Merrill, Columbus, Cherokee Co., Kansas, Rural Route No. 3, writes:

"I had been troubled with systemic catarrh, which affected the lower bowels especially. I was troubled with running off of the bowels and troublesome catarrh of the bronchial tubes which caused spitting of thick mucus. Since taking Peruna my improvement has been wonderful. My bowels are regular as clock-work. I can now eat like other people and my vituals digest."—Moses F. Merrill.

Hon. Willis Brewer, Representative in Congress from Alabama, writes the following letter to Dr. Hartman:

House of Representatives,
Washington, D. C.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen—"I have used one bottle of Peruna for lassitude, and I take pleasure in recommending it to those who need a good remedy. As a tonic it is excellent. In the short time I have used it it has done me a great deal of good."—Willis Brewer.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

DICK BRADY IN TROUBLE

ROME CITY MAN SENT OVER FOR DRUNKENNESS.

Made Himself a Nuisance and Gave Fright to West Side Ladies —Police News.

The most serious offender before Judge Louttit this morning was Dick Brady, of Rome City, who was charged with a whole lot of disturbance in the west end. The specific charges were malicious trespass and drunkenness, a pretty tough mess to get mixed up with. Yesterday afternoon Brady, with a lot of excess tonnage aboard, drifted into the back yard of William P. Cooper's residence, at 183 West Berry street, and after claiming that he lived there, and refusing the admonition of a passer-by who assured him that he was mistaken, broke open the back door by repeated kicks. Before the door opened a part of the door casing was broken off. Mrs. Cooper and her maid were alone in the house and both were considerably frightened. The maid ran into the street, while Mrs. Cooper faced the intruder and ordered him from the premises. He refused and becoming vehemently loquacious and demonstrative, Mrs. Cooper likewise became afraid and abandoning her home ran into the street and sought refuge at the house of a neighbor, from where the police department was called. Brady was locked up and this morning after hearing the evidence of Mrs. and Mr. Cooper and a young man who assisted in the arrest, Judge Louttit assessed a fine of $15 and costs and added a jail sentence of fifteen days, making thirty-one days in all unless he can manage to stay the fine. The jail sentence, however, cannot be stayed.

Otto Zimmerman, another of the rear guard of the Wabash construction gang, was picked up last night and was about the drunkest man seen lately at police court. He pleaded not guilty, notwithstanding the fact that he was then so drunk he could scarcely see the judge's desk. Otto's hair was a sight and his countenance presented several phases of disfigurement. About every two minutes during the trial of the other cases Otto would present himself in front of the desk and ask "Coot I go now?" "You'll go when the wagon goes," said the judge, "and when you go you'll stay for eleven days." Otto protested, but the judge's speech went.

Dan Mulligan was found star gazing last night on Griffith street. Star gazing is not against the law and not against the ordinances, but Dan was lying flat on his back and was gazing into the azure vault with such a degree of absent-mindedness that the officer who found him thought it best to locate him in the Barr street observatory. Mr. Mulligan said he was sorry the thing happened and the judge remarked that he ought to be. Thereupon Mr. Mulligan took heart and said that it shouldn't occur again, whereupon the judge remarked that he knew it wouldn't for at least eleven days.

There was a fight yesterday among some boys near the Brooklyn street bridge across St. Marys river in the extreme west end. As a result Harold Frary, a lad of about 16, this morning filed an affidavit for assault and battery against Stanley Coudry, a lad a year or two his junior and considerably under weight. The arrest was made this afternoon and the case will be heard in police court in the morning.

A man named Wellmeyer, while passing the store of Heine & Israel, on Broadway, last night, slipped on the iron grating near the large display window and in endeavoring to save himself from falling, lurched against the glass, breaking it.

Miss Anna McKean, of Spy Run avenue, reported to the superintendent that she had left a couple of rings with pearl setting on the lavatory in the ladies' toilet room at the court house and that when she returned to look for them they were gone. The rings are of not much intrinsic value, but are highly prized by the owner, who is willing to pay a liberal reward for their return.

TROUBLE BEGINS THURSDAY

INITIAL REHEARSAL OF THE ELKS' MINSTRELS.

Burnt Cork Stars Become Impatient to Shine—One Hundred Voices in the Chorus.

Thursday evening at 8 o'clock will begin the first rehearsal of the Elks' minstrel show, that premier attraction which is confidently expected to put most of the professionals out of the business, and all persons whose nerves are inclined to be at all frazzled will do well to keep away from the vicinity of the Elks' lodge rooms at Calhoun and Washington streets.

S. A. Grubbs, who is supplying scenery and costumes and directing the production, will arrive in the city tomorrow and will act as starter at the first get-away Thursday evening. It has been necessary to hurry matters somewhat for the reason that many of the burnt cork artists are getting impatient and threaten to sign with professional companies unless they are soon given a chance to get into the limelight and monolize the center of the stage at the local production. The artists are all Fort Wayne stars, and an attempt is now being made to bunco Senator S. B. Fleming into accepting the position of interlocutor. There will be a magnificent chorus of one hundred voices. February 6 and 7 will be the dates of the performance.

THE FIGHT FOR SECRETARY

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE BUT PARTLY ORGANIZED.

Charles Haas Received Highest Number of Votes—Committee Will Meet Again Jan. 30.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22.—The republican state committee was partly reorganized yesterday. James P. Goodrich, of Winchester, being re-elected chairman, George Self, of Corydon, vice chairman, and Harry W. Bennet, of this city, treasurer for another term.

All the officers were chosen without opposition. The committeemen were unable to agree on any one for secretary, however, and adjourned to meet again Jan. 30. Warren Bigler, of Wabash, the present secretary of the committee, was re-elected, but he declined to serve. None of the other candidates received enough votes to elect and, after balloting five times without result, the committee decided to adjourn to meet later. In the meantime the situation will be thoroughly canvassed for a secretary.

Charles P. Haas, of Wabash, received five votes, the most given any candidate on any ballot. Will Whitbaker, of this city, once received three votes and O. M. Tichenor, of Princeton, four votes.

It is understood among republicans here yesterday that a plan is on foot to bring out Warren Bigler, of Wabash, as a candidate for the republican nomination for state auditor.

HEAVY LOSS TO BOERS.

London, Jan. 22.—Lord Kitchener, in a dispatch from Johannesburg, Transvaal colony, dated Tuesday, Jan. 21, says General Methuen overtook a Boer commando near Boschpoort, January 20, and after a running fight of eight miles, captured all their wagons and cattle and twenty-four Boers. General Bruce Hamilton made a night march against General Botha, near Witbank, January 18, but the Boer commander had left the camp when the British reached the spot. The latter, however, captured twenty-seven prisoners.

Vernon Lowe, of Matthews, has returned home after a business visit in the city.

A Poor Way To Treat CATARRH

No one would be so foolish as to kindle the fire on top of a pot to make it boil, yet the treatment of Catarrh is often just as senseless and illogical. Douches, sprays, ointments, so-called tobacco cures, and various other applications, are diligently used, but the little good accomplished is swept away by the first breath of winter. When you attempt to cure a constitutional disease—one affecting the entire system—with purely local remedies, you are applying the fire to the top of the pot, you are doctoring symptoms, and, like thousands of others, get disappointing results. In Chronic Catarrh, the whole system becomes involved; the entire mucous membrane, or inner covering of the body, is in a state of high inflammation. The pressure of blood upon the glands and cells produce excessive secretion of mucus, much of which is absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the body. In this way the stomach, kidneys and intestines are often seriously affected.

The nose, throat and ears are most frequently attacked by this foul disease, because the mucous lining is exposed to the cold, damp air, which attracts the vitiated blood to the surface, causing congestion of the little blood vessels and glands, making breathing difficult and labored; the throat becomes parched and dry; the hot, watery discharge from the nose gradually changes to a yellowish color and becoming more profuse and tenacious, drops back into the throat, causing gagging and almost constant coughing to dislodge it. This offensive discharge, in spite of all precautions, finds its way into the stomach, and extreme nausea and an obstinate form of dyspepsia follow.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 24, 1901. I had a bad case of Catarrh; my nose was always stopped up and my head ached continually, and the odor of my breath was sickening. I had a most annoying cough, also. I tried a number of remedies and was treated by several doctors, but got no relief—my case was thought to be incurable. S. S. S. being recommended to me, I began its use, and after taking nine bottles was cured, and have never been troubled with Catarrh since. MISS MARY L. STORM, 601 Francis Street.

Blinding headaches, neuralgia of the eyes and dizziness are also symptoms of this disease, and when the inflammation reaches the delicate mechanism of the ear, hearing is lost, and, as the blood becomes more deeply poisoned, the tissues and soft bones in the head are eaten out, greatly disfiguring the face. At this stage of Catarrh the breath becomes insufferably offensive. S. S. S. is the simplest and most effective treatment for Catarrh, and when taken into the circulation reaches all parts of the system and cleanses the blood of all Catarrhal matter and restores it to a normal condition. When rich, new blood begins to flow through the veins, the obstructed glands and broken down cells resume their natural functions, and the hot and inflamed membranes are lubricated and moistened with a soothing, healing fluid that quickly brings relief to the congested parts. S. S. S. puts the blood in such perfect condition and so strengthens and invigorates the general health that the local manifestations of the disease gradually disappear, the discharge from the nose ceases, the head clears, breathing becomes easy and natural, the appetite improves, and a perfect and permanent cure is effected.

SSS

S. S. S. is the only guaranteed purely vegetable blood purifier. It contains no minerals to further poison the blood and derange the digestion, but can be taken with perfect safety in all stages and forms of Catarrh. Our physicians will gladly advise, without charge, all who write them about their case. Book on Blood and Skin Diseases free.

A Poor Way To Treat CATARRH

No one would be so foolish as to kindle the fire on top of a pot to make it boil, yet the treatment of Catarrh is often just as senseless and illogical. Douches, sprays, ointments, so-called tobacco cures, and various other applications, are diligently used, but the little good accomplished is swept away by the first breath of winter. When you attempt to cure a constitutional disease—one affecting the entire system—with purely local remedies, you are applying the fire to the top of the pot, you are doctoring symptoms, and, like thousands of others, get disappointing results. In Chronic Catarrh, the whole system becomes involved; the entire mucous membrane, or inner covering of the body, is in a state of high inflammation. The pressure of blood upon the glands and cells produce excessive secretion of mucus, much of which is absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the body. In this way the stomach, kidneys and intestines are often seriously affected.

The nose, throat and ears are most frequently attacked by this foul disease, because the mucous lining is exposed to the cold, damp air, which attracts the vitiated blood to the surface, causing congestion of the little blood vessels and glands, making breathing difficult and labored; the throat becomes parched and dry; the hot, watery discharge from the nose gradually changes to a yellowish color and becoming more profuse and tenacious, drops back into the throat, causing gagging and almost constant coughing to dislodge it. This offensive discharge, in spite of all precautions, finds its way into the stomach, and extreme nausea and an obstinate form of dyspepsia follow.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 24, 1901.
I had a bad case of Catarrh; my nose was always stopped up and my head ached continually, and the odor of my breath was sickening. I had a most annoying cough, also. I tried a number of remedies and was treated by several doctors, but got no relief—my case was thought to be incurable. S. S. S. being recommended to me, I began its use, and after taking nine bottles was cured, and have never been troubled with Catarrh since. MISS MARY L. STORM, 601 Francis Street.

Blinding headaches, neuralgia of the eyes and dizziness are also symptoms of this disease, and when the inflammation reaches the delicate mechanism of the ear, hearing is lost, and, as the blood becomes more deeply poisoned, the tissues and soft bones in the head are eaten out, greatly disfiguring the face. At this stage of Catarrh the breath becomes insufferably offensive. S. S. S. is the simplest and most effective treatment for Catarrh, and when taken into the circulation reaches all parts of the system and cleanses the blood of all Catarrhal matter and restores it to a normal condition. When rich, new blood begins to flow through the veins, the obstructed glands and broken down cells resume their natural functions, and the hot and inflamed membranes are lubricated and moistened with a soothing, healing fluid that quickly brings relief to the congested parts. S. S. S. puts the blood in such perfect condition and so strengthens and invigorates the general health that the local manifestations of the disease gradually disappear, the discharge from the nose ceases, the head clears, breathing becomes easy and natural, the appetite improves, and a perfect and permanent cure is effected.

S. S. S. is the only guaranteed purely vegetable blood purifier. It contains no minerals to further poison the blood and derange the digestion, but can be taken with perfect safety in all stages and forms of Catarrh. CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

A PLEASANT, SIMPLE, BUT SAFE AND EFFECTUAL CURE FOR IT.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing, headaches, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played-out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanson, the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of diastase, aseptic pepsin, a little nux, golden seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not being a patent medicine, can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. N. J. Booher, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat, reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

BASE BALL NOTES.

Tom Farley, the missing manager of the Decatur, Ill., base ball team, has been located in Florida, where he has been seriously ill.

Sammy Strang will become a member of the Cincinnati team soon. A number of American league magnates were after Sammy, but he prefers to become a Red.

With a club in New York, the American would have its rival licked to a standstill. Johnson wants to get into New York and now has a chance to do so. He wants to have two leagues, however, and has decided to remain aloof from the warring factions of the National league.

Dale Gear will be asked to resign the secretaryship of the Players' association because of his statement that the Players' union would make trouble on account of the laws passed by the minor league association. Gear used his official position to further the ends of the American association and his official decapitation is the result.

Kendallville Sun: "Earl Prentiss, better known as "Shorty" in athletic circles of this city, has accepted a position in the Inter State league. He will play short stop with the Dayton, Ohio, team at the opening of the base ball season. Earl is an all around athlete and fine base ball player and his friends bespeak success for him."

John T. Brush had a conference with Ban Johnson in Chicago recently, and it is said, expressed a desire to break into the American league. Mr. Johnson said nay, but took Gum Shoe John's proposition under consideration. It is hinted that Andy Freedman is also anxious to get into the American. Brush is willing to buy out Cleveland and consolidate with Cincinnati, while Freedman would buy the Baltimore franchise and consolidate with the New Yorks. The American league circuit would thus remain unbroken.

Tim Murnane says in the Chicago Record-Herald: "Can the American association expect anything but the small end of it from Ban Johnson since they have from the very start hoped to land a team in Chicago? And Tom Hickey will plan night and day to that end. The American league would certainly sympathize with the minor against a common enemy, and while there is little danger of the Hickey-Tebeau combine growing stronger, Ban Johnson is too old a soldier to allow Hickey to travel around Chicago without clipping his woolly wings."

A Chicago paper says: "Charley Nichols is still in Boston, and watching the doings of the Western league and American association. Nichols is well pleased with the outlook, and says the Western will win its fight for organized ball in a walk. 'With men like Burns, Van Brunt and Whitfield in earnest, Hickey and Tebeau have not a show on earth,' says Nichols. The old Boston pitcher intends returning west in a few weeks with a nice string of players that he is now doing business for, and feels certain of a good thing in Kansas City, where Manning and he have a long lease on new grounds."

IN NORTHERN INDIANA

Angola is to have a commandery of Knights Templar.

Goshen will erect a new high school building at a cost of $50,000.

Rural free delivery route No. 6 out of Columbia City will be established March 1.

The Acme Brass works at Elkhart has been sold to a Battle Creek firm and will be moved to that city.

Two and one-half miles of track have been laid on the Southwestern's extension from Huntington to Wabash.

The annual ten-day special Bible school held at the Dunkard college at North Manchester has just closed after a successful session.

Revivalists are doing successful work at Marion. Tuesday morning one hundred prayer meetings were held in various parts of the city.

John W. Hartman, of Decatur, is dead, at the age of forty-seven. He had been ill ten years and death resulted from general tuberculosis.

The Geneva Oil company has been incorporated, with a capital stock of $25,000. Its operations will be confined principally to Huntington county.

Mrs. Dr. A. L. Stephenson died at Wabash of peritonitis. She was the daughter of the late Francis Eagle, one of the largest land owners in the county.

Mrs. John Graham, of Richland township, Whitley county, sixty-five years of age, slipped from the porch at her residence, fracturing her leg and dislocating an ankle.

The first brick school house erected in Columbia City is now being torn down. It was built in 1846, is 24x36 feet in size and was for many years the pride of the town.

Isaac Thrash, a farmer near Portland, has just cut into stovewood the trunk of a tree which he felled in 1861. The tree was an oak and the wood was yet perfectly sound.

Goshen high school base ball team is arranging a schedule of dates for 1902 and has asked for games with South Bend, Howe school at Lima, Fort Wayne, Huntington, Wabash and other teams.

While services were being held over the remains of the late Mrs. Edward Conner at the family home in Goshen the floor gave way and a number of people narrowly escaped tumbling into the cellar.

The Northern Indiana Fair association at South Bend will sell its grounds and buildings to pay off outstanding indebtedness. Thus ends what was once the most prosperous fair association in northern Indiana.

Forty years ago G. M. Haefling, of Decatur, froze one of his feet. Since that time there has been little feeling in the member and when he stepped on a tack some weeks ago the injury was not discovered until gangrene had developed. Amputation of a portion of the foot was necessary this week.

Driving along the road near Servia, Wabash county, one night last November Ellsworth Geltion tumbled into a cut twenty feet deep which had been made upon the order of the county commissioners preparatory to putting in a bridge. Geltion was badly hurt and he has now sued Wabash county for $8,000 damages.

At Ligonier A. O. Saunders, aged about forty years, a strong follower of Adventism, became mentally unbalanced and entering the Jewish temple during services, indulged in a lengthy and scathing denunciation of their faith. He also preached on the street and forcibly attacked George Heffner, snatching a pipe from his mouth. He was taken to the county jail at Albion amid much excitement.

James Morrison, of Montpelier, while demented, left home Friday night of last week and has not been seen or heard from since. He carried a razor and $140. His family fears that he has taken his life, as he imagines that he is pursued by enemies that are seeking his life. His parents live in Princeton. He leaves a wife and six children in destitute circumstances.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Early business in the grain pits today was tame and dragging. The talent was inclined to let matters rest about as they were after yesterday's small reaction. There was no more moisture reported in the middle west, though generous rains fell in California. Cables were not responsive to the rally of yesterday. The opening in May wheat was easy, ¼@⅜c to ⅜@½c lower, at 79⅜c to 79¼c on these influences, but a commission house demand at once set in that induced a rally to 79½c. Shortly after a few selling orders eased prices again to 79⅜c. Local receipts were 22 cars, none of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 294 cars, making a total for the three points of 316, against 439 last week and 280 a year ago.

Bears later forced May to 79⅛c, but the market, helped by outside strength, later reacted to 79⅞c and closed steady, May a shade higher at 79¾c.

May corn started ⅛@¼c lower at 64⅞c to 64¼c on lower cables. Commission houses bought, however, and soon sent May to 64⅛@64⅜c. Here prices steadied for a time on the wheat influence, but later eased to 64⅜c. Receipts were 93 cars.

May closed steady, a shade lower, at 64⅜c.

May oats opened ⅛@¼c to ¼c lower at 46⅛c to 46@46⅛c with other grains, but soon felt the influence of a fair demand and sold up to 46½c. This pit early was the strongest on the board. Receipts were 121 cars.

Provisions opened weak because hogs at the yards were heavier than of late and the receipts were much over the estimate. May pork opened 5 to 10c down at $16.77½@16.72½; May lard 7½c to 5c lower at $9.52½@9.55, and May ribs 2½@5c to a shade lower at $8.57½@8.60.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Jan. 22.—A few stocks showed good fractional gains in the opening dealings and the rise extended to a point in Lackawanna. Changes in the majority of stocks were very small with gains predominating. Business was on a very small scale and speculative sentiment was indifferent.

The market quickly fell into its recent rut of speculative apathy which was only slightly relieved when large buying orders appeared for the Readings and some high-priced stocks. The list hardened sympathetically and a level was established fractionally above yesterday's close. Northwestern was advanced 4 points, the preferred 4½ and Lackawanna 3¾. New York Central sold off a point from its opening and partly recovered. American Tobacco preferred dropped 3 points.

Room traders bid up the local tractions about a point, and Consolidated Gas and Continental Tobacco preferred gained as much. Northwestern touched 216. These comprised the only changes of importance during the second hour. The market held firm, but was very sluggish.

The bond market was broad and firm. There was a large absorption of the Central of Georgia issues and some usually dormant 4, 5 and 6 per cent issues were advanced sharply.

FELL FROM A TREE.

Charles Parker, a farm hand employed on the Vining farm, north of the city, is suffering from a severe concussion of the brain, and his condition is critical. While pruning trees a limb broke and Mr. Parker was precipitated to the ground, a distance of twelve feet, alighting on his head and shoulders. The skull was indented and it was thought that a trepanning operation would be necessary, but it is believed that the patient will recover without it. Dr. English is the attending physician.

Stanford were united in marriage Tuesday evening, the ceremony being performed at the residence of the groom's mother, Mrs. Catherine Foster, 3 Walton avenue, at 7:30 o'clock, Rev. M. C. Cooper officiating. Mrs. Foster is an employe of the Bass works, and his bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Stanford, of 76 Wabash avenue. Both are estimable young people with many friends. They will reside for the present at 3 Walton avenue.

E. M. Fink, a government customs officer at El Paso, Tex., was in the city last evening a guest at the Randall. Mr. Fink had been visiting at his former home at Lima, O., and left today for Hartford City, where he will be the guest of other relatives.

HUMANE SOCIETY.

The Fort Wayne Humane society is about to enter upon the fifteenth year of its labors. Heretofore the work has been confined to correcting abuses and preventing cruelty to children and animals. Our agent has visited many homes during the past year and by his kind admonitions has prevented much suffering and cruelty. The society now believes that the time has come that its field of labor should be enlarged; that the work of humane education should become a feature of its work, and the children and youths should be induced to become auxiliary members of the society. Nearly every Humane society throughout the United States is encouraging the work of organizing Bands of Mercy. At this time 48,265 branches of the parent American branch have been formed, with over a million members, the object of which is to teach and lead every child and older person to seize every opportunity to say a kind word or do a kind act that will make some other human being or some dumb creature happier. We desire to increase the membership of the society and invite everybody to become a member and co-operate with us in this grand and noble work. The present membership of this society numbers 188 persons, who have generously and unselfishly supported with their money this society.

Mrs. Nora B. Gause, a member of this society, is now in this city and will within the next three weeks call on the members of the society for their annual membership fees and contributions, and will also solicit new members. She has already commenced the work of collecting and soliciting for funds to carry on the work of another year. She will cheerfully explain the work of the society to those who may desire an explanation; believing, as we do, that unless we make some effort to educate the children and youths our work is only half done.

We request that you give Mrs. Gause an encouraging word and a hearty welcome.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing, headaches, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played-out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanson, the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of diastase, aseptic pepsin, a little nux, golden seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not being a patent medicine, can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. N. J. Booher, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat, reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

BASE BALL NOTES.

Tom Farley, the missing manager of the Decatur, Ill., base ball team, has been located in Florida, where he has been seriously ill.

Sammy Strang will become a member of the Cincinnati team soon. A number of American league magnates were after Sammy, but he prefers to become a Red.

With a club in New York, the American would have its rival licked to a standstill. Johnson wants to get into New York and now has a chance to do so. He wants to have two leagues, however, and has decided to remain aloof from the warring factions of the National league.

Dale Gear will be asked to resign the secretaryship of the Players' association because of his statement that the Players' union would make trouble on account of the laws passed by the minor league association. Gear used his official position to further the ends of the American association and his official decapitation is the result.

Kendallville Sun: "Earl Prentiss, better known as "Shorty" in athletic circles of this city, has accepted a position in the Inter State league. He will play short stop with the Dayton, Ohio, team at the opening of the base ball season. Earl is an all around athlete and fine base ball player and his friends bespeak success for him."

John T. Brush had a conference with Ban Johnson in Chicago recently, and it is said, expressed a desire to break into the American league. Mr. Johnson said nay, but took Gum Shoe John's proposition under consideration. It is hinted that Andy Freedman is also anxious to get into the American. Brush is willing to buy out Cleveland and consolidate with Cincinnati, while Freedman would buy the Baltimore franchise and consolidate with the New Yorks. The American league circuit would thus remain unbroken.

Tim Murnane says in the Chicago Record-Herald: "Can the American association expect anything but the small end of it from Ban Johnson since they have from the very start hoped to land a team in Chicago? And Tom Hickey will plan night and day to that end. The American league would certainly sympathize with the minor against a common enemy, and while there is little danger of the Hickey-Tebeau combine growing stronger, Ban Johnson is too old a soldier to allow Hickey to travel around Chicago without clipping his woolly wings."

A Chicago paper says: "Charley Nichols is still in Boston, and watching the doings of the Western league and American association. Nichols is well pleased with the outlook, and says the Western will win its fight for organized ball in a walk. 'With men like Burns, Van Brunt and Whitfield in earnest, Hickey and Tebeau have not a show on earth,' says Nichols. The old Boston pitcher intends returning west in a few weeks with a nice string of players that he is now doing business for, and feels certain of a good thing in Kansas City, where Manning and he have a long lease on new grounds."

Forty years ago C. M. Haefling, of Decatur, froze one of his feet. Since that time there has been little feeling in the member and when he stepped on a tack some weeks ago the injury was not discovered until gangrene had developed. Amputation of a portion of the foot was necessary this week.

Driving along the road near Servia, Wabash county, one night last November Ellsworth Geltion tumbled into a cut twenty feet deep which had been made upon the order of the county commissioners preparatory to putting in a bridge. Geltion was badly hurt and he has now sued Wabash county for $8,000 damages.

At Ligonier A. O. Saunders, aged about forty years, a strong follower of Adventism, became mentally unbalanced and entering the Jewish temple during services, indulged in a lengthy and scathing denunciation of their faith. He also preached on the street and forcibly attacked George Heffner, snatching a pipe from his mouth. He was taken to the county jail at Albion amid much excitement.

James Morrison, of Montpelier, while demented, left home Friday night of last week and has not been seen or heard from since. He carried a razor and $140. His family fears that he has taken his life, as he imagines that he is pursued by enemies that are seeking his life. His parents live in Princeton. He leaves a wife and six children in destitute circumstances.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Early business in the grain pits today was tame and dragging. The talent was inclined to let matters rest about as they were after yesterday's small reaction. There was no more moisture reported in the middle west, though generous rains fell in California. Cables were not responsive to the rally of yesterday. The opening in May wheat was easy, ¼@⅜c to ⅜@½c lower, at 79⅜c to 79¼c on these influences, but a commission house demand at once set in that induced a rally to 79⅝c. Shortly after a few selling orders eased prices again to 79⅜c. Local receipts were 22 cars, none of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 294 cars, making a total for the three points of 316, against 439 last week and 280 a year ago.

Bears late forced May to 79⅛c, but the market, helped by outside strength, later reacted to 79⅞c and closed steady. May a shade higher at 79¼c.

May corn started ⅛@¼c lower at 64⅜c to 64¼c on lower cables. Commission houses bought, however, and soon sent May to 64⅛@64⅜c. Here prices steadied for a time on the wheat influence, but later eased to 64⅜c. Receipts were 93 cars.

May closed steady, a shade lower, at 64⅜c.

May oats opened ⅛@¼c to ¼c lower at 46¼c to 46@46⅛c with other grains, but soon felt the influence of a fair demand and sold up to 46⅛c. This pit early was the strongest on the board. Receipts were 121 cars.

Provisions opened weak because hogs at the yards were heavier than of late and the receipts were much over the estimate. May pork opened 5 to 10c down at $16.77½@16.72½; May lard 7½c to 5c lower at $9.52½@9.55, and May ribs 2½@5c to a shade lower at $8.57½@8.60.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Jan. 22.—A few stocks showed good fractional gains in the opening dealings and the rise extended to a point in Lackawanna. Changes in the majority of stocks were very small with gains predominating. Business was on a very small scale and speculative sentiment was indifferent.

The market quickly fell into its recent rut of speculative apathy which was only slightly relieved when large buying orders appeared for the Readings and some high-priced stocks. The list hardened sympathetically and a level was established fractionally above yesterday's close. Northwestern was advanced 4 points, the preferred 4½ and Lackawanna 3¾. New York Central sold off a point from its opening and partly recovered. American Tobacco preferred dropped 3 points.

Room traders bid up the local traction about a point, and Consolidated Gas and Continental Tobacco preferred gained as much. Northwestern touched 216. These comprised the only changes of importance during the second hour. The market held firm, but was very sluggish.

The bond market was broad and firm. There was a large absorption of the Central of Georgia issues and some usually dormant 4, 5 and 6 per cent issues were advanced sharply.

FELL FROM A TREE.

Charles Parker, a farm hand employed on the Vining farm, north of the city, is suffering from a severe concussion of the brain, and his condition is critical. While pruning trees a limb broke and Mr. Parker was precipitated to the ground, a distance of twelve feet, alighting on his head and shoulders. The skull was indented and it was thought that a trepanning operation would be necessary, but it is believed that the patient will recover without it. Dr. English is the attending physician.

Willis W. Foster and Miss Goldie M. Stanford were united in marriage Tuesday evening, the ceremony being performed at the residence of the groom's mother, Mrs. Catherine Foster, 3 Walton avenue, at 7:30 o'clock, Rev. M. C. Both are estimable young people with many friends. They will reside for the present at 3 Walton avenue.

HUMANE SOCIETY.

The Fort Wayne Humane society is about to enter upon the fifteenth year of its labors. Heretofore the work has been confined to correcting abuses and preventing cruelty to children and animals. Our agent has visited many homes during the past year and by his kind admonitions has prevented much suffering and cruelty. The society now believes that the time has come that its field of labor should be enlarged; that the work of humane education should become a feature of its work, and the children and youths should be induced to become auxiliary members of the society. Nearly every Humane society throughout the United States is encouraging the work of organizing Bands of Mercy. At this time 48,265 branches of the parent American branch have been formed, with over a million members, the object of which is to teach and lead every child and older person to seize every opportunity to say a kind word or do a kind act that will make some other human being or some dumb creature happier. We desire to increase the membership of the society and invite everybody to become a member and co-operate with us in this grand and noble work. The present membership of this society numbers 188 persons, who have generously and unselfishly supported with their money this society.

Mrs. Nora B. Gause, a member of this society, is now in this city and will within the next three weeks call on the members of the society for their annual membership fees and contributions, and will also solicit new members. She has already commenced the work of collecting and soliciting for funds to carry on the work of another year. She will cheerfully explain the work of the society to those who may desire an explanation; believing, as we do, that unless we make some effort to educate the children and youths our work is only half done.

AIDING A COMRADE

ELECTRIC EMPLOYES ENGAGE IN A COMMENDABLE WORK.

JOHN SIBEL GETTING BETTER

NEWS OF THE SHOP AND RAIL

BASS COMPANY SECURES A BIG ORDER FOR WHEELS.

A very creditable trait in the character of the mechanics and shop employes in this city is a disposition to help out unfortunate comrades in times of distress and in no body of men is this trait more prominent than in the employes of the Fort Wayne Electric company. These works have what they call a Relief Union, which disburses to sick and injured members a regular weekly sum, but in several instances the men have considered this weekly allowance inadequate to the needs of the beneficiary and then the "boys" went down in their pockets for more or got up some entertainment for the benefit of the unfortunate person. The latter is the case at present. One of the employes of the works is sick and has been unable to work for two months and the men have arranged a ball at Mulqueen's dancing academy for next Friday evening, which promises to yield a handsome sum. At noon today 250 tickets had been disposed of and the committee having the matter in charge hope to reach the 400 point before the evening of the ball.

HIS STOVE BLEW UP.

Philip Renschler, of the Electric works, is laying off today for the purpose of purchasing a new cook stove and replenishing the stock of kitchen ware at his home. This morning when Mr. Renschelr attempted to light the gas in the stove there was an explosion that lifted him off his feet, blew the stove into scrap iron and sadly disarranged and broke the furniture and cooking utensils thereabouts. The gas had evidently been leaking through the valve during the night and when a lighted match was placed in the stove an explosion occurred. Luckily Mr. Renschler was not injured.

THE LEESON FUNERAL.

The funeral of the late John Leeson yesterday afternoon was attended by a number of people from Van Wert, the former home of the deceased. Among those in the party were Rev. Joseph A. Gordon, officiating minister; Mrs. J. Leeson, H. Daies, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Flaharty, H. C. Hamilton, O. D. Swartout, J. B. Smith, R. J. Corrette, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Morton, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Evans and Mrs. J. W. Evans. The remains were taken direct from the train to the cemetery.

BIG ORDER FOR CASTINGS.

George T. Ladd has secured for the Bass Foundry and Machine company an order for four rope wheels and two jack shafts which involve in the construction many tons of metal. Two of the wheels will be twenty-four feet in diameter, eleven feet across the face and be groved for fifty-two two-inch ropes. The other two wheels will have the same face surface and number of groves, but will be only nine feet in diameter. The jack shifts will be twenty-four feet long and twenty-six inches in diameter, the largest size made.

SIBLE TELLS THE STORY.

A Peru paper states that John E. Sible, the Wabash engineer who jumped from his engine at Attica some days ago, is able to walk around the company's hospital and is making satisfactory progress toward recovery. Mr. Sible states that he did not jump from his engine. He was getting down on the cab steps ready to jump if he found it necessary, when his feet slipped upon the ice that had formed there and he lost his hold and fell. He remembers nothing more of the accident. The paper also states that the engineer's wounds are healing nicely and that he will soon be able to go to his home. Sible formerly resided in this city.

TELEGRAPH LINE COMPLETE.

The telegraph line on the Butler road was completed yesterday and connection was made last night with Fort Wayne. G. C. Kinsman, superintendent of telegraph of the Wabash, who is in the city, is personally inspecting the improvements at the several places today. General Superintendent H. L. Magee left in his special car upon an inspection trip over the road today. The difficulties concerning the crossing at St. Joe are about over and work of installing the interlocking plant is again in progress. The main line will be ballasted in a few days and then the men engaged in that work will commence ballasting the siding at the four stations on the new line. There are two sidings at each station.

COMMISSIONERS' MEETING.

Thirty-one of the states have railway commissioners and two or three other states designate by law certain officials who shall exercise supervisory powers over the affairs of railways when action of that character is necessary. These commissioners and the inter-state commerce commission will compose a body which will hold a convention at Charleston February 11 to discuss matters pertaining to railways, the following being some of the questions to receive attention:

Grade crossings.

Railroad taxes and plans for ascertaining fair valuation of railroad property.

Classification of operating and construction expenses of steam railways.

Uniform classification and simplification of tariff sheets.

Legislation.

Delays attendant upon enforcing orders of railway commissions.

Forms for reports of electric railways.

The body is known as the National Association of Railway Commissioners and it has a membership of about 146.

MACHINERY TO TERRE HAUTE.

Shipping Clerk John Keiss is busy today, filling numerous orders for machinery and electrical supplies. One of the largest shipments from the Electric works today, was a 6,000-light direct current dynamo to Terre Haute, where it will be placed in the Columbian Enameling and Stamping company's plant. The Electric works built several motors for the Enameling people and sent them to Terre Haute last week.

WABASH PAY DAY.

The Wabash pay car will arrive in the city tomorrow morning. The company now has two paymasters, their territory being divided by the Mississippi river, and this accounts for the earlier date of arrival of the car. The amount of money distributed in this city will be much larger than usual on account of the increased force in the yards, the shops and on the road.

WORKING TEN HOURS AGAIN.

The men in the Pittsburg car shops and planing mills, who were working twelve hours per day for the past week, this morning resumed the ten-hour schedule. They have caught up with the rest of the establishment in car work and will not have to work overtime for some weeks, possibly months.

ECHO OF PHILLIPS FAILURE

DR. E. P. BANNING FILES PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY.

Tuesday evening Dr. Edmund P. Banning, of this city, filed in the United States court a petition in bankruptcy, the schedule showing liabilities of $17,106.73, with assets of $551.25. Among the larger Fort Wayne creditors are the Archer Printing company, $215; Journal company, $194.78; First National bank, $170.

The immediate cause of Dr. Banning's failure seems to have been the collapse of George H. Phillips, the Chicago corn king. Many people were aware that Dr. Banning was one of Phillips' customers, and it was rumored that the doctor was rather hard hit when Phillips went under. Some years ago Dr. Banning lost quite heavily by his investment in a music company, and later was placed in financial straits by the fire which destroyed his plant for the manufacture of orthopedic devices, the insurance upon which had expired the day previous to the fire. A year or more ago Dr. Banning opened an office in Chicago and had, it is believed, entered upon a lucrative practice.

His attorney, H. C. Hanna, says: "The doctor tells me he is through with speculation, and also that he can within two years, earn the money to pay every just debt shown on his petition, and that he is going to do it.

AIDING A COMRADE

ELECTRIC EMPLOYES ENGAGE IN A COMMENDABLE WORK.

JOHN SIBEL GETTING BETTER

BASS COMPANY SECURES A BIG ORDER FOR WHEELS.

A very creditable trait in the character of the mechanics and shop employes in this city is a disposition to help out unfortunate comrades in times of distress and in no body of men is this trait more prominent than in the employes of the Fort Wayne Electric company. These works have what they call a Relief Union, which disburses to sick and injured members a regular weekly sum, but in several instances the men have considered this weekly allowance inadequate to the needs of the beneficiary and then the "boys" went down in their pockets for more or got up some entertainment for the benefit of the unfortunate person. The latter is the case at present. One of the employes of the works is sick and has been unable to work for two months and the men have arranged a ball at Mulqueen's dancing academy for next Friday evening, which promises to yield a handsome sum. At noon today 250 tickets had been disposed of and the committee having the matter in charge hope to reach the 400 point before the evening of the ball.

HIS STOVE BLEW UP.

Philip Rensehler, of the Electric works, is laying off today for the purpose of purchasing a new cook stove and replenishing the stock of kitchen ware at his home. This morning when Mr. Rensehler attempted to light the gas in the stove there was an explosion that lifted him off his feet, blew the stove into scrap iron and sadly disarranged and broke the furniture and cooking utensils therein/nouts. The gas had evidently been leaking through the valve during the night and when a lighted match was placed in the stove an explosion occurred. Luckily Mr. Rensehler was not injured.

THE LEESON FUNERAL.

The funeral of the late John Leeson yesterday afternoon was attended by a number of people from Van Wert, the former home of the deceased. Among those in the party were Rev. Joseph A. Gordon, officiating minister; Mrs. J. Leeson, H. Daies, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Flaharty, H. C. Hamilton, O. D. Swartout, J. B. Smith, R. J. Corvette, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Morton, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Evans and Mrs. J. W. Evans. The remains were taken direct from the train to the cemetery.

BIG ORDER FOR CASTINGS.

George T. Ladd has secured for the Bass Foundry and Machine company an order for four rope wheels and two jack shafts which involve in the construction many tons of metal. Two of the wheels will be twenty-four feet in diameter, eleven feet across the face and be groved for fifty-two two-inch ropes. The other two wheels will have the same face surface and number of groves, but will be only nine feet in diameter. The jack shifts will be twenty-four feet long and twenty-six inches in diameter, the largest size made.

SIBLE TELLS THE STORY.

A Peru paper states that John E. Sible, the Wabash engineer who jumped from his engine at Attica some days ago, is able to walk around the company's hospital and is making satisfactory progress toward recovery. Mr. Sible states that he did not jump from his engine. He was getting down on the cab steps ready to jump if he found it netessary, when his feet slipped upon the ice that had formed there and he lost his hold and fell. He remembers nothing more of the accident. The paper also states that the engineer's wounds are healing nicely and that he will soon be able to go to his home. Sible formerly resided in this city.

TELEGRAPH LINE COMPLETE.

COMMISSIONERS' MEETING.

Thirty-one of the states have railway commissioners and two or three other states designate by law certain officials who shall exercise supervisory powers over the affairs of railways when action of that character is necessary. These commissioners and the inter-state commerce commission will compose a body which will hold a convention at Charleston February 11 to discuss matters pertaining to railways, the following being some of the questions to receive attention:

Grade crossings.

Railroad taxes and plans for ascertaining fair valuation of railroad property.

Classification of operating and construction expenses of steam railways.

Uniform classification and simplification of tariff sheets.

Railroad statistics.

Legislation.

Delays attendant upon enforcing orders of railway commissions.

Forms for reports of electric railways.

The body is known as the National Association of Railway Commissioners and it has a membership of about 146.

MACHINERY TO TERRE HAUTE.

Shipping Clerk John Keiss is busy today, filling numerous orders for machinery and electrical supplies. One of the largest shipments from the Electric works today, was a 6,000-light direct current dynamo to Terre Haute, where it will be placed in the Columbian Enameling and Stamping company's plant. The Electric works built several motors for the Enameling people and sent them to Terre Haute last week.

WABASH PAY DAY.

The Wabash pay car will arrive in the city tomorrow morning. The company now has two paymasters, their territory being divided by the Mississippi river, and this accounts for the earlier date of arrival of the car. The amount of money distributed in this city will be much larger than usual on account of the increased force in the yards, the shops and on the road.

WORKING TEN HOURS AGAIN.

The men in the Pittsburg car shops and planing mills, who were working twelve hours per day for the past week, this morning resumed the ten-hour schedule. They have caught up with the rest of the establishment in car work and will not have to work overtime for some weeks, possibly months.

ECHO OF PHILLIPS FAILURE

DR. E. P. BANNING FILES PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY.

Tuesday evening Dr. Edmund P. Banning, of this city, filed in the United States court a petition in bankruptcy, the schedule showing liabilities of $17,106.73, with assets of $551.25. Among the larger Fort Wayne creditors are the Archer Printing company, $218; Journal company, $194.78; First National bank, $170.

The immediate cause of Dr. Banning's failure seems to have been the collapse of George H. Phillips, the Chicago corn king. Many people were aware that Dr. Banning was one of Phillips' customers, and it was rumored that the doctor was rather hard hit when Phillips went under. Some years ago Dr. Banning lost quite heavily by his investment in a music company, and later was placed in financial straits by the fire which destroyed his plant for the manufacture of orthopedic devices, the insurance upon which had expired the day previous to the fire. A year or more ago Dr. Banning opened an office in Chicago and had, it is believed, entered upon a lucrative practice.

His attorney, H. C. Hanna, says: "The doctor tells me he is through with speculation, and also that he can within two years, earn the money to pay every just debt shown on his petition, and that he is going to do it.

ADMIT KILLING PRISONERS.

Kansas City, Jan. 22.—The Journal today quoted Lemuel D. Cummins, a former member of the Twentieth Kansas regiment, as admitting that he and Maurice Cohen, deceased, shot and killed two Filipino prisoners at the battle of Caloocan, and exonerating Gen. Wilder S. Metcalfe from all blame. Cummins is quoted as saying that Metcalfe had ordered Cohen and himself to take the prisoners to the rear. "Cohen and I started with them to the rear," said Cummins. "The prisoners resisted, and in the mix-up that followed they were killed. Metcalfe was a short distance away, but I don't think he saw the shooting. We killed those Filipinos in self defense."

FREED OUTLAW MAY MARRY.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 22.—There is a romance connected with the desire of the Younger brothers to be permitted to return to Missouri. The proviso which prevented their leaving the state which they had served as prisoners for over twenty years marred their freedom.

In view of the varied disabilities of the men and of a desire on the part of Missouri people to give them a haven in their old age the agitation for their return was started. But the secret reason is Jim Younger's desire to marry and settle in Missouri. For some weeks the rumor has been rife in St. Paul that Alix Mueller, a sister of Mrs. Frederick Schurmeier, was engaged to James Younger.

Within the last few days it is knows that Miss Mueller has informed her friends that she hoped to live in the south next summer, and Younger has been introduced by her to friends and relatives.

Frederick Schurmeier, the brother-in-law of Miss Mueller, was one of the foremost workers for Younger's release and it was through him that Miss Mueller met Younger.

GRANT BANKS WORE A SMILE

WAIVED A HEARING AND WAS RELEASED ON BOND.

Roann Young Man on a Revenue Charge—McClish Didn't Figure on Getting Caught Up.

Grant Banks, the Roann young man charged with having violated the United States revenue laws in selling intoxicants without having paid the government license, appeared before Commissioner Logan this morning for a preliminary hearing. Mr. Banks has been locked up in jail some days upon his failure to give bond.

Mr. Banks is minus a left hand, but he wears a smile that amply compensates for any physical discrepancy and he beamed benignantly today upon Commissioner Logan, District Attorney Lafollette and Revenue Collector Gauntt, as well as his own attorney, Elmer Leonard, who were in the court as Deputy Marshal Scott brought Banks before the officer. Banks was accompanied by his brother.

District Attorney Lafollette stated that some of the witnesses could not reach the city until later in the day, and announced his willingness to permit Banks to waive a hearing without plea and give bond for his appearance at Indianapolis when wanted should he be indicted by the federal grand jury in May. This suited Mr. Banks and his smile broadened as Commissioner Logan made out a bond for $500, and Banks and his brother signed the document. The prisoner was profuse in his assurances to the district attorney that he wouldn't run away even if he were turned loose. As he left the building to enjoy liberty once more Banks expressed his entire approval of the way he had been treated during his incarceration. In fact, he was extremely good natured with reference to every phase of the case.

Banks' arrest is the outcome of a fight made against saloons by the temperance people at Roann, a little town in Wabash county. It is said that Banks was a frequenter of the resorts and on at least one occasion took liquor into the back room of the saloon building, where he sold it to minors. To the charge of selling to minors he pleaded guilty and was fined. Upon the record of the court docket at Roann Banks was then arrested for selling without a government license, and it is this case that is now being pressed. Town Clerk Spotts, of Roann, was one of the witnesses in the case and he arrived today with his records just after Banks had been released upon bond.

M'CLISH YET IN JAIL.

District Attorney Lafollette says that McClish, the young man who is charged with raising a money order in this city a few weeks ago, has thus far been unable to give bond and is yet in jail at Indianapolis. It will be recalled that McClish purchased a money order for fifty cents at the Fort Wayne postoffice, payable to a young lady here. When it was presented for payment it had been "raised" to $14.50. McClish grew confidential with the district attorney and told him that it had not been his intention to allow the order to be presented for payment. He said he had "raised" the order to make an impressive financial showing to the young lady, but expected to get hold of it again before she could present it for payment. This part of the program failed and that explains why Mr. McClish is now in hoc.

P. A. Randall has commenced suit against Jay C. Miller and the Nickel Plate railroad on a note for $900.

The evidence in the case of Mary Smith vs. the city is all in and arguments are being heard this afternoon. The case will probably go to the jury this evening.

The county commissioners transacted some unimportant business this morning and at noon adjourned until Saturday.

In the circuit court the Fry will case is still on trial, but will probably reach the jury before night.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

Saunders.—The remains of Joseph B. Saunders, who died Tuesday at Grand Rapids, will reach the city Thursday evening and will be removed to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Clem Schele, 63 Elmwood avenue. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon, but a more definite announcement will appear later.

Rev. Field, at the Baptist church this evening, at 7:30, will preach on "The Moral Value of Confession." A number of people will be received into church membership this evening.

Good Things in a Bad Place

Pies, puddings, cakes and goodies of all sorts (missionaries excepted) are intended for human use, but such good things should not be put in a bad stomach. They are nearly always made up of nourishing articles, such as milk, sugar, butter, flour, etc., etc., but the combinations are too hard for any but healthy stomachs to digest.

You must use carefully selected food if you are a little below par, and the sooner you do this the sooner your stomach will heal up and get strong again so that you can eat whatever pleases the appetite.

Don't be a crank and think you can only drink hot water and eat white bread.

Use Grape-Nuts breakfast food with some rich cream and you will discover the food will agree with the weakest stomach and supply the highest form of nourishment, pre-digested and ready for quick change into good, rich blood.

NEWS GATHERED IN CITY HALL

The board of works called on Manager Nelson yesterday and arranged to have the Southwestern company's attorney, Mr. Doughman, and City Attorney Shambaugh get together and draft an ordinance generally in accordance with an agreement of the special committee as made last Saturday night. Mr. Nelson did not endorse the entire plan as outlined. However, it is presumed that some mutually satisfactory agreement will now be shortly reached.

The committee on rules, regulations and ordinances met last evening to pass upon several minor ordinances referred to them at the last regular meeting of the council.

Mayor Berghoff, who is at Chicago on private business, is expected to return to the city tonight.

IN JUSTICES' COURTS.

W. E. Pillars, of Arcola, was arraigned before Justice Bullerman, charged with Sabbath desecration. The case was dismissed.

Mrs. Lena Ittenbach, housekeeper for Bishop Alerding, has as a guest her niece, Miss Emma Vondersaar, and William Aleiter, of Indianapolis. They will remain several days, and friends are extended a courteous invitation to call.

ADMIT KILLING PRISONERS.

Kansas City, Jan. 22.—The Journal today quoted Lemuel D. Cummins, a former member of the Twentieth Kansas regiment, as admitting that he and Maurice Cohen, deceased, shot and killed two Filipino prisoners at the battle of Caloocan, and exonerating Gen. Wilder S. Metcalfe from all blame. Cummins is quoted as saying that Metcalfe had ordered Cohen and himself to take the prisoners to the rear. "Cohen and I started with them to the rear," said Cummins. "The prisoners resisted, and in the mix-up that followed they were killed. Metcalfe was a short distance away, but I don't think he saw the shooting. We killed those Filipinos in self defense."

FREED OUTLAW MAY MARRY.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 22.—There is a romance connected with the desire of the Younger brothers to be permitted to return to Missouri. The proviso which prevented their leaving the state which they had served as prisoners for over twenty years barred their freedom.

In view of the varied disabilities of the men and of a desire on the part of Missouri people to give them a haven in their old age the agitation for their return was started. But the secret reason is Jim Younger's desire to marry and settle in Missouri. For some weeks the rumor has been rife in St. Paul that Alix Mueller, a sister of Mrs. Frederick Schurmeier, was engaged to James Younger.

Within the last few days it is knows that Miss Mueller has informed her friends that she hoped to live in the south next summer, and Younger has been introduced by her to friends and relatives.

Frederick Schurmeier, the brother-in-law of Miss Mueller, was one of the foremost workers for Younger's release and it was through him that Miss Mueller met Younger.

GRANT BANKS WORE A SMILE

Grant Banks, the Roann young man charged with having violated the United States revenue laws in selling intoxicants without having paid the government license, appeared before Commissioner Logan this morning for a preliminary hearing. Mr. Banks has been locked up in jail some days upon his failure to give bond.

Mr. Banks is minus a left hand, but he wears a smile that amply compensates for any physical discrepancy and he beamed benignantly today upon Commissioner Logan, District Attorney Lafollette and Revenue Collector Gauntt, as well as his own attorney, Elmer Leonard, who were in the court as Deputy Marshal Scott brought Banks before the officer. Banks was accompanied by his brother.

District Attorney Lafollette stated that some of the witnesses could not reach the city until later in the day, and announced his willingness to permit Banks to waive a hearing without plea and give bond for his appearance at Indianapolis when wanted should he be indicted by the federal grand jury in May. This suited Mr. Banks and his smile broadened as Commissioner Logan made out a bond for $500, and Banks and his brother signed the document. The prisoner was profuse in his assurances to the district attorney that he wouldn't run away even if he were turned loose. As he left the building to enjoy liberty once more Banks expressed his entire approval of the way he had been treated during his incarceration. In fact, he was extremely good natured with reference to every phase of the case.

Banks' arrest is the outcome of a fight made against saloons by the temperance people at Roann, a little town in Wabash county. It is said that Banks was a frequenter of the resorts and on at least one occasion took liquor into the back room of the saloon building, where he sold it to minors. To the charge of selling to minors he pleaded guilty and was fined. Upon the record of the court docket at Roann Banks was then arrested for selling without a government license, and it is this case that is now being pressed. Town Clerk Spotts, of Roann, was one of the witnesses in the case and he arrived today with his records just after Banks had been released upon bond.

M'CLISH YET IN JAIL.

District Attorney Lafollette says that McClish, the young man who is charged with raising a money order in this city a few weeks ago, has thus far been unable to give bond and is yet in jail at Indianapolis. It will be recalled that McClish purchased a money order for fifty cents at the Fort Wayne postoffice, payable to a young lady here. When it was presented for payment it had been "raised" to $14.50. McClish grew confidential with the district attorney and told him that it had not been his intention to allow the order to be presented for payment. He said he had "raised" the order to make an impressive financial showing to the young lady, but expected to get hold of it again before she could present it for payment. This part of the program failed and that explains why Mr. McClish is now in hoc.

F. A. Randall has commenced suit against Jay C. Miller and the Nickel Plate railroad on a note for $900.

The evidence in the case of Mary Smith vs. the city is all in and arguments are being heard this afternoon. The case will probably go to the jury this evening.

In the circuit court the Fry will case is still on trial, but will probably reach the jury before night.

FUNERAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

Saunders.—The remains of Joseph B. Saunders, who died Tuesday at Grand Rapids, will reach the city Thursday evening and will be removed to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Clem Schele, 53 Elmwood avenue. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon, but a more definite announcement will appear later.

Rev. Field, at the Baptist church this evening, at 7:30, will preach on "The Moral Value of Confession." A number of people will be received into church membership this evening.

Pies, puddings, cakes and goodies of all sorts (missionaries excepted), are intended for human use, but such good things should not be put in a bad stomach. They are nearly always made up of nourishing articles, such as milk, sugar, butter, flour, etc., etc., but the combinations are too hard for any but healthy stomachs to digest.

You must use carefully selected food if you are a little below par, and the sooner you do this the sooner your stomach will heal up and get strong again so that you can eat whatever pleases the appetite.

Don't be a crank and think you can only drink hot water and eat white bread.

Use Grape-Nuts breakfast food with some rich cream and you will discover the food will agree with the weakest stomach and supply the highest form of nourishment, pre-digested and ready for quick change into good, rich blood.

It seems good to be perfectly well and feel well fed.

The committee on rules, regulations and ordinances met last evening to pass upon several minor ordinances referred to them at the last regular meeting of the council.

Mayor Bergholf, who is at Chicago on private business, is expected to return to the city tonight.

WILL PEN THEM UP

RECONCENTRATION CAMPS IN THE PHILIPPINES.

GENERAL BELL HAS A PLAN

WEALTHY FILIPINOS CAUSE MOST TROUBLE.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Having failed, after two years strife, in subduing the insurrection in Batangas province, which lies just south of Manila, and having satisfied himself that lenient treatment of the insurgents is productive of no good results, General J. Franklin Bell, the military commander in that province, has determined on the enforcement of the war in the most vigorous and determined fashion, involving reconcentration in a modified form, the application of martial law in all directions and the unsparing pursuit and punishment of the natives who act as spies and traitors to the United States. All this appears from a long report to the war department just published.

RECONCENTRATION ZONES.

The reconcentration order is dated at Batangas December 8, last. In substance, it provides for the establishment of a zone around the garrisons, into which the friendly inhabitants are to be required to come under penalty of confiscation and destruction of their property. This is said to be necessary to prevent the collection of forced contributions from the inhabitants by the insurgents. The military officers are allowed to fix the price of necessaries of life, and it is promised that the people may return as soon as peaceful conditions are established. This order is followed by a long circular by General Bell to his station commanders commenting on existing conditions and giving them advice how to proceed. It begins with the statement that he shares in the general conviction that the insurrection continues because the greater part of the people, especially the wealthier ones, do not really want peace.

INNOCENT MUST SUFFER.

He says it is regrettable that the innocent must suffer with the guilty, but the greatest good to the greatest number can be best brought about by putting a prompt end to the insurrection. Therefore he directs the application of general order 100, in force during the civil war in the United States, which practically regards an insurgent as a guerrilla, and outside the pale of civilized warfare and subject to the death penalty, wherever such insurgent does not engage continually in the war and observe all the rules of war. However, it is provided that there shall be no executions without the approval of a superior officer. Commanding officers are specially enjoined to encourage young officers in hunting down the insurgents, and it is pointed out that there is no just cause for exceptional caution or apprehension in attacking insurgent bodies wherever found. At any rate, under existing conditions, legitimate chances should be accepted, says General Bell, as excessive caution will do the army incalculable harm. The best defense against the insurgents, he says, is to assume a vigorous offensive at once; to retire in the presence of the enemy is hazardous and discouraging.

WILL DOWN DISLOYAL.

A special injunction is laid on the commanders to hunt down through loyal spies secret sympathizers with and contributors to the rebellion, many of whom will be found among the municipal officers. General Bell says that Malvar and other insurgent leaders have dictated elections of all town officials in Batangas and Laguna, and these town councils meet and pass resolutions denouncing the insurrection, while secretly informing the insurgents that this is done under compulsion and supplying them with information. Therefore General Bell declares that neutrality should not be tolerated; every inhabitant should be either an active friend, or be classed as an enemy, and acts, not words, must be made the test. Chief and most important among the class of disloyal persons, he says, are the native priests.

General Bell declares it is practically certain that every one in Batangas and Laguna provinces is a secret enemy of the government and in active sympathy with the insurgents. He orders that they be given no exemption whatever, but be brought to trial whenever sufficient evidence is obtainable, and adds that even in case of well founded suspicion they should be arrested to stop their further activity. It is frequently impossible, he says, to obtain evidence against influential persons as long as they are at liberty, but once confined evidence is easily obtainable. General Bell declares that the apprehension and punishment of one individual official wealthy man or priest is of greater importance than the punishment of a hundred ignorant persons. The wealthy and influential, he says, are those against whom the most energetic efforts should be directed.

SHOWING VERY SATISFACTORY.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Meyer Cycle company took place Saturday evening in the company's offices, on West Berry street, and last year's officers were re-elected as follows: President, C. F. F. Meyer; treasurer, C. A. C. Meyer; secretary and manager, Harry Meyer. The report of last year's business showed a most satisfactory season. The company expects to make enlargements of its present property during the coming year.

SEEKING A NORTHERN ROUTE

MANAGER NELSON MAKES A TRIP TO AUBURN.

Will Begin Work as Soon as Terminal Question is Settled—Affairs on the Southwestern.

General Manager S. L. Nelson and Attorney N. D. Doughman, of the Fort Wayne and Southwestern Traction company, left at noon Monday for Auburn. Mr. Nelson's visit to the DeKalb county town is to look over the ground preliminary to outlining another interurban line which his company intends to construct into Fort Wayne. Mr. Nelson is considerably encouraged over the outlook for the adjustment of the terminal question in Fort Wayne, and says his company is anxious to begin work on other lines as soon as the matter is settled. It will be recalled that two companies were incorporated some time ago with the idea of building two other lines, one to the north and another to the south of Fort Wayne. The movement now is taken to indicate that attention is to be first directed to the northern line, which is projected to include Garrett, Auburn, Waterloo, Kendallville and perhaps other towns in that section, as well as reach the Steuben county lakes, which are coming into favor as summer resorts.

TIME IS SHORTENED.

Additional cars have been placed in service on the Southwestern, so that beginning on Monday a car leaves the city hourly for Huntington and points west, starting on the even hours. The Southwestern did a heavy business Sunday, carrying an average of fifty people per car during the entire day. Some little delay was occasioned by the breaking of a trolley wire, but the service is being constantly improved. Within a short time the company will place the baggage car in service for two round trips each day, in order that baggage may be handled with more facility.

The company has also had plans drawn for three model stations which are to be erected at Roanoke, Lagro and other towns west. The plans include ticket office, waiting rooms and car sheds.

SOON TO LEAVE PORT.

New York, Jan. 20.—The steamship Lautaro, whose seizure has called forth a protest from the Chilean government, was to have left port yesterday with General Alban, governor of the department of Panama, on board. The vessel will probably leave soon. Guns from the Columbian warship General Prinzon have been placed on the Lautaro, which will be used in the campaign against the insurgent war vessels. Captain Lace still remains on board the Lautaro in accordance with cable instructions from the South American Steamship company, of Valparaiso, Chili, which refused to charter the vessel to the Colombian government so that it could be used as a gunboat

SHOE MAN IS BANKRUPT.

Henry Klug, a shoe dealer, with a store at 90 Harmer street, on Monday filed in the United States court a petition in voluntary bankruptcy. His liabilities are placed at $1,292.35 with assets of $857.70. The usual exemption of $600 is claimed, and the keys to the store were turned over to Deputy Clerk Logan, of the federal court. Ryan & Ryan are attorneys for Mr. Klug.

NAVAL BATTLE ON

GOVERNMENT AND REBELS ENGAGED AT PANAMA.

IMPROVISED WAR FLEETS IN DEADLY STRUGGLE.

GREAT EXCITEMENT REIGNS

NEWS OF FIGHT OFFICIALLY CONFIRMED.

Colon, Colombia, Jan. 20.—(Via Galveston, Texas.)—A naval battle, which began at 6 o'clock this morning, is in progress in the harbor of Panama.

The revolutionary fleet consists of the steamers Padilla, Darien and Gaitan. They are trying to force a landing off Saoana.

The government ships are the Chilian line steamer Lautaro, the Pacific Steam Navigation company's steamer Chicuito and the Panama Canal company's steamer Boyaca. The first named steamer was seized by General Alban and the other two have been chartered by the Colombian government.

As this dispatch is sent three shots have just passed over the Chicuito and she has answered with several shots. They fell close to the Padilla, which is seen to be retiring.

GOVERNOR KILLED.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The state department has received the following cablegram from Consul General Gudger, dated Panama, today:

"Fighting in bay. Governor killed. Excitement great."

The secretary of the navy has received the following cablegram from Captain Mead, commander of the United States steamship Philadelphia, dated Panama, today:

"The insurgent steamer Padilla attacked the Lautaro yesterday morning at close quarters. Crew has deserted her. Is now on fire and sinking."

FIVE VESSELS SUNK.

New York, Jan. 20.—The Panama Railway company today received a cablegram from Colon, saying that three insurgent and two government vessels had been sunk in the naval engagement in Panama harbor. The cablegram came from Col. J. R. Shaler, general superintendent at Colon for the Panama Railway company.

GOVERNMENT FORCES WON.

Willimstad, Island of Curacoa, Jan. 20.—(Via Haytien cable)—Venezuelan advices received here today say the government forces had the best of the fighting at Maracaibo, on Saturday last, although Colonel Peralto, Colonel Fuenmayor and fifty men were seriously wounded. The government troops, these advices add, are pursuing the revolutionists. Other advices say the revolution is slowly gaining ground in the state of Lara. The whereabouts of the steamer Libertador is still unknown.

The revolutionists at Barcelona and Cumana say they cannot understand General Matos' plans. For a fortnight past 2,500 men at or in the vicinity of those towns have been awaiting arms and ammunition in order to take the field against President Castro's forces.

The financial situation in Venezuela is pronounced to be hopeless.

The reply of the Venezuelan government to the request of the German government for a settlement of the claims of German citizens, arising from the late revolutions, will be submitted to the next congress of Venezuela, which will meet in February.

TRUNKS RIFLED OF DIAMONDS.

Glendive, Mont., Jan. 20.—Robbers secured between $10,000 and $20,000 worth of unset and set diamonds yesterday by stealing two trunks from the baggage room of the Northern Pacific station and breaking them open. Nothing is missing from the trunks except a bag of unset diamonds and three or four hundred diamond rings. A tray containing twenty-four set diamonds was overlooked by the robbers. The trunks were the property of C. B. Clausen, traveling representative of S. H. Clausen & Co., wholesale manufacturing jewelers of Minneapolis. The windows of the baggage room were forced open and through it the two trunks, which weighed about 250 pounds each, were hoisted out. They were taken only a few feet from the station, where they were broken open and the diamonds taken. Local officers have made one arrest upon suspicion.

BRITAIN WAS OUR FRIEND.

London, Jan. 20.—In the house of commons today Lord Cranborne, under-secretary for foreign affairs, replying to Henry Norman (liberal) said that before the Spanish-American war the British government agreed to join in a note to the president of the United States expressing the hope that further negotiations would result in a peaceful settlement, but the government declined to associate itself with subsequent proposals which seemed to be open to the objection of putting pressure on the government of the United States.

WAS BUTCHERED FOR GOLD

MERCHANT SLAIN BY ROBBERS IN HIS STORE.

Rochester Citizen Murdered Because He Refused to Unlock His Safe of Diamonds.

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Bela E. Brown, aged sixty-five, a prominent dealer in diamonds, was found murdered in his store here last night. His legs were tied together and he was gagged with a long red neck scarf. At the back of the head was a hole extending into the brain, and there were several gashes in the scalp evidently made by a hammer, which was found near the body smeared with blood and white hairs from the head of the victim.

From the position of the body in front of a safe the conclusion was reached by the police that the murderers had placed Mr. Brown before the safe, which was locked, and which contained thousands of dollars worth of diamonds and jewelry, and had tried to force him to work the combination for them. His right hand was covered with blood, indicating that he had raised it to his head when he was struck and tried to ward off the other blows which followed. The murderers secured nothing of value, except, perhaps, a diamond stud which Mr. Brown wore and which is missing.

A PENSION FOR MRS. M'KINLEY REPORTED

Washington, Jan. 20.—The senate committee on pensions today ordered a favorable report upon Senator Hanna's bill to grant a pension of $5,000 a year to Mrs. Ida S. McKinley, widow of the late President McKinley.

A BRITISH PATROL CUT UP BY BOERS

Cradock, Cape Colony, Jan. 20.—Wessel's commando of Boers on Saturday last cut up a patrol of fifty men belonging to the local town guard on the Tarkastad road. A few stragglers have returned. The remainder of the party are missing.

CHAMBERLAIN DENIES LATE PEACE RUMORS

London, Jan. 20.—The colonial secretary, Mr. Chamberlain, in the house of commons this afternoon said there was no foundation for the reports that overtures for peace in South Africa had been made by the Boer envoys.

KILLED IN TROLLEY MISHAP.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 20.—Karl J. Kienzler, an architect, aged 44 years, died this morning as a result of injuries received last evening in a street car accident on Canal street. The car jumped the track at a curve, smashing a telegraph pole and patrol box before coming to a stop on the curb. Conductor W. J. Lennon was also severely injured and the passengers were shaken up and bruised. This is the third fatal street car accident in this city in ten days.

NO NATIVE UPRISING.

London, Jan. 20.—The officials of the India office here declare there is no truth in the report from Odessa that a native uprising has occurred at Nasirabad, in the Ajmere district of India, which report alleged that the British troops had been defeated in three engagements.

IT IS FEARED FUGITIVES MAY OBTAIN ARMS.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 20.—Eleven of the most desperate prisoners in the United States penitentiary on McNeil's Island made their escape between 1 and 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon and up to a late hour last night were still at liberty. It was the most daring and successful jail break ever attempted in this state and the character of the men implicated makes it doubtful whether they will be retaken without loss of life.

THOSE WHO ESCAPED.

The men at large:

W. D. Snyder, sent up from Idaho for robbery; James Campbell, Nome, pickpocket; Thomas Morton, Nome, burglary; Frank Ainsworth, Nome, larceny; Mike Williams, Spokane, counterfeiter; Harry Davis, Nome, Alaska; Frank Moran, true name Ed O'Neil, Spokane, counterfeiter; James Moriarity, Spokane, counterfeiter; J. P. Stewart, Idaho, counterfeiter; Bruce Kenwright, Nome, manslaughter; James Carrell, Alaska, murder.

A hole in the brick wall of cell No. 10, occupied by Convicts Snyder and Davis, reveals the method of escape. The wall is about a foot in thickness and the floor of the cell is of equal thickness, covered with concrete. The tunnel was dug at the junction of the wall and the floor, sloping outwardly until it formed a connection with the air chamber about two feet below and a foot outwardly from the corridor wall of the cell.

HOW THEY GOT OUT.

Through this air chamber the prisoners crawled about forty feet to where it opened into the boiler room, the opening being covered by an iron grating. This obstacle was overcome by the use of saws and the prisoners had then only to walk out of the back door of the boiler room, across the yard and scale the board fence. A few yards from the prison grounds and the dense growth of timber afforded them, temporarily, a safe retreat.

The prisoners took advantage of the latitude allowed them during the noon hour to consummate their plans, which had been carefully designed and boldly carried out. The guards, with the exception of two who were on duty on the wall overlooking the corridor, were eating dinner in the dining room. The tables were being spread in the corridor for the prisoners' dinner, it being customary to serve them immediately on the conclusion of the guards' repast. A dinner gang was at work putting the tables in order and the other convicts had the privilege of the corridors. One by one the men slipped into cell No. 10 and crawled through the hole unnoticed. When the guards came out and lined the prisoners up for dinner eleven were missing. A brief search resulted in finding the hole in the wall and the guards at once ran to the boiler room where the steel door swung on its hinges, showing that the men had already flown.

OUTRAGES ARE FEARED.

Warden Palmer at once sent a squad of guards in pursuit, and made a tour of the island, notifying the farmers of the escape and instructing them to guard their boats carefully so that no opportunity would be allowed for escape.

The plan which is most feared will be pursued by the convicts will be to raid some of the numerous farm houses on the island, secure guns, clothes and a boat and then row to the mainland. Among the escaped prisoners are many desperadoes who would not hesitate at murder to accomplish their purpose. With so many at large the farmers would be at their mercy and should they once get possession of weapons, it is believed by the officers of the prison that they will fight to the death before they are captured.

KILLED DAUGHTER'S LOVER.

Van Wert, Ohio, Jan. 20.—Yesterday morning about 1 o'clock, John Garwood, who lives near Willshire, called at the residence of John Bauman, a neighboring farmer, and knocking repeatedly on the door demanded admission. Bauman has a daughter about sixteen years of age, to whom Garwood has been paying attention. Garwood came in a buggy and was accompanied by another man. Bauman says after he had repeatedly requested Garwood to leave, he opened the door with his shotgun in his hand and demanded that Garwood leave the premises, which he refused to do. Bauman says he then saw Garwood draw a revolver, saying "he had something, too." Bauman raised his shotgun and fired into Garwood's left breast, causing instant death. Bauman walked to Van Wert and gave himself up.

CHINA REIMBURSED.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The president today signed a government check for $376,000, which represents the money captured by the marines of the United States navy at Tien Tsin during the boxer troubles in China. The money belonged to the Chinese government and has since been on deposit in the treasury. The check will be given to Minister Wu for transmission to the Chinese government.

IDENTIFIED THIEF AS VALET

DIAMOND ROBBER FOUND IN NEW ORLEANS.

P. G. Thebaud Recognizes Manners as Edouard Kern—Man Admits His Identity.

New Orleans, Jan. 20.—P. G. Thebaud, of New York, today fully identified T. E. Manners, the prisoner in the jail at Gretna, as Edouard Kern, jr., his late valet, who robbed the Thebaud mansion in New York of $60,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry.

When Mr. Thebaud and Detective Kelly reached here Sheriff Marrero asked for a conference with them to determine whether any reward would be paid for Kern and yesterday was spent in negotiations between the sheriff and the two New Yorkers. Late at night, however, an appeal was made direct to Governor Heard by Mr. Thebaud, with the result that the former communicated a dispatch to the Jefferson sheriff that Mr. Thebaud and the detective should be facilitated in their attempt to identify the prisoner. Thebaud and Kelly went to Gretna early today, but had to wait for some time for the sheriff to put in an appearance. When he arrived the New York men were taken to the jail. The moment Mr. Thebaud laid eyes on Manners he said the man was Kern. Manners made no further denial of his identity. Detective Kelly has with him the necessary papers to take Kern back to New York. These will be at once laid before Governor Heard and that official has promised to sign the extradition at once. Klein and West, the two men who were arrested for stealing Manners' trunk from the St. Charles hotel and betrayed Kern, will, it is expected, get off with light punishment. Their case is to come up on Tuesday. Kern will probably be taken to New York as soon as the hearing of Klein and West is concluded.

Mr. Thebaud identified all the jewelry stolen from Manners' room in the St. Charles as belonging to him. The New Orleans police have made an affidavit against Kern, alias Manners, as a material witness in the case again Klein and West. Governor Heard said this afternoon that he would sign the requisition for Kern as soon as it was presented to him.

FAVOR OLD ROUTE.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The president today transmitted to congress the supplemental report of the isthmian canal commission on the proposition of the Panama Canal company to sell its property to the United States for $40,000,000. The commission unanimously reports that after considering the changed conditions that now exist and all the facts and circumstances upon which its present judgment must be based, the commission is of the opinion that the most practicable and feasible route for the isthmian canal, to be under the control, management and ownership of the United States, is that known as the Panama route. The report is signed by all the members of the commission. It was accompanied by a letter of transmittal from the president to congress.

SEVEN CREMATED

LUMBER CAMP MEN BURNED IN THEIR BEDS.

WEST VIRGINIA HOLOCAUST

SHINNSTON IS BURNING UP

WEST VIRGINIA SETTLEMENT SWEPT BY FLAMES.

David, W. Va., Jan. 21.—The hotel at the Hamilton lumber camp burned today and seven lives were lost. A number of others were injured. An explosion is supposed to have started the flames, which quickly cut off all ordinary means of exit. The names of the dead have not yet been obtained, owing to the isolated situation of the camp.

TWO BAD FIRES.

Fairmount, W. Va., Jan. 21.—Seven men cremated in their beds and a town burning up are the results thus far of two fires today in distant parts of the state.

Details of both occurrences are meager. The fire at Shinnston started just before noon and telegraph and telephone connection has been cut off. The town is a thriving settlement on the Monongahela division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and is in the center of a big coal and lumber district. It is without fire protection and early reports say that within a few minutes after the fire started the citizens were obliged to abandon their efforts to check the flames and flee for their lives.

There have been no reports of casualties from Shinnston.

The lumber camp holocaust occurred at camp No. 5, operated by the Otter Creek Lumber company, at 4 o'clock this morning. Details of the disaster are not yet obtainable, but it is known that seven men were burned to death and that a number were injured in jumping from the building in which they were sleeping. The camp is thirteen miles off the West Virginia Central railroad. A rescue party left here this morning and is expected to return tonight. The fire started in the cook room.

ENGINE STRIKES STREET CAR.

A Fort Wayne Traction company street car was struck by the engine pulling the Lake Erie and Western incoming passenger train at 10:30 o'clock last night. The collision was due to the snow on the street car tracks and inability to stop the car. Engineer Daniel O'Neill, who was at the throttle of the Lake Erie engine, saw the car coming down the inclined track at the bridge at an unusual speed and surmised that the motorman was unable to stop it. Mr. O'Neill applied the air brakes and reversed his engine and succeeded in stopping the train, but not before the pilot struck and gently shoved the street car from the rails. There were several passengers in the street car and there was a lively scramble for the doors. Conductor Strain and Motorman Cairls had charge of the car. Daniel O'Neill is one of the oldest and most competent and trusted engineers on the Lake Erie and Western road and that there was not loss of life last night is due entirely to his good judgment and prompt action. He is receiving praises from all sides today and particularly from the people who were in the car when the accident happened. The collision, as stated, is chargeable entirely to the storm and slippery tracks and cannot be laid at the door of the motorman.

WAS VIOLENTLY ILL.

Miss May Erickson, employed at the Zero Mitten factory, on Calhoun street, was taken seriously ill while at work at 9 o'clock this morning. Physicians were quickly summoned, and Dr. W. W. Barnett, who was the first to respond, found the young lady suffering intensely from spasmodic chills, while a bevy of her companions, very much alarmed, were endeavoring to alleviate her sufferings. The patient was removed in a carriage to her home, 187 East Lewis street.

WILL BUILD FINE HOME.

Attorney C. H. Worden is having plans prepared for an elaborate home which he is preparing to erect on South Fairfield avenue during the coming summer. Architect Grindle is now at work upon the drawings, and the residence will be among the handsomest in that pretty section of the city.

AGREE ON REPORT

CANAL COMMISSION MAKES ITS DECISION.

THE PRESIDENT INFORMED

WRITTEN REPORT IS BEING PREPARED.

WILL BE FINISHED TODAY

DAY'S PROCEEDINGS IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Admiral Walker, chairman of the Isthmian canal commission, called at the white house this afternoon and told the president what the report of the commission on the Panama proposition would be. The report has been agreed upon and the written copy will be ready in a few hours.

IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, Jan. 18.—When the house convened today Mr. Joy, of Missouri, chairman of the committee on accounts, precipitated a discussion involving some of the patronage of the house by presenting a resolution providing for the appointment of two additional messengers. The resolution, after explanation, was adopted.

Mr. Cannon, chairman of the committee on appropriations, reported an urgency deficiency bill and gave notice that next Monday he would call it up for consideration. He explained that the bill carried appropriations aggregating more than $16,000,000. In answer to an inquiry he expressed the opinion that near the close of the present session of congress it would be necessary to pass another urgency deficiency bill. He could not say how much the next bill might carry.

A bill authorizing the city of Duluth, Minn., to construct a car transfer or aerial ferry across the Duluth canal was passed.

Other bills were passed as follows:

For the protection of towns in the Indian territory and providing that they may issue bonds to an amount not exceeding five mills on each dollar of taxable property of the municipality for the construction of sewers, waterworks and school houses; providing that the amount of the official bond of the United States marshal of Alaska may be increased to $75,000 in certain circumstances.

The senate amendments to the house bill appropriating $90,000 for a government exhibit and floor space at the Charleston exposition were agreed to and the bill passed.

The house then, at 12:43, on motion of Mr. Payne, adjourned until Monday.

SUGAR MEN SEE PRESIDENT.

Washington, Jan. 18.—A delegation of sugar beet manufacturers, from Michigan, headed by W. C. Churchill, president of the Michigan Sugar Manufacturers' association, and F. R. Hathaway, secretary, appeared before the president today and protested against the proposed reduction of the sugar duty on Cuban sugar. The delegation was escorted by Representative William Alden Smith, of Michigan. They presented the president with a memorial which called his attention to the plank in the republican platform of 1896 condemning the democratic administration for not keeping faith with the sugar growers of the country and its redemption in the enactment of the Dingley law in July, 1897.

The president stated to the delegation that this country should do something for Cuba, whereupon Mr. Smith, on behalf of the delegation, urged that the beet sugar industry should not bear the brunt of this country's generosity. They were willing that something should be done, but did not want their industry destroyed.

NOT TO VISIT INDIANAPOLIS.

Washington, Jan. 18.—President Roosevelt has decided to decline all invitations to deliver public speeches until congress has completed its work for the session. Exceptions will only be made in cases like the Charleston exposition, where circumstances seem to require his presence in his official capacity. The president made this statement today to Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, who invited him to attend the dedication of a soldiers' and sailors' monument in Indianapolis in May, and also to attend the banquet of the National Manufacturers' association at Indianapolis on May 21. The president said in pursuance of the above policy that he would not be able to accept either invitation.

BILL IS REPORTED.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The senate committee on Philippines has agreed to report the house Philippine tariff bill with amendments.

The report was ordered by a strict party vote. The bill was amended as heretofore agreed upon, being a reduction of 25 per cent on goods coming from the Philippines to the United States with an additional reduction of the export tax charged in the Philippines on products sent out of the islands to the United States. The democrats presented a substitute which will be reported to the senate. It provides that there shall be temporary free trade between the United States and the islands; that the United States shall continue to occupy and govern the islands until a stable government has been established, when the president shall direct the withdrawal from the islands, the United States to retain such military and naval stations as are deemed necessary. The Philippines are declared to be foreign territory by the minority bill from the passage of the act.

IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The house, immediately after it met today, went into committee of the whole and entered upon the consideration of the urgent deficiency appropriation bill, which was reported to the house on Saturday.

Mr. Cannon, who was in charge of the measure, explained that the bill provided for the government service for the current fiscal year where existing appropriations were not sufficient. The bill carried $16,701,230. He answered many inquiries about various items in the bill.

Mr. Richardson, the democratic leader, pressed Mr. Cannon to know under what law it was proposed to appropriate $500,000 for a permanent military post at Manila.

The chairman of the appropriations committee replied that there was no specific law to establish such a military post, but whether under the general organization of the army in the field such an appropriation was in order it would remain for the chairman of the committee of the whole to determine when the appropriation was reached.

"How much of the $1,376,831 which it is proposed to appropriate under the war department is to go to the Philippines?" Mr. Richardson asked.

"Only this $500,000 is to go to the Philippines direct," replied Mr. Cannon, who proceeded to argue that the treaty with Spain imposed upon the United States certain duties relative to the Philippines which might make such an appropriation in order. He thought it as wise to have an army post at Manila as to have one at Chicago or any other place in this country.

Mr. Cannon called attention to the fact that the word "permanent" did not appear in the bill before "military post."

"Is it not within the power of the general commanding in the Philippines to establish a post at Manila as a military necessity?" asked Mr. Cummings, of New York.

"In my opinion," responded Mr. Cannon, "he not only has the power, but it is his duty to establish a military post there. The United States is in the Philippines. The army is there. Treaty obligations send us there. The law sends us there, and in my judgment we will be there forever and a day."

Mr. Cannon said that the emergency appropriation of $40,000 for the state department was for the entertainment of Prince Henry, of Germany. He said that it was eminent for a great nation to provide proper entertainment for the representative of a great people beyond the sea, which "had given us so much of our bone and brawn and brain." (General applause.)

In a semi-humorous speech, Champ Clark, of Missouri, wanted to know who was going to pay the expenses of the "extraordinary aggregation of talent consisting of Whitelaw Reid, Captain Clark and General Wilson, young Pierpont Morgan and young Wetmore," who are going to London to "see his sacred majesty King Edward crowned." He said we were paying Prince Henry's expenses and it was a poor rule that would not work both ways. He was glad to entertain Prince Henry, because it would give the lie to the Anglomaniacs, who were trying to foster the idea that we were in league with England against Germany.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Soon after the senate convened today Mr. Lodge (Massachusetts), chairman of the committee on Philippines, reported the house bill temporarily to provide revenues for the Philippine Islands. He gave notice that at 2 o'clock tomorrow he would call up the bill and make a brief statement concerning the measure.

"This is a bill," said Mr. Lodge, "which in the judgment of the majority of the committee on Philippines requires immediate attention.

"It is my desire to bring it before the senate from day to day until action upon it shall have been taken. I have no desire to press its consideration unduly and I know of no desire upon the part of its opponents to obstruct unduly its consideration or passage, although there is a proper wish to debate the subject thoroughly."

He hoped that those who were opposed to the enactment of the bill would be prepared to proceed promptly with its consideration, so that the time of the senate might not be wasted.

Mr. Rawlins (Utah), on behalf of the minority of the committee on Philippines, offered a substitute for the measure proposed by Mr. Lodge. He gave notice that upon the conclusion of the remarks of Mr. Lodge tomorrow he would submit some statements in support of the substitute measure.

A house bill conferring upon Mrs. Ida S. McKinley, widow of the late President McKinley, the mail franking privilege, was called up by Mr. Mason, chairman of the committee on postoffices and post roads and passed.

Mr. Frye (Maine) reported the ship subsidy bill agreed upon by the committee on commerce.

Mr. Vest (Missouri) gave notice of dissent on the part of the democratic members of the committee and also of an intention to file a minority report.

Mr. Nelson then called up the bill creating a department of commerce and answered various criticisms that have been made of the measure.

Washington, Jan. 21.—In introducing a bill in the senate today for the reclamation of arid lands, Mr. Hansbrough, of North Dakota, said that it was a measure unanimously agreed upon by senators and representatives in congress of thirteen states and three territories. He had been directed by the conference, he said, to introduce the bill.

A resolution offered by Mr. Mitchell, of Oregon, calling upon the secretary of war for complete information regarding the transport service of the United States was adopted.

The senate passed a number of private pension bills and bills granting permission to construct bridges, and then, at 2 o'clock, Senator Lodge took the floor to speak on the Philippine tariff bill. He said the United States rights in the Philippine islands were settled.

Senator Lodge answered a lively fire of questions during the course of his address. Senator Rawlins, of Utah, followed Mr. Lodge, speaking against the bill.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The house, without preliminary business, today went into committee of the whole and resumed the general debate upon the urgent deficiency appropriation bill. Mr. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, made a general speech in opposition to the government entering at this time upon a scheme for the irrigation of arid lands in the west.

Mr. Newlands, an earnest advocate of the irrigation of the arid lands, replied to Mr. Sibley.

SERIOUS JAIL DELIVERY AT BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Frank Duncan, Notorious Safe Blower Under Sentence of Death, Among the Fugitives.

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 20.—Early today Frank Duncan, a notorious safe blower under sentence of death for murder, and three other prisoners, made their escape from the Jefferson county jail by sawing through numerous bars and cutting the lock off the outer gate of the prison yard. The escape was discovered at 6 o'clock and officers in every city within a radius of one thousand miles are being notified.

Duncan was a pal of Frank Miller, the cracksman who was hanged in Birmingham last year for killing Policeman G. W. Kirkley, who was shot with Adams in a pitched battle with a gang of safe blowers in this city in 1900.

Duncan was from Cincinnati, where his wife resides, and it is believed that friends in that city furnished the saw with which the escape was made. The others who escaped are George Bullard, charged with murdering a man in the railroad yards at Bessemer and placing the body across a pair of bumpers on a freight train; A. J. Dye, of Nashville, charged with grand larceny, and Jeff VanHorn, of Ensley, charged with highway robbery.

A reward of $500 has been offered for Duncan, while $100 each is offered for the others.

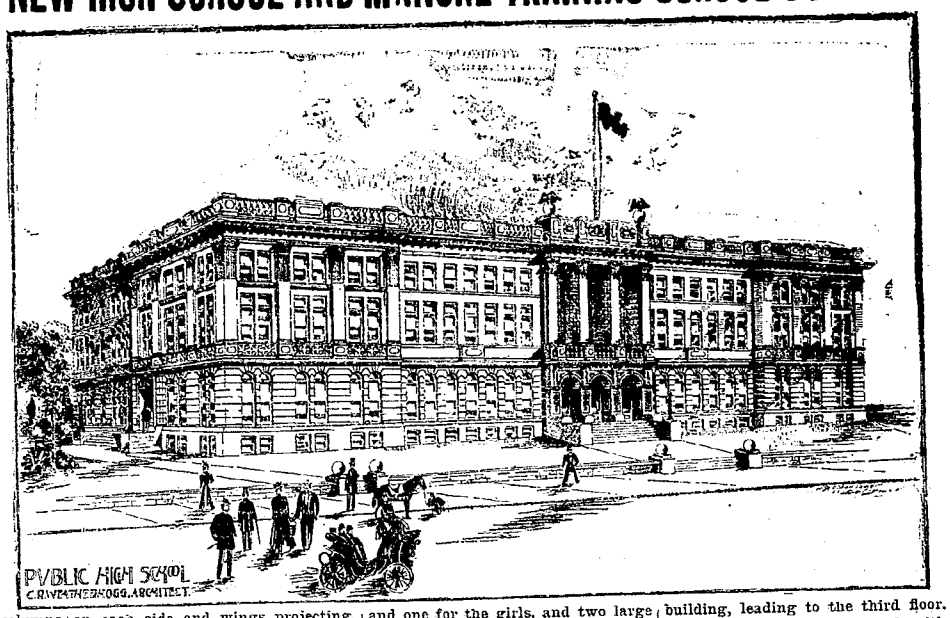
FORT WAYNE'S NEW HIGH SCHOOL AND MANUAL TRAINING SCHOOL BUILDING.



The Sentinel presents herewith an illustration of the new Fort Wayne high school and manual training school building to be erected upon the recently purchased tract of land at Barr and Montgomery streets. The plans by Architect C. R. Weatherhogg have been approved by the board of school trustees and are completed with the exception of some minor details. Work upon these is being rushed forward rapidly, and the picture today shows precisely how the magnificent building will appear when completed.

Work is to begin upon the structure this year, and it is likely that the contract will be let within the next few weeks. The building will face Barr street, and in describing some of the details Architect Weatherhogg says:

"There will be three arched entrances leading to the main rotunda, with large columns and Corinthian caps over the main entrances on both first and second floors. There will be a balcony the full length of the main entrance and eight feet wide. There will also be two other entrances, one facing Lewis street and the other facing Montgomery street.

"The building will be three stories in height, with nine and twelve-foot basement. The main portion of the building facing Barr street will be 220 feet, and the depth will be 120 feet. The rear part of the building will be divided up, and have a large auditorium in the center, with courts on each side and wings projecting, one wing being used for the manual training department and the other for high school purposes.

"The main auditorium will be on the second floor, with a large balcony leading from the main corridor on the third floor. There will be a large proscenium arch forty-four feet wide. The main floor will be of an incline, and will have radiating seats with exits into the courts on each side for use in case of fire, and the seating capacity, including the balcony, will be between 1,000 and 1,200.

"In the basement there will be two large bicycle rooms, one for the boys and one for the girls, and two large dining rooms. There will be also several entrances in the rear of the building. The forge rooms and foundry will be located in the basement in the southwest wing of the building. The machine room and wood working room will be located on the first floor. There will also be chemical and physical laboratories and commercial course rooms, cooking room and sewing room, and in all there will be thirty seven rooms exclusive of the boys' bicycle room and rooms in basement.

"There will be three main stairways located in different parts of the building, leading to the third floor. They will be made out of steel, with marble treads, and are located near the different entrances. The main entrance vestibule will be lined with marble, as also the main corridor leading to the center rotunda, which will have tile floors.

"The building will be heated and ventilated with the Lorce blast system under automatic control and arranged so that the air can be changed every ten minutes throughout the building. When completed Fort Wayne will boast of the finest and best equipped high school and manual training school in the state."

DEATH OF LEESON

ONCE GENERAL FOREMAN OF PENNSYLVANIA SHOPS.

Friends of the family received news Saturday afternoon of the death of John Leeson, a former Fort Wayne citizen, which occurred at Van Wert at 2 o'clock that day. Mr. Leeson was stricken with paralysis two or three years ago and his death resulted from the stroke, though he recovered at one time sufficiently to allow him to ride out. Mr. Leeson was born near Montreal, Canada, in 1837, and came to the United States in the early sixties, stopping for awhile at Peoria, Ill. He was a machinist, and failing to find satisfactory employment at Peoria, he came to Fort Wayne and took a position as journeyman machinist in the Pittsburg shops. He passed through a series of promotions and was soon installed in the responsible office of general foreman of the machine room. In 1884 he resigned that position and went to Van Wert, Ohio, where he engaged in the lumber business and was very successful. During Mr. Leeson's long residence in Van Wert he never lost interest in Fort Wayne nor confidence in her future prosperity. Much of his estate is property in this city, included being the handsome and valuable flats on Main street, opposite Old Fort park. While a resident of Fort Wayne Mr. Leeson was married to a sister of Miss Maggie and Mr. A. M. Tower. Mrs. Leeson died four years ago and he married again, the second wife surviving him. The deceased was a thirty-second degree Mason, a member of the Van Wert Knights Templar and the Cincinnati Scottish rite. Interment will be made in Lindenwood, by the side of his first wife.

RYAN.

James Ryan, of Rushville, Ind., died Saturday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Robert Kelly, 106 West Third street, from Bright's disease. Mr. Ryan was a native of Ireland, but had been for many years a grocer at Rushville, and was 65 years of age. He was visiting his daughter in this city when taken ill.

The remains were shipped to Rushville for interment.

DICKASON.

Evan Dickason, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Dickason, of Montpelier, died early on Monday morning at Hope hospital, aged 10 years and 8 months. Nearly two months ago the lad suffered a severe attack of appendicitis and was critically ill when brought to the hospital two weeks ago to undergo an operation as a last resort. The enfeebled child made a brave struggle against disease, but despite the efforts of physicians and nurses the fatal termination came.

The remains were shipped to Montpelier that afternoon and the funeral services were held there.

LITTLE.

Andrew Little, for many years a prominent citizen of Maumee township, this county, died a few days ago at the home of his son in Toledo at the age of 70 years. Concerning him the Shirley City Entertainer says:

"Mr. Little was an expert timberman, and was the agent for Weaver & Meddic, a large Canadian firm, when he came to Maumee township in 1863, bringing with him his wife and child, and purchasing large tracts of timber and some timbered lands. Between the years 1863 and 1869 he put the finest ship timber on the banks of the canal and river ever seen in this county. During the winter of 1865 his wife returned to her home in Port Sarnia, and died there the same winter. On April 17, 1867, Mr. Little was united in marriage to Miss Eliza Shirley, sister of Robert B. Shirley, and settled on a farm in this township. By this union two children were born, one of which died in infancy, the other, his son Horatio Albert, now lives in Fort Wayne, Ind. His wife, Eliza, died in the year 1874. Mr. Little was prominent in the affairs of Maumee township. He was a democrat, and was quite prominent in political circles in Allen county, and was well respected by all."

BOYNTON AGAINST INDIANA.

Indianapolis, Jan. 20.—The charges made in the annual report of the Chickamauga-Chattanooga military park commission to the secretary of war that the Indiana Chickamauga commission had mutilated and changed the roster and records in its report are not very seriously considered by the Indiana commission. They say it is the old fight between General Boynton, of Ohio, chairman of the national commission, against Indiana. General Boynton, they say, is an Ohio man and has therefore espoused the cause of his state in its contention against Indiana for honor on the battlefield for monuments. The contention of Indiana was established over the protest of General Boynton, and they say he is now trying to get a last thrust at this state. Indiana has no membership on the national commission. The Indiana members include Gen. James R. Carnahan, who is now in California; Capt. W. P. Herron, of Crawfordsville; Capt. A. G. Ford, of Terre Haute; Milton Garrigus, of Kokomo, and Judge O'Connor, of Logansport. The records, Indiana members say, to which General Boynton refers as not having been followed in the published report of the Indiana commission, are General Boynton's records and therefore there was no occasion for following them.

DR. PARKHURST UP IN ARMS

NEW YORK REFORMER SCORES LOW FOR INACTION.

Says the Situation is "Morally Intolerable" and Demands What Administration Will Do.

New York, Jan. 20.—The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst yesterday gave out a letter addressed to Mayor Low which had been adopted by the executive committee of the society for the prevention of crime, of which Dr. Parkhurst is president. The opening paragraph reads:

"While the society for the prevention of crime counts itself distinctly an ally of the present municipal administration there are certain principles of action to which we have uniformly adhered and which we deem it incumbent upon ourselves to pursue and to urge, even at the risk of excepting to the policy of those whom we would like in all respects to second and support."

"In all our past activity as a society," says the letter, "we have proceeded upon the distinct understanding that law exists for the purpose of being obeyed."

ADMINISTRATION ACCUSED.

The letter goes on to say that the first two weeks of the present regime have made it "entirely indefinite as to what civic righteousness in this city is and what it is not, and to that extent have operated to put the reform administration in the same criminal attitude toward law as was that occupied by the administrations of '92, '94, '97 and 1901."

It deplores the fact that "while chartered by the state to labor for the prevention of crime," the society is not "quite certain any longer what is crime," and says that "the atmosphere is clouded by ambiguity emanating from administration incertitude," and that the situation is "morally intolerable."

The letter further says: "There is not very much to choose between a Tammany administration that has bad principles and a reform administration that has good principles, but is afraid to use them."

DEMANDS OBEDIENCE OF LAW.

The letter, which is signed by Dr. Parkhurst, concludes by demanding of Mayor Low that "you brace your administration into accord with your oath," and that he summon the resources at his command to the work of "frankly and resolutely suppressing open or clandestine violations of recognized statutes."

This action, which is entirely for the prevention of crime, is construed as a breach between the reformers and the reform administration.

Mayor Low last night refused to discuss the letter.

ENJOINS OIL INSPECTORS

FROM INTERFERING WITH THE SALE OF GASOLINE.

Judge Aiken Renders an Important Decision—Agents United to Oppose the State.

Judge Aiken, during the hour usually set apart for the noon recess, Monday delivered a decision that will more or less affect every judicial district in the state until it is sustained or reversed, and neither contingency is imminent. Ten days ago Oil Inspector C. R. Lane, of this city, notified the Meyer Cycle Co., representing the Cleveland Vapor Light Co.; Oscar B. Robbins, representing the Best Light; P. F. Dixon, representing the F. P. L. Lighting Co., of Cincinnati, that they must cease using gasoline as an illuminant, and after notification fixed the limit for the obeyance of the order at ten days. The period would hav expired, but in the meantime all the parties notified united for a fight and Monday presented to Judge Aiken a remonstrance and a petition for injunction against William C. Zaring and C. R. Lane to enjoin the state oil inspector or any of his deputies from interfering with them in their business or the use of gasoline for illuminating purposes. Representatives of the National Association of Gasoline Manufacturers were present and were represented in court by Dawson & Underwood, the state being represented by the state's attorney, E. V. Emrick. The facts were briefly stated and then the statutes were brought into frequent quotation. The court held that as for illuminating purposes the users of gasoline contrivances used only a blue flame in the burner, which was projected into a mantle whence it derived its illuminating properties and that without the mantle there could be no illumination from gasoline and that therefore he perpetually enjoined the defendants from interfering with the business of the plaintiffs in this regard. There is at present a law which says that no product of petroleum shall be used for any purpose without inspection, but there is nothing in the law that provides for gasoline inspection and it is not inspected by the oil ispectors. The last legislature passed a law bringing gasoline under the inspectors' jurisdiction, but the law does not become operative until January 1, 1903. Should the decision of Judge Aiken be appealed from it would probably be a year before it would be passed upon and by that time the new law will be in effect. For that reason Deputy Inspector Lane says that he does not think there will be an appeal. As stated the injunction favoring the Meyers Cycle company was made perpetual, but the costs were assessed against that company instead of against the state.

NEWS OF THE COURTS.

The circuit court jury came in on Monday and is engaged in hearing the testimony in the case of Frederick Fry and thirty others against George Brower, executor of the will of the late Frederick Fry, senior. The action is to set aside the will of Frederick Fry, by which he devised all his property to his nephew. The estate involved in the litigation is valued at about $6,000, and each of the plaintiffs expected a share of it.

The Huntington Democrat is authority for the statement that Israel Messler, whose divorce and alimony matter was fixed up in the circuit court here several days ago, will now shortly return. An original judgment was given Mrs. Messler involving the payment of $5,000. Thereupon Messler disappeared.

The appellate court Friday held that where two persons jointly obtain a saloon license, and give the required bond to pay damages, although the license is void, the parties are liable on the bond for all damages that may result from their unlawful acts in the operation of a saloon under such license.

The will of George H. Schwartz has been probated. The widow is made the sole legatee.

William C. Walker has commenced suit against John G. Brudi et al., to recover on a note for $1,000.

In the cae of Max Fisher vs. Thomas Vanada, Judge O'Rourke has entered a decree quieting title for the plaintiff.

Judge Aiken Saturday disposed of the circuit court case of Brudi vs. the Decatur Egg Case company. He found damages for the plaintiff in the sum of $1 and costs and dissolved the injunction so far as it related to the cutting off the plaintiff's land trees in excess of fifteen inches in diameter and made it perpetual so far as the removal of timber of less than fifteen inches in diameter is concerned. The finding was satisfactory to both parties to the suit.

The three Watson boys from Edgerton have been sent back to the custody of the sheriff, Judge O'Rourke taking the question of their commitment to the reform school under advisement. He may render a decision this evening.

Rosanna Farra has been divorced from Francis E. Farra, and was given alimony in the sum of $50 to be paid in equal monthly installments of $10 each.

William P. Bruick has filed his final report as guardian of the estate of Henrietta Meyer.

The will of the late George U. Darker was probated shortly before noon today. It is a voluminous document and provides for the disposition of a single piece of real estate, a cash deposit of $2,000 and numerous pieces of personal property, including jewelry, trinklets, furniture, clothing, photographs, bric-a-brac, etc., many beneficiaries being named. He directs the sale of his real property, the income of the proceeds to go to an aunt in Northamptonshire, England, during her life, and afterwards to be divided among relatives named in the will. Twenty dollars of such income is, however, to be retained by his executors as fees. A call loan for $2,000, due from the Bass Foundry and Machine works, is devised as follows: One thousand dollars is given absolutely to his friend William E. Burris; $500 is bequeathed to Walter A. Jones; $300 to Theresa Max Lancaster, to be spent for an upright piano, and $200 is for funeral expenses. The will directs the expenditure of certain moneys for care of his grave and for a suitable marker for his father's grave. There were many other individual bequests to friends devising the disposition of photographs, pieces of furniture, specifically named framed pictures and other bric-a-brac. Edward S. Jones and Charles T. Strawbridge were named as executors.

The will and codicil of Sarah Bush was admitted to probate this morning.

The first civil suit growing out of the construction of the New Haven-Butler cut-off of the Wabash road was filed in the superior court here today. David Jones is the plaintiff and files a mechanic's lien for $11.35 claiming judgment for $50 to include attorney's fees. The plaintiff says that the company owes him the amount stated for work done, and further states that he has filed the required notice of his intention to file the suit on the lien. As there are two counties named in the complaint and none specified in the petition, it is likely that Mr. Jones will have another guess coming before he can get his case into court.

The trial of the case of Frederick Fry et al, vs. Brouwer to set aside a will, continues to occupy the attention of the court and jury in the circuit court.

The county commissioners will be in session tomorrow to transact routine business.

Trustee Schirmeyer, Trustee Dougherty and about a dozen other township trustees from this county, will leave for Indianapolis at 4 o'clock this afternoon, via the Lake Erie. Tomorrow the state convention of township trustees will be held and the biggest meeting in the history of the association is expected. Trustee Schirmeyer is a member of the reception committee and has succeeded in inducing a large Allen county delegation to accompany him.

A CONVICT HANGED.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 21.—J. L. Craft, a convict, was hanged here today for the murder of Henry Spieker, Saturday, May 9, 1890. Craft escaped from the Missouri penitentiary in citizens' clothes obtained in the factory where he worked. At a farm house he stole a Winchester rifle and when Henry Spieker, a member of the posse, came suddenly upon him, Craft shot, and fatally wounded him. Later Craft was shot and recaptured. Yesterday Governor Dockery pardoned Craft of a fifteen-year sentence he was serving that he might be hanged today for the later crime.

The number of sheep in Australia today is given as about 87,000,000.

Gray Hair

Ayer's Hair Vigor doesn't suddenly restore color to your gray hair; but gradually the old color comes back—all the dark, rich color it used to have. It stops falling of the hair, too, and will often make the hair grow to be very long and heavy.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 22, 1902.

Opposition to conquest of the Philippines is a matter of conscience with Senator Hoar and he refuses to give up, though most of the Filipinos have done so.

It appears hard for republican editors to entertain belief that Croker has actually retired from leadership of Tammany. Doubtless they think he has not because they hope so.

Rumor comes from Berlin that if Prince Henry enjoys himself over here and likes our ways, the kaiser may later pay a visit to the United States. This prospect ought to stimulate the efforts to make Prince Henry feel like pitching right in and helping himself to the best.

Report is that President Roosevelt has ascertained officially that Grover Cleveland would rather go fishing than go to a coronation. Those who go fishing will readily appreciate that it is more fun to bobble for the gamey ones than to kow tow to royalty and everybody will appreciate that it is more democratic.

An American company has applied for a concession that will enable it to build an electric railroad from Cairo in Egypt to Mount Sinai. If the children of Israel ever have to repeat the journey from Egypt it will not be attended with the hardships they encountered in the old times. Nor will the trip take so long.

King Edward has just voiced the expectation that in a short time the war in South Africa will be brought to an end. This has been repeated with variations from time to time by different Britons for the past two years. The announcement is usually followed by one of Kitchener's "regrettable" reports that the Boers have just potted a lot of the Atkins family. And Dewet is about due with another surprise.

The saloonkeepers of Toledo in convention assembled adopted a resolution calling upon all proprietors and bartenders to abstain from the use of profane language in their places of business and to use all means to suppress profanity among their patrons. It is a worthy movement. If they would go a step farther and endeavor to have their patrons quit drinking there would be little to desire.

The announcement that General Bell is preparing to resort to the expedient of reconcentration camps for duress of the Filipinos in a particularly turbulent section of Luzon recalls, somewhat dimly, of course, some speeches that were delivered anent this sort of thing by certain members of the United States congress. But the evil then existed in Cuba and the unspeakable Weyler was the offender. Spain will soon be disposed to think she has at least been vindicated, even she did get licked.

Supreme Judge F. E. Baker's opinion on which ruling was made that no employer of labor can enter into contract with an employe to set aside state laws for the protection of workingmen is a strong and rational view. The statutes covering these cases are made for the protection of the employe and should stand as made. It does not affect the quality of the law that a man under stress of necessity to get a job should agree to waive his rights under the law at the behest of a greedy and unreasonable employer and the supreme court has fixed that fact firmly.

We are pleased to notice the complimentary words in our exchanges of our fellow townsman, Judge Allen Zollars, a probable candidate for governor in 1904. Judge Zollars is a clean, strong and able man, in the prime of his years and mautrity of his powers. He is familiar with public affairs, is one of the ablest lawyers in the state and has the confidence of his party and would command the entire confidence of the people of Indiana. The favor with which the mention of his name has been received is very gratifying to his friends. If he consents to be a candidate for the democratic nomination two years hence, he will not want for influential support.

Emperor William is going to send over the choicest of the imperial silverware on the Hohenzollern. He will also send an ample and vigilant as well as trustworthy squad to guard the same.

The proposal of Judge Allen Zollars' name for gubernatorial honors in 1904 has been received with much favor by democratic newspapers over the state, and there is general acquiescence in the opinion that the democratic party of Indiana cannot do better.

Mrs. Benjamin Harrison writes to her friends that she does not care to be pensioned as the widow of an ex-president, that she does not need it and would rather the matter be dropped. Mrs. Harrison is a wise woman. A pension would in no sense convey tribute to her lamented husband.

When the governor of rock-ribbed Iowa warns the party that protectionism and toleration of the trusts are going so far as to threaten success there is renewed encouragement for democrats to make a straight fight for the people on rational and immediate issues in the next campaign.

Germany is sending a prince of the blood and her naval chieftain to pay the respects of the kaiser to the United States. Uncle Sam is sending a brigadier general and a captain in the navy to represent us at a king's coronation. The brigadier and the captain are as good as any pair of princes on earth, but since these things are determined by the matter of rank we ought to send the highest we have.

A bridge by which the main thoroughfare of Indianapolis spans the White river crashed into the drink with several teams, two street cars, and a dozen human beings. The accident occurred but a few hours subsequently to the opening of the bridge to public traffic after several thousand dollars' worth of repairs had been completed. Since no one was killed, the accident may be regarded in some respects as fortunate. There will be a new bridge that will bear the traffic.

President Roosevelt has gracefully hurdled the embarrassments which confronted him in his duty to appoint representatives of the army and navy to officially represent those branches of this government at the coronation of Edward VII. Crowninshield was thought to be in line for the honor of representing the navy and Corbin for the army. It is well understood that the real thing to do would be to appoint Dewey for the navy and Miles for the army, but these two grim old warriors are not at present of the stuff of which such fancy functionaries are made. However, the appointment of Captain Clark, the man who sailed the Oregon, is an honor well bestowed and well deserved. Only it is a rather pitiable recognition of that splendid sailor and superb fighter and it is wretchedly tardy in reaching him at that. General Wilson, who will represent the army, is a fine soldier and has seen service in two wars.

The Isthmian canal commission is ready to report in favor of accepting the Panama company's offer of $40,000,000. It begins to look as though Admiral Walker's very long, very complete and almost ferocious report in favor of the Nicaragua route was framed with design to bring the French company to terms. It is now believed in Washington that a bill for the acceptance of the Panama company's terms and adoption of the route will be pushed through congress at a very early day. There is likely to be some bushwhacking in the senate before the change of routes is effected, because Senator Morgan has not yet been able to convince himself the Panama proposition is not a trick backed by certain railroad interests. The house will concur in any bill the senate can agree upon. The passage of the Nicaraguan bill by the lower branch of congress was only an expedient, and commanded a majority largely because the passage of the measure did not put the house in any position it could not readily recede from.

The revolution in Colombia is no opera bouffe affair as many may be disposed to think. There isn't much to fight over, but they are fighting with as much ferocity as though their soil was invaded.

Shoemaker, stick to your last. The reason so many men in this day and generation fail in business is because they are not satisfied to remain in a business they understand, but want to engage in business they know nothing about. Follow the trade or occupation you understand and give it all the life you can command, and in nine cases out of ten you will succeed. Competition is too great for one mind to try to manage half a dozen different enterprises.

In his inaugural speech Governor Cummins, of Iowa, gave the thousands of republicans who heard him something to think about. He took some middle range and accurate shots at high protection and scored a few bulls' eyes in aiming at the trusts. The tariff he declared was oppressive and largely responsible for the trusts. The interests of the people of this country, he declared, demanded competition, and the way to set about such a consummation was to cut off protection from some of the industries that had become most oppressive to the people. Great was the surprise as the governor thundered away, but the people when they come to digest what their new executive has said will doubtless agree that his view is the right one even if it is a bit stunning.

The curious workings of the human mind sometimes take startling turns. A railway crossing watchman at Valparaiso upon whose testimony three young men were indicted and about to be tried upon a charge of most heinous murder has just confessed that his testimony was a foul perjury. He says the man was struck by a train at the crossing he watches and fearing dismissal for carelessness he disposed of the body according to his best notion of the way it would favor his story, removed certain bloody evidences of the accident and then told of seeing the three young men who were suspected of the crime attempting to load the body in a freight car. The fact that the victim of the accident and the men accused of his death had engaged in an altercation the evening before gave strength to the perjurer's story. The watchman was willing to place the brand of Cain on three innocent men and condemn them to lives of penal servitude, if not death, to preserve his own interests. Fortunately remorse proved stronger than self-interest.

Officials of the Louisana purchase exposition and citizens of St. Louis generally are much excited and somewhat indignant that a report should be sent out from Washington stating that the big show will not be ready to open until 1904, a year later than intended. From St. Louis comes the strongest sort of statement that the fair will be ready to open in May next year. This sounds like and doubtless is the veriest tommyrot. Doubtless the people of St. Louis are impatient to see their big fair in all its intended glory and magnificence and apt to be angry with reports that the opening will have to be delayed, but they should look the situation in the face. With the date of inauguration but fifteen months away, practically nothing has been accomplished save preliminary preparations. Vast buildings remain to be planned and erected. Gorgeous schemes of landscaping are to be begun and carried out. Exhibits are to be arranged for and installed. In short, nothing material has yet been done. The whole gigantic task remains to do with but the brief space of a year and a quarter in which to do it. St. Louis will have to do what Chicago was forced to do and postpone the opening a year beyond the time originally fixed. It will be better to have the exposition a year late and a complete success than on time and a huge botch complete in nothing.

REUBEN S. PATTERSON.

Admiral Dewey and General Miles evidently are expected to be way back sitting down when Price Henry comes here. General Corbin, of the red tape branch of the army, and Admiral "Swearing Bob" Evans, of the navy, will make the prince feel at home.

There will be time for Dr. Parkhurst and his associates among the reform leaders of New York to fly at Mayor Low after he has been in office long enough to get his machinery running smoothly, if then he shall fail to enforce the laws. It is no trifling task to rout Tammany from office and get the way cleared for honest and decent government.

No man who is a habitual and excessive user of liquor is fit to serve the people of Allen county in any public capacity and it is due to the democratic party in this county to know that this newspaper, democratic though it is, cannot lend its support to any candidate who is given to the habits of a sot. Such a man is morally unfit for public office. He is incapable of giving to his official duties that clear-headed, well-balanced attention that the importance of the public business and the spirit of the official oath requires. It is time that public office should cease to be the resort of men of intemperate habits. The elevation of such men to high public places puts a premium upon the very habits that degrade office, rob it of its dignity and honor and put the public interests in jeopardy. Men of correct habits, clean lives, high character and eminent fitness can be found who will serve the people well, faithfully and capably. Such men, as we have repeatedly asserted, will accept office, but they will not enter into a dirty cramble for nomination in competition with men whose presumptions that the people will stand for any kind of man for office deserves only the severest rebuke. We do not believe the masses of the democratic party in Allen county wish to be responsible for incapacity or indecency in office, but the masses have grown too careless of the kind of men they support. They can keep bad men out of office in this county if they will take that interest in bestowing party honors that is the duty of every good citizen, and we hope to see all good democrats united in the next convention against the "boosting" of any grossly intemperate or otherwise unfit man to office in this county. The democratic party here was never more in need of clean, strong men for its ticket than right now, and if these conditions are ignored the party will have enforced in defeat the lesson it refuses to learn while that lesson has the saving grace of a warning in time.

I had a hemorrhage of the kidneys, which I thought was going to end my life. I became so nervous that I could not control myself, and I had great difficulty in remembering things. One day a lady friend of mine was going to get Doan's Kidney Pills and I thought I would also try them, so I got a box at Meyer Bros. & Co.'s drug store. HELD TO ANSWER FOR THEFT

YOUNG WILSON CHARGED WITH STEALING A DIAMOND.

Arrested in Chicago at the Instance of Lizzie Burns—Bound Over to Grand Jury—Police News.

J. W. Wilson, jr., was arraigned at Louttit's court Monday morning, charged with the theft of a diamond ring from Lizzie Burns, who admits that her real name is Elizabeth, but that she allows Mr. Wilson and such of the other part of the multitude of her callers whom she likes to call her Lizzie. The theft is alleged to have occurred on the 27th of last December at the maison de joie where Lizzie "boards." A little over a week ago the matter was reported to the police department and after some investigation Wilson was located in Chicago somewhere. By the aid of the Chicago police department and the bureau of identification Wilson was on Saturday spotted and on instructions from Superintendent Gorsline was arrested. The superintendent went to Chicago on Saturday night and returned Sunday afternoon with his prisoner. Wilson is a good-looking young fellow of 22 or 23, stands nearly six feet in height, is well built and has a marketable stock of smooth talk. He has been employed at Tegtmeyer's saw mill, on Superior street, where his father is head-sawyer. Young Wilson's intellect has not been directed against off-bearing exclusively, however, and on the way down from Chicago he gave Superintendent Gorsline a lot of valuable confidences. He whispered into the guileless superintendent's ear that he knew that he was good-looking and that he was a fool for working; that a fellow like he should rely entirely on traveling on his shape and that as far as he was concerned the shape article was the only thing that he would consider seriously from this time on. He went to Chicago three weeks ago and at once ingratiated himself into the good graces of the landlady of a well known Oakland street "boarding house." The woman is an Italian and carries a stiletto with which to clear the face of the earth with objectionable people, but admits that when she likes a man she likes him right. Wilson said she liked him all right and that he at once secured a position in her establishment and his sole duties consisted in spending the five-dollar note which she gave him every morning when he started down town. The lady also stated after Wilson's arrest that as soon as she could find a good man to put a keen edge on her stiletto she would hie herself to Fort Wayne and spill a lot of blood now coursing peacefully through the veins of the Fort Wayne boarder who is short a diamond ring. But to return to the story: Wilson pleaded not guilty to the charge and said that he had sent for Henry Colerick to defend him. The attorney did not put in an appearance after a reasonable wait and the judge ordered the evidence to be presented. Elizabeth, the prosecuting witness, put in an appearance and without hesitation testified that Wilson had possessed himself of her diamond ring on the 27th of December; that she did not know what its value was, but thought it was worth anwhere from $35 to $50; that she did not give the ring to the defendant, but that he first playfully slipped it off her finger and afterwards playfully went away with it. Elizabeth was then excused.

Horace Mariotte, the pawnbroker, was called and he said that he had loaned Wilson $39.25 on the ring on December 28 and that he considered the ring worth anywhere from $35 to $40. The prosecutor asked him whether he made a practice of loaning within seventy-five cents of the value of an article on its deposit, and he responded that he did it only on special occasions and to favored customers. Wilson, he said, had frequently pawned articles with him and he had always redeemed them. At this point Judge Louttit broke in and said that he had heard enough evidence to convince him that there was enough in the case to take it out of his jurisdiction and that he would bind the young man over in the sum of $500 to answer to the circuit court. Wilson was taken to jail, while his father, a very respectable and hard-working gentleman, went out to endeavor to secure the necessary bail.

OTHER POLICE NOTES.

The local police department has received inquiries from Huntington concerning one Charles Stark, who is wanted there for forgery. Stark is not known here.

Officer Harrod, of the Pennsylvania company, found a sum of money last Friday. The owner was found and after proper identification the roll was returned to him.

Edward Skelton, better known in select circles as "Butch," unaccountably got drunk on Saturday night and wanted to fight. He struck at a fellow and fortunately missed him. "If he'd a hit that guy," testified Detective Coling, who made the arrest, "he'd be again' yet." That settled it for "Butch," who drew a small eleven-day package.

On Saturday afternoon Grace Goodyear was released from jail on condition that she leave town immediately. She promised and kept her word, because at 2 o'clock Sunday morning the police department of Richmond made inquiry of her by telephone, saying that she had been "pinched" there." What became of her is not known to the local officers. Grace will be remembered as the girl whose sociability cost James Paddock, a traveling man, about thirty dollars a week ago.

REUBEN S. PATTERSON.

MAYSVILLE AND VICINITY.

The funeral of Clyde Thomas, son of Benjamin and Maggie Thomas, who died of lung fever at Huntertown on Monday of last week, occurred here the following Wednesday. Services were held in the M. E. church, conducted by E. C. Carrington. Clyde was a young man 20 years of age and had been reared in this village. The attendance was large, many friends coming from Shirley City to sympathize with the parents in their hour of sorrow.

Mrs. Samuel Betz, who has for many years resided on a farm in the northern part of the township, was buried Sunday. A funeral service, conducted by Rev. Burket, at the Salem Lutheran church, was largely attended.

Rev. I. N. Warfield and wife, whose baby boy died of diphtheria some days ago, had a memorial service held at the U. B. church Sabbath morning, at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. H. Brundage had been selected by the pastor to officiate, but sickness prevented, and E. C. Carrington was requested to fill the vacancy.

John Fry, of Edeh, Ohio, formerly a farmer in Springfield township, is visiting friends and relatives here. Mr. Fry has been in poor health for some time, but is improving.

Mrs. F. K. Cosgrove, wife of the doctor, was brought home by her son, D. J. Cosgrove, the latter part of last week. She has been visiting in Nebraska, where her son lives. Mrs. Cosgrove is in delicate health, but at this writing is somewhat improved. The son will remain with his parents a few days.

Mrs. J. D. Cummins returned from a protracted visit with relatives in eastern Ohio, on Saturday last.

Frank Roberts has disposed of his farm and is about to invest in village property. Emanuel Hettinger has also sold his farm and will move to town.

There has been a lively transfer of property in the community within the past few days.

M. Widdifield has bought the property recently owned by Henry Houts, and George Wait has sold both saloon building and residence, George Higgins being the purchaser. Mr. Higgins will convert the saloon building into a poultry house—a sound conversion to our mind. Mr. Wait, it is rumored, will move to some other point, probably Woodburn. So much for persistent opposition to the saloon on the part of our citizens.

REPORT OF THE MINORITY

DEMOCRATIC MEMBERS CONDEMN EXCHANGE BILL.

House Committee Divided on the Bill Now Before that Body—Argument of Report.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The democratic members of the house committee on coinage, weights and measures have agreed on a minority report on the bill directing the secretary of the treasury "to exchange gold for legal tender silver dollars," and the report will be presented to the house today by Mr. Shafroth. The report takes the position that the passage of the bill is certain to produce financial disturbances.

The following general proposition is laid down: "Our government has never conceded the right to the holder of silver dollars to demand from the treasury gold therefor, nor to the holder of gold to demand silver dollars therefor. Such demands always have been refused at the treasury. It is the notes and bonds of the government that are payable in either gold or silver at the option of the holder."

GIVES REASONS FOR PROTEST.

The following reasons why such a measure should not be enacted are given:

"1. It will require a large increase of the gold reserve of the treasury, as if the obligations upon a reserve are increased the reserve should be correspondingly enlarged. If it requires $150,000,000 of gold to act as a reserve for the redemption of $346,000,000 of United States notes called greenbacks and $40,253,086 of treasury notes issued under the Sherman act, will it not take at least $300,000,000 in gold, says the report, to act as a reserve when the $530,732,617 of silver dollars and silver certificates are made a direct charge upon that reserve?

"2. It will create a new endless chain upon the gold reserve of the treasury and thereby plunge the government deeper into the banking business.

"If the endless chain upon the treasury caused by the redemption and reissue of greenbacks is a continual drain upon the gold reserve and a severe strain upon the government, how much more of a drain and strain will the $530,000,000 of new obligations upon that reserve impose?

"The government now has the power to call an absolute halt to a raid upon its gold reserve by impounding the greenbacks and treasury notes, but if silver is made redeemable in gold it cannot do so until it impounds also the $530,000,000 of silver dollars and silver certificates. When there is a run on the treasury for gold it is the salvation of commerce and the reserve to have in circulation a currency which imposes no further demand on that metal. The bill will plunge the government deeper into the banking business.

FEAR EXPORTATION OF GOLD.

"3. It will facilitate the exportation of gold. As the $386,000,000 of our currency redeemable in gold is scattered all over the country it is difficult for large exporters of gold to collect sufficient of that currency to present for redemption. But if silver certificates, which form the great bulk of the currency that circulates, can be presented for payment in gold, then it becomes an easy matter to compel the government to furnish all the gold for exportation.

"With other nations imposing restrictions upon their exportations of gold and we facilitating our exportation of the same, we are likely to lose great quantities of that life-blood of commerce.

EXPECT CONTRACTION.

"4. It will cause the retirement of the silver dollars and produce either violent contraction of the currency or the substitution of printed promises to pay. It will convert assets into liabilities, dollars into debts.

"5. Other things remaining as they are, such a measure would cause a fall in prices of all commodities and other property. Falling prices produce bankruptcy and panics.

"No nation on the face of the globe requires its exchequer to exchange gold for silver. This is a new policy in the treatment of the precious metals. Why should this, the greatest silver producing nation in the world, be the first to strike a blow at one of its greatest industries? All representatives, regardless of political affiliations, should condemn such reckless legislation."

MAJOR MACKLIN HERE.

MRS. FRED A. NEWTON DEAD.

A telegram from Chicago at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon stated that Mrs. Frederick A. Newton died in a hospital in that city that morning. The lady went to the hospital for a surgical operation for relief from a malady with which she had long been afflicted. She passed through a similar operation some months ago, but it failed to relieve her. Mr. Newton, the reader will remember, died suddenly of heart disease on January 4. The deceased formerly resided in this city and had many friends here, who will be pained to hear of her death. The funeral will take place in Chicago Thursday.

QUITS THE STATE'S SERVICE

Was Senior Officer in Indiana National Guard—Lieutenant W. C. Cleary is Promoted.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Capt. William F. Ranke, of this city, senior officer in the Indiana National Guard and for many years captain of the Fort Wayne battery of light artillery, has tendered his resignation. It has been accepted by Adjutant General Ward, and First Lieutenant Will C. Cleary has been promoted to the vacant captaincy.

CAPT. W. F. RANKE,
Senior Officer Indiana National Guard, Who Has Resigned.

The announcement was not made until this morning, although it develops that Captain Ranke's resignation was tendered two months ago. The following general order was made public today:

"Adjutant general's office, Indianapolis, January 13, 1902. Special order No. 2. The resignation of Captain William F. Ranke, battery B, artillery battalion, Indiana National Guard, is hereby accepted.

"The commanding officer of battery B, artillery battalion, is hereby ordered to hold an election in his battery for the election of a first and second lieutenant to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Lieutenant Will C. Cleary to be captain, thus leaving a vacancy in first and second lieutenancies, in accordance with the rules and regulations governing the Indiana National Guard.

"By the governor.

"John R. Ward,
"Adjutant General.

"Capt. W. F. Ranke,
"Fort Wayne, Ind."

CAUSES SURPRISE.

Announcement of the resignation of Captain Ranke will occasion much surprise, but it is understood that he has taken the action solely on account of business reasons. Captain Ranke has been a most popular officer, and was the senior officer in the state guard. He enlisted as a private in 1887, was promoted through the several ranks until he reached the captaincy in 1893. During the Spanish-American war he was in command of his organization which then became the Twenty-eighth battery, United States artillery. Returning home after muster out Captain Ranke was appointed a captain in the Twenty-ninth United States volunteers by President McKinley, but resigned after a few weeks service, having been unable to make a satisfactory adjustment of his business affairs to permit his absence. Later he was foremost in the reorganization of the battery, and was again elected captain. Captain Ranke's more than five years' service as an officer will place him upon the list of retired officers of the guard and will make him eligible to staff appointment.

THE NEW CAPTAIN.

Will C. Cleary, who is promoted to the captaincy and is now in command of the battery, is also well known, and has been identified with Fort Wayne military affairs since nine years ago, when he entered the ranks as a private, rose through successive stages and was commissioned first lieutenant in August, 1897. He held a lieutenancy in the Twenty-eighth battery during the Spanish-American war, and was again chosen when battery B was reorganized. The election to fill the vacant lieutenancies will probably be held next Monday evening.

BIG BUILDINGS COLLAPSE

FOUR BUSINESS BLOCKS IN DETROIT GO TO RUIN.

No Cause for Accident Known—Crash Came Sunday Night When Employes Were Away.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 20.—Four buildings, each four stories high, in the heart of the wholesale district of Detroit, collapsed at 8:30 o'clock last night, without any apparent cause. All that now remains of them is a smoldering heap of ruins. The buildings were occupied by five concerns. The loss on stocks is estimated at $152,500; on buildings, $50,500.

The buildings joined each other at Jefferson avenue and Shelby street. The first and second floors of the building on the corner were occupied by the Maddocks Glove company and the two upper floors by the Imperial Cap company. Adjoining the glove company's building was the brokerage firm of F. B. Neuhoff & Co. In the same building with this firm was the stock of commission goods which Neuhoff carried for Hills Brothers, of New York. The Michigan Produce company also occupied a part of this building.

The third and fourth buildings were occupied by Crusoe Brothers, Limited, wholesale grocers, whose loss is $90,000.

Sunday night the wholesale district is practically deserted and the few men who were in the vicinity say the buildings seemed to fall into a heap without apparent cause, making a noise like the rumbling of distant thunder. There were evidences of an explosion about the ruin, but no one heard any explosion. The walls of the rear part of the glove company's building are standing to the height of two stories, but the roof lies turned bottom side upward in the middle of Shelby street, and a large smokestack lies on the opposite sidewalk.

Experts from the Detroit Gas company's office made an examination of the ruins, but were unable to find evidences of a gas explosion. Had the wreck occurred during business hours the loss of life must have been appalling, as 200 persons were employed by the various firms. Furnaces in the buildings set the ruins on fire and the wooden work was burned.

There were no watchmen about the premises, consequently no one was injured or killed.

E. F. YARNELLE FOR CONGRESS.

(Logansport Journal.)

Theodore Thorward, president of the Home Telephone company, in company with Judge W. J. Vesey and E. F. Yarnelle, of Fort Wayne, returned from South Bend last evening where they have been on business in connection with the new plant that is being put up in that city, and in which they are interested. Judge Vesey and Mr. Yarnelle will return to Fort Wayne this morning. In connection with Mr. Yarnelle's visit it is interesting to note that he is the choice of the republicans of the Twelfth district for congress, and it is expected that he will in the near future formally announce his candidacy. Mr. Yarnelle is a member of the firm of Mossman, Yarnelle & Co., and is one of the leading members of Fort Wayne's business and social world, and his active work in the republican ranks of the county and district has given him an acquaintance that is not limited by the boundaries of the district and has made him friends not only in the Twelfth but in every other district of the state. The republicans of the Twelfth have for years put up a gallant fight against long odds, and this year they feel that the conditions are such that they will be able to make a showing, and in Mr. Yarnelle they will have a leader who will enable them to make the old democracy of the district lay awake o' nights wondering where it is at.

FIRE BREAKS UP A FUNERAL.

Hartford City, Ind., Jan. 20.—The solemn obsequies over the remains of Mrs. Edward Osenbaugh were transformed into a scene of wild disorder yesterday at the United Brethren church near Humboldt. While Rev. J. M. Hobbs was preaching the sermon flames burst through the floor beneath the casket and the church was almost immediately filled with suffocating smoke. In the excitement of the panic-stricken mourners and friends of the deceased they escaped through the windows and the corpse was momentarily forgotten, but was finally rescued from the flames without damage being done to the casket in which it reposed. The male worshipers formed a bucket brigade and the flames were extinguished before the church, a frame structure, was totally destroyed. The funeral cortege then proceeded to the cemetery, where the preacher finished the sermon at the grave. The fire was caused by an overheated stove in the basement.

Telephone men from Fort Wayne, Warsaw, Columbia City, Pierceton and Plymouth are holding a conference at Warsaw this afternoon. G. F. Trier and W. L. Moellering, of this city, left at noon to be present at the meeting.

Its purpose is to arrange for the construction of a new through line fifty miles in length connecting Columbia City and Plymouth, and the new line will be a part of the system of the National company. This company's lines do not at present extend further west than Columbia City, where they connect with the lines of the various home companies operating in that section. At the meeting today it will be definitely decided who will undertake the construction of the new line to Plymouth. The matter has been under consideration for some weeks.

BRUTAL MURDERER HANGED

JOHN LUTZ EXTCUTED AT WILKESBARRE, PA.

Broke Down as Noose Was Adjusted—Slew His Wife With an Ax for Trifling Act.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 21.—John Lutz was hanged today for the murder of his wife. The drop fell at 10:17. Lutz kept his nerve until the noose was placed over his head, when he gave way and would have collapsed had he not been supported by the sheriff.

The crime for which Lutz paid the extreme penalty was particularly brutal. On the evening of November 28, 1899, he became enraged because his wife did not desire their daughter to play upon an organ as the child was ill. Lutz left the house and returned at mid-night with an ax. Proceeding to the room where Mrs. Lutz and her daughter were sleeping he brained his wife, and then retired to his own room where he was arrested the next day. At the first trial the jury was out sixteen days before returning a first degree verdict. One of the jurors informed the judge that he had been impelled by sickness to sign the verdict which was against his conscience. Lutz was given a new trial and was promptly convicted.

PAINFUL FALL IN A SALOON

FRED WEBER SUSTAINS FRACTURED KNEE CAP.

Fell as He Turned to Reply to a Friend and the Right Knee Was Dislocated.

Fred Weber, residing at 315 West Main street, was painfully hurt by a fall in the saloon of William Krohn, 20 Harrison street, shortly after noon today.

Weber is a barber by trade, but formerly conducted a saloon on West Main street, and later has been employed at the Knitting mills. He entered the Krohn saloon upon a matter of business and after talking a moment with the proprietor, turned to respond to a question propounded by a friend. As he did so his right leg apparently gave way beneath him and Weber fell heavily to the floor, dislocating the knee and fracturing the knee cap.

Dr. J. M. Dinnen was summoned and after replacing the dislocation ordered Weber removed in the ambulance to his home, where the injury was given further attention. To forestall any erroneous reports that might arise, bystanders say that the fall was purely accidental, and that no trouble of any kind had occurred. It is also claimed that Weber had not been drinking.

WILL ENTER REGULAR ARMY.

Capt. Charles E. Reese, of this city, has been appointed a second lieutenant in the regular army and will report for duty as soon as he receives his commission and assignment. It is more than probable that Captain Reese will be again assigned to service in the Philippines. He is well known and extremely popular in this city and has had an extended military experience. Captain Reese was born and reared in this city and previous to the Spanish-American war was in command of company B, third regiment, Indiana national guard. With his command he entered the national service as a part of the One Hundred and Fifty-seventh Indiana volunteers. At the close of the war Captain Reese was appointed a captain in the Thirtieth regiment, United States volunteers, was sent to the Philippines and saw extended and active service there, being for a considerable time military governor of Lucina. Returning home last spring, he announced his intention of returning to the military service and sought a captaincy or a first lieutenancy in the regular army. He was induced to accept the republican nomination for mayor and since that time has been devoting his attention to business interests. Captain Reese's appointment will be extremely gratifying to his many friends in Fort Wayne.

A FAREWELL RECEPTION.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Closs gave a farewell reception for about forty of their friends Saturday evening, at their home, 38 Taylor street. Mr. Closs, msaqueraded as Uncle Sam carrying out the representation perfectly and having his proclamations posted in all parts of the house. Dancing was the principal amusement of the evening, music being furnished by Platt's orchestra. The program began with a grand march, led by the host and hostess, through the house and over the grounds. A dainty luncheon was served at midnight. Mr. and Mrs. Closs leave about March 1 for Blue lake, where they will have charge of that popular resort known as Gandy's landing. Their many friends here will regret that they will leave Fort Wayne, but extend best wishes for their success in their new location.

WILL DOUBLE CAPACITY.

One of the busiest manufacturing institutions in the city is that of the Zero Mitten company, which occupies the second floor of the Seidel block, on Calhoun street. About sixty employes are turning out immense quantities of Canton flannel mittens and gloves, and within ten days the capacity of the factory is to be doubled by the addition of fifty machines. C. C. Sixby, of Bluffton, is the owner of the plant.

ELEY-LOCHNER.

Miss Mattie Lochner and Solomon Eley, of Leo, were united in marriage at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, at the residence of and by Rev. McCarty, pastor of the Leo M. E. church, the guests being a few intimate friends of the young couple. After the ceremony the bridal party adjourned to the home of the bride's mother, where an elaborate wedding repast was partaken of. The bride appeared charming in a dress of steel grey landsdown, trimmed in white applique. Both Mr. and Mrs. Eley are well known and estimable young people, and many friends will extend the warmest congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Eley will be at home for the present with the bride's mother.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

THE BORROWED AX. AN ELOQUENT DISCOURSE FROM A CURIOUS TEXT.

Washington, Jan. 19.—In his discourse Dr. Talmage makes practical use of an occurrence in the Orient which has seldom attracted particular attention. Text, II. Kings vi, 6: "The iron did swim."

A theological seminary in the valley of Palms, near the River Jordan, had become so popular in the time of Elisha, the prophet, that more accommodations were needed for the students. The classrooms and the dormitories must be enlarged, or an entirely new building constructed. What will they do? Will they send up to Jerusalem and solicit contributions for this undertaking? Will they send out agents to raise the money for a new theological seminary? Having raised the money, will they send for cedars of Lebanon, and marble from the quarries where Ahab got the stone for the pillars and walls of his palace? No; the students propose to build it themselves. They were rugged boys, who had been brought up in the country and who had never been weakened by the luxuries of city life. All they ask is that Elisha, their professor and prophet, go along with them to the woods and boss the job. They start for the work, Elisha and his students. Plenty of lumber in those regions along the Jordan. The sycamore is a stout, strong tree, and good for timber. Mr. Gladstone asked me if I had seen in Palestine any sycamore tree more beautiful than the one we stood under at Hawarden. I told him I had not. The sycamore near the Jordan are now attacked by Elisha's students, for they must have lumber for the new theological seminary. I suppose some of the students made an awkward stroke, and they were extemporized axmen. Stand from under! Crash! goes one of the trees and another, and another. But something now happens so wonderful that the occurrence will tax the credulity of the ages, so wonderful that many still think it never happened at all. One of the students, not able to own an ax, had borrowed one. You must remember that while the ax of olden time was much like our modern ax, it differed in the fact that, instead of the helve or handle being thrust into a socket in the iron head, the head of the ax was fastened on the handle by a leather throng; and so it might slip the helve. A student of the seminary was swinging his ax against one of those trees, and whether it was at the moment he made his first stroke and the chips flew, or was after he had cut the tree from all sides so deep that it was ready to fall, we are not told, but the ax-head and the handle parted. Being near the riverside, the ax-head dropped into the river and sank to the muddy bottom. Great was the student's dismay. If it had been his own ax, it would have been bad enough, but the ax did not belong to him. He had no means to buy another for the kind man who had loaned it to him. But God helps the helpless, and he generally helps through some good and sympathetic soul, and in this case it was Elisha, who was in the woods and on the river bank at the time. He did not see the ax-head fly off and so he asked the student where it dropped. He was shown the place where it went down into the river. Then Elisha broke off a branch of a tree and threw it into the water, and the ax-head rose from the depths of the river and floated to the bank, so that the student had just to stoop down and take up the restored property. Now you see the meaning of my text. "The iron did swim."

Suppose a hundred years ago some one had told people that the time would come when hundreds of thousands of tons of iron would float on the Atlantic and Pacific—iron ships from New York to Southampton, from London to Calcutta, from San Francisco to Canton. The man making such a prophecy would have been sent to an asylum or carefully watched as incompetent to go alone. We have all in our day seen iron swim. Now, if man can make hundreds of tons of metal float, I am disposed to think that the Almighty could make an ax-head float.

"What," says some one, "would be the use of such a miracle?" Of vast, of infinite, of eternal importance. Those students were preparing for the ministry. They had joined the theological seminary to get all its advantages. They needed to have their faith strengthened. They needed to be persuaded that God can do everything. They needed to learn that God takes notice of little things; that there is no emergency of life where he is not willing to help. Standing on the banks of that Jordan, those students of that day of the recalled ax-head had their faith re-enforced, and nothing that they had found out in the classrooms of that learned institution had ever done more in the way of fitting them for their coming profession.

I hear from different sources that there is a great deal of infidelity in some of the theological seminaries of our day. They think that the Garden of Eden is an allegory, and that Moses did not write the Pentateuch, and that the Book of Job is only a drama, and that the Book of Jonah is an unreliable fish story, and that water was not turned into wine, although the bartender now by large dilution turns wine into water, and that most of the so-called miracles of the Old and New Testament were wrought by natural causes. When those infidels graduate from the theological seminary, and take the pulpits of America as expounders of the Holy Scriptures, what advocates they will be of that Gospel for the truth of which the martyrs died! Hail the Polycarps and Hugh Latimers and John Knoxes of the twentieth century, believing the Bible is true in spots! Would to God that some great revival of religion might sweep through all the theological seminaries of this land, confirming the faith of the coming expounders of an entire Bible. Was it not a mighty thing for those theological students under Elisha to have impressed upon them the fact that their professor and teacher, Elisha, was from God, and that a law of nature can be revoked or put under, or set aside as the Lord wills it? As easily as we can wind up a watch or put its hands forward or backward, can God do anything He chooses to do with His universe.

Furthermore, in that scene of the text God sanctions borrowing, and sets forth the importance of returning. I do not think there would have been any miracle performed if the young man had owned the ax that skipped the helve. The young man cried out in the hearing of the prophet: "Alas, master! for it was borrowed." He had a right to borrow. There are times when we ought to lend, for Christ in His sermon on the mount declared: "From him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away." It is right that one borrow the means of getting an education, as the young student of my text borowed the ax. It is right to borrow means for the forwarding of commercial ends. Most of the vast fortunes that now overshadow the land were hatched out of a borrowed dollar.

If in any assembly it were requested that those who had never borrowed hold up their hands, none would be lifted; or, if there and there a hand were lifted, we would know that it was a case of inveracity. Borrow? Why, we are borrowing all the time. We borrow from the Lord the sunlight that shows us our way, the water that slakes our thirst, the food that refreshes us three times a day, the pillow on which we slumber. We borrow gladness from our friends. We borrow all elevated surroundings. The church borrows all its beauty from the Christ who founded it. In our songs and sermons we borrow from the raptures of heaven.

We borrow time. We will borrow eternity. And that constant borrowing implies a return. For what we borrow from God we must pay back in hearty thanks and Christian service, in improvement of ourselves and helpfulness for others. For what we borrow in the shape of protection from good government, we must pay back in patriotic devotion. For what we borrow from our parents in their good example and their hard work wrought for us in our journey from cradle to manhood or womanhood, for all the ages to come we ought to be paying back. The hallelujahs of heaven will be returned for crucifixion agony.

The student wielding that ax in the valley of Palms did not steal the implement. He expected to return it, and when he saw that he would not be able to return it, he ejaculated the words I have already quoted: "Alas, master! for it was borrowed." There needs to be a more punctilious observance of the duty of returning that which is borrowed. If suddenly all the world should wake up to this duty, and borrowed things should go back to their owners, what a revolution in libraries, in homes, in churches, in state and national legislature! What books escaping from shelves where they have no right to stay. What pictures leaving walls! What millions of dollars changing banks, leaving the places where they have no right for places where they are due. Pay up, you people who have what does not belong to you. There are cases where that is impossible, and you have not the means to pay, as the student of my text could not have returned the ax-head if a sudden relief had not come. If you can not pay all, pay part; as no doubt this scholar of Elisha would have returned the handle of the ax, if he could not have returned the head.

Haydon the painter said his ruin began the day he began to borrow money, and he wrote in his dairy: "Here began debt and obligation, out of which I have never been and never shall be extricated as long as I live." Dr. Johnson said: "Do not accustom yourself to consider debt only as an inconvenience; you will find it a calamity." We have a right to borrow for the absolute necessities, expecting to pay back again, but we ought never to borrow for the luxuries. According to the "Laws of Amasis," in Egypt, if a man died without paying that which he had borrowed, he was deprived all obsequies. If that law were in vogue in our times how many postponed and impossible funerals!

Furthermore, let us admire these young men of Elisha's theological seminary, for the fact that they were earning their own way. The most of those today who are successful in the professions, medicating the sick, or advocating the law, or preaching the gospel, fought their own way on and up. Those are the kind of men who know what education is worth and know how to use it. Many of us remember that in college days the sons of affluent fathers, with plenty of money to spend, and horses to drive, and libraries crowded with books never read, and wardrobes that kept them in perplexity as to which of many garments was appropriate for the weather that day, were worth to the world nothing since, while the young men in college who had to economize three months in order to get some book they needed, and who could hardly raise money for their diploma, have since wrought mightily for God and the truth, turning the world upside down because it was wrong side up.

In the summer watering places north, south, east and west, in the great hotels, serving at table and in baggage room, are theological students who are in preparation for the ministry, earning in July and August the means by which they may study the other months of the year. I hail them; I cheer them; I bless them. They will be the Herscheis in the observatories, the Dr. Motts in your medical colleges, the Rufus Choates in your court rooms, the Bishop McIlvaines in your pulpits. Let them not now be ashamed of the ax with which they hew the beam for Elisha's seminary.

Those students in the valley of Palms by the Jordan had a physical strength and hardihood that would help them in their mental and spiritual achievements. We who are toiling for the world's betterment need brawn as well as brain, strong bodies as well as illumined minds and consecrated souls. Many of those who are now doing the best work in church and state got muscle and power of endurance from the fact that in early life they were compelled to use ax or plow or flail or hammer, while many who were brought up in the luxuries of life give out before the battle is won. They are keen and sharp of mind, but have no physical endurance. They have the ax-head, but no handle. The body is the handle of the soul.

Let all those who toil for their education remember they are especially favored, and if things go against them and the ax head should fly the helve, that very hinderment may some time turn out advantageously, as the accident by the River Jordan, which seemed to finish the young student's capacity to help build the new seminary, resulted in a splendid demonstration of the power of Elisha's God to help any one who helps himself. No ax that was ever wielded has wrought so well as that ax, the handle and head of which parted.

Notice, also, how God is superior to every law that He has made, even the strongest law of nature—the law of gravitation. The stick that Elisha threw into the Jordan floated, but the ax head sank. By inexorable law, it must go down into the depths of the Jordan, yet without so much as a touch, the hard, heavy metal sought the surface. There it is, the floating ax head. What a rebuke to those who reject miracles on the ground that they are contrary to nature, as though the law were stronger than the God who made the law! Again and again in Bible times was that law revoked. Witness the scene on the banks of the same Jordan, where, in after time, the ax head sank and rose. Elijah stood there, wearing cape of sheepskin, when there was a mighty stir in the air and a flashing equipage descended. Elijah stepped into it, and on wheels of fire, drawn by horses of fire, he rose. Fifty men for three days searched the mountains, to see if the body of Elijah had not been dropped among the rocks, and picked at by birds of prey, but the search was in vain. The law of gravitation had been defeated.

There Christ stood by His disciples on the Mount of Olives, after His coming out of the sepulcher. No ladders let down for His ascension, but His feet lift from the hill, and He goes up until the curtain of cloud drops, and He is invisible. Law of gravitation again unharnessed. Enoch, Methuselah's father, escaping death, went up bodily, and will have no need of resurrection. So will all the good who shall be still alive at the end of the world. They will not need wings. Every one of the millions of our planet who loved and served the Lord, if then alive, will "be caught up," as the Bible says, body, as well as soul, the law of gravitation paralyzed. God mightier than any law He ever created. O, I like the miracles, because they show God independent of everything. And if the Israelites are hungry in the desert, the manna will fall out of all the cupboards of heaven; and if the supernatural needs to be demonstrated, the foot of Christ will find the surface of Lake Galilee a crystal pavement, and if the despairing student on the banks of the Jordan cries out because of the lost ax head, the iron will swim.

Notice, also, the divine power in the backwoods. Wonderful things were done at the cities of Jericho and Jerusalem and Babylon and Nineveh, and the great cities of our time have seen the divine power; but this miracle of my text was in the backwoods, far away from the city—in the lumber districts, where the students had gone to cut timber for the new theological seminary. And if this sermon shall come, as it will come, like my other sermons for the last thirty years, without missing a week, let me say to those far away from the house of God, and in the mountain districts, that my text shows the divine power in the backwoods. The Lord by every stream, as he certainly was by the Jordan; on every mountain, as surely as he was on Mount Zion; on every lake, as on Tiberias; by every rock, as by the one whose gushing waters slacked the thirst of the marching Israelites.

Do not feel lonely because your nearest neighbor may be miles away, because the width of the continent may separate you from the place where your cradle was rocked and your father's grave was dug. Weakened though you may be by lion's roar or panther's scream, God will help you, whether at the time the forest around you raves in the midnight hurricane or you suffer from something quite insignificant, like the loss of an ax-head. Take your Bible out under the trees, if the weather will permit, and after you have listened to the solo of a bird in the tree tops or the long-meter psalm of the thunder, read those words of the Bible, which must have been written out of doors: "The trees of the Lord are full of sap; the cedars of Lebanon which He hath planted, where the birds make their nests; as for the stork, the fir trees are her house. The high hills are a refuge for the wild goats, and the rocks for the conies. Thou makest darkness, and it is night, wherein all the beasts of the forest do creep forth. The young lions roar after their prey, and seek their meat from God. The sun ariseth, they gather themselves together, and lay them down in their dens. Man goeth forth unto his work, and to his labor, until the evening. O, Lord, how manifold are thy works! In wisdom hast thou made them all. The earth is full of thy riches." How do you like that sublime pastoral?

My subject also reminds us of the importance of keeping our chief implement for work in good order. I think that young theological student on the banks of Jordan was to blame for not examining the ax before he lifted it that day against a tree. He could in a moment have found out whether the helve and the head were firmly fastened. The simple fact was, the ax was not in good order, or the strongest stroke that sent the edge into the hard sycamore would not have left the implement headless. So God has given every one of us an ax with which to hew. Let us keep it in good order, having been sharpened by Bible study and strengthened by prayer. The reason we sometimes fail in our work is because we have a dull ax or we do not know how aright to swing it. The head is not aright on the handle. At the time we want the most skill for work and perfect equilibrium we lose our head. We expend in useless excitement the nervous energy that we ought to have employed in direct, straightforward work. Your ax may be a pen or a type of a yardstick or a scales or a tongue, which in legislative hall or business circles or Sabbath class or pulpit is to speak for God and righteousness; but the ax will not be worth much until it has been sharpened on the grindstone of affliction. People who have had no trouble or only little trouble do not amount to much for usefulness, but God puts their ax on the hard circle of the grindstone, and betrayal gives it a turn, and pain gives it a turn, and poverty gives it a turn, and disappointment gives it a turn, and bereavement gives it a turn. And now it is sharp enough for successful work; and how it cuts down evil and builds schools and churches and theological seminaries!

Go right through the world, and go right through all the past ages, and show me one man or woman who has done anything for the world worth speaking of, whose ax was not ground on the revolving wheel of mighty trouble. It was not David, for he was dethroned and hounded by unfilial Absalom. Surely it was not Paul, for he was shipwrecked and whipped with thirty-nine stripes from rods and clubwood on his way to beheadment. Surely it was not Abraham Lincoln, called by every vile name that human and satanic turpitude could invent, and depicted by cartoonist with more meanness than any other man ever suffered, on the way to meet a bullet crashing through his temples.

But I have now come to the foot of the Alps, which we must climb before we can see the wide reach of my subject. See in all this theme how the impossible may be turned into possibles. That ax-head was sunken in the muddiest river that could be found. The alarmed student of Elisha may know where it went down, and may dive for it, and perhaps fetch it up; but can the sunken ax-head be lifted without a hand thrust deep into the mud at the bottom of the river? No; that is impossible. I admit, so far as human power is concerned, it is impossible. But with God all things are possible. After the tree branch was thrown upon the surface of Jordan, "the iron did swim."

Some one asks me: "Did you ever see iron swim?" Yes, yes; many a time. I saw a soul hardened until nothing could make it harder. All styles of sin had plied that soul. It was petrified as to all fine feeling. It had been hardening for thirty years. It had gone into the deepest depths. It had been given up as lost. The father had given it up. The mother, the last to do so, had given it up. But one day, in answer to some prayer, a branch of the disfoliaged tree of Calvary was thrown into the dark and sullen stream, and the sunken soul responded to its power, and rose into the light, and to the astonishment of the church and the world, "the iron did swim." I have seen hundreds of cases like that. When the dying bandit on the cross beside Christ's cross was converted. When Jerry McAuley, a ruffian graduate of Sing Sing prison, was changed into a great evangelist, so useful in reclamation of wandering men and women that the merchant princes of New York established for him the Water street and Cremorne missions, and mourned at his burial, amid the lamentations of a city. When Newton, the blaspheming sailor, under the power of the truth, was brought to Christ and became one of the mightiest preachers of the Gospel that England ever saw. When John Bunyan, whose curses shocked even the profane of the fish market, was so changed in heart and life that he could write that beautiful dream, "The Pilgrim's Progress," in such a way that uncounted thousands have found, through it, the road from the "City of Destruction" to the "Celestial City." In all these cases I think iron was made to swim. I worship the God who can do the impossible. We read in the Bible about the man who was born blind. The optic nerve had never been created. Often blind men have been given sight, but not if the optic nerve was omitted in the physical construction. The omission of that optic nerve makes that man's cure impossible, utterly impossible. All the surgeons say so. All the eye doctors declare it. My common sense says cure is impossible. But a salve is being compounded for that blinded vision. Other useful salves may have four or five ingredients, but the salve compounded for this blind man has only two ingredients—clay and spittle. The greatest eye doctor the world ever saw compounded this salve of two ingredients. The inspired story says: "He spat on the ground, and he anointed the eyes of the blind man with clay," and the sequel of the story is, he "came seeing." What hosannas in those two words "came seeing!" That meant the blind man was introduced to his own parents, to sunrise and sunset, and midnight aurora, and the sheen of the sea, and the verdure of the mountains. How those eyes must have danced with glee! "Came seeing!"

You have a wayward boy. Only God knows how you have cried over him. You have tried everything for his reformation. Where is he now—in this city, in this country, or has he crossed the sea? "O," you say, "I do not know where he is. He went away in the sulks and did not say where he was going." You have about made up your mind that you will never hear from him again. Pretty hard pay he gives you for all your kindness and the nights you sat up with him when he was sick. Perhaps he struck you one day when you were trying to persuade him to do better. How different was the feeling of that hard fist against your face from his little hand in infancy patting your cheek. Father! mother! that is an impossible that I would like to see God take hold of—the conversion of that boy, for he will never be anything but a boy to you, though you should live to see him fifty years of age. Did you say his heart is hard? How hard? Hard as stone? "Yes," you say, "harder than that; hard as iron." But her is a God who can lift the soul that has been deepest down. Here is a God who can raise a soul out of the blackest depths of sin and wretchedness. Here is a God who can make iron swim—the God of Elisha, the God of the young student that stood in dismay on the banks of the Jordan at the time of the lost ax-head. Lay hold of the Lord in a prayer that will take no denial.

Alas! there are impossibles before thousands of people; called to do work that it is impossible for them to do, called to bear burdens that it is impossible for them to bear, called to endure suffering that it is impossible for them to endure. Read all the Gospel promises, rally all your faith, and while you will always be called to worship the God of love and the God of patience and the God of hope, today, with all the concentered energies of my soul, I implore you to bow down and worship the God who can turn the impossibles into the possibles. It was for no trivial purpose, but for grand and glorious uses I have spoken to you today of the borrowed, the lost, and the restored ax-head.

TAFT COMES HOME

GOVERNOR OF PHILIPPINES RETURNS TO AMERICA.

GENERAL WHEATON IS DOING A GREAT WORK.

GOVERNOR TAFT NOT WELL

WILL REST BEFORE GOING TO WASHINGTON.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—W. H. Taft, civil governor of the Philippine islands, who arrived here on the transport Grant, is quite ill, the Philippine climate and the arduous duties he has performed having told on his constitution. He feels that after a few days of rest in this city he will be strong enough to undergo the trip east and make his report to the secretary of war. Governor Taft says that he hopes to leave for the east on Thursday. He says the war is confined to the two provinces—Batangas and Samar—and the operations in Batangas occasionally range into the neighboring provinces of Tayabas and Laguna.

The governor says that General Wheaton is doing splendid work in the islands and that that officer assured him shortly before he sailed that the natives of the province of Batangas and its vicinity would all be pacified before the close of next March. The provinces of Cebu and Bohol, until recently disturbed by insurgent operations, have settled down, the fighting men having all surrendered. The Filipinos are very anxious to secure a legislature as a step toward the permanent establishment of a civil government The present civil government has been working with great zeal and has far exceeded expectations, the governor says. The chief difficulty at present is the lack of police protection in the provinces. Small bands of robbers still infest the back districts. They terrorize the natives and until the strong arm of the law is able to suppress them, absolute peace in the islands will not be obtained.

The native Filipino police have proved a success. They were appointed by the civil government and officered by Americans and they do good service.

Governor Taft says that he is much improved by the sea voyage and will spend several days at his old home in Cincinnati before going to Washington.

Governor Taft is accompanied by his wife. During his absence his place on the commission will be filled by Luke E. Wright, one of the other members.

Governor Taft will remain in the United States about two months. He will make an exhaustive report to the president on present conditions in the Philippines under the civil government and the success of the pacification measures and will also submit his views upon the needs of the natives. He declares that there has never been a time since the United States became interested in the islands that the attitude of the Filipino people as a whole has been so friendly to the civil government established by the United States as now.

MARRIED HALF CENTURY AGO

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM YERGENS' ANNIVERSARY.

Golden Wedding of Well Known People Who Have Resided in Fort Wayne Many Years.

Mr. and Mrs. William Yergens, who are among the oldest and most respected residents of Fort Wayne, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary this week at their home on West Washington street. Thursday will complete their half century of wedded life, the entire cycle of which has been spent in this city.

Mr. Yergens is seventy-four years of age and his wife is sixty-eight. Both were born in Germany, and both came to Fort Wayne, where they were married at an early age. Mr. Yergens emigrated to America in 1845, coming to this city by way of the lakes and the Wabash and Erie canal, at a time when the population of Fort Wayne did not exceed five hundred people and when the Indians were as numerous as the whites. Mrs. Yergens was Miss Eliza Jacobs, and she also came to America with her parents in 1845. They have two children living—William Yergens, jr., and Mrs. William Moellering.

Mr. Yergens' earliest employment here was at canal boating and later he engaged in sawmilling. For many years Mr. Yergens has been engaged in the manufacture of lumber specialties, with a factory on Superior street. Both Mr. and Mrs. Yergens are very widely known and have enjoyed the lifelong friendship and esteem of their most extended acquaintance. They are particularly well known among the older people of the city.

HIS DEATH CAME SUDDENLY

JOSEPH B. SAUNDERS EXPIRES AT GRAND RAPIDS.

Former Fort Wayne Citizen Succumbs to Heart Disease While Seated in His Chair.

Joseph B. Saunders, for many years a well known citizen of Fort Wayne, died very suddenly at Grand Rapids this morning from heart disease. Two years ago Mr. and Mrs. Saunders removed to that city to make their home with a daughter, Mrs. Grace Brown, and it was while seated in his chair at 8 o'clock today that Mr. Saunders sustained the attack that proved fatal a few moments later.

Mr. Saunders was born and reared in Fort Wayne. He was 61 years of age and for many years was employed as a machinist in the Pennsylvania shops, his home being at 55 West Lewis street. For several years prior to leaving this city Mr. Saunders had lived a retired life. He was a son of Benjamin Saunders, once mayor of the city, and was very widely known.

Surviving are the widow and two children—Mrs. Grace Brown, of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Clem Schele, of this city. Mrs. T. B. Empie is a sister, and Benjamin Saunders is a brother of the deceased. Mr. Saunders was a member of lodge No. 36, A. O. U. W., of this city, and was quite well-to-do.

The remains will arrive in the city Thursday noon and will be taken to the home of the son-in-law, Clem Schele, 63 Elmwood avenue. The funeral services will be held Friday at an hour to be announced later.

REPUBLICANS AGAIN CHOOSE GOODRICH

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Wheat opened weak today on lower cables and general precipitation in the growing wheat country. May started a shade to ½@⅝c lower at 79⅝@ to 79⅝c, but soon rallied and made good its losses. The cables, while lower, did not reflect the decided setback here yesterday. Moreover there was a very large short interest in wheat at the opening and liberal buying orders both for long accounts and for covering came out around 78⅞c. Report had it that the Russian crop has been severely damaged by frost. This last bit of news turned the sentiment in the pit somewhat bullish and May quickly sold up to 79⅝c. Local receipts were 54 cars, none of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 364 cars, making a total for the three points of 408 cars, against 479 last week and 410 a year ago.

Short covering early in wheat and the relative prices in the northwest brought a rally in wheat, but liquidation eased prices again before noon. Just before the close buying set in again and May sold up to 79⅞c, closing firm, ½c higher, at 79⅝@79⅞c.

Corn leaned toward a weak opening on last night's weakness, but soon turned firm. The cables though lower were relatively firm when compared to the big drop yesterday and May started ½@⅝c lower to a shade higher at 63½c to 63⅝c. The early trade was light, country offerings were small and news came that the moisture in Argentina was insufficient for growing corn. Some covering set in and May advanced to 64¼c. Receipts were 151 cars.

Oats showed good strength after the opening, largely on corn influence. This pit, however, of late has been showing marked independence. There was little inclination to sell oats and a number of shorts covered their accounts. May opened ¼c lower to unchanged at 45⅝c to 45⅞c. Offerings, however, were light and May advanced to 46⅛c, easing later on some small liquidations to 46¼c. Receipts were 190 cars.

Provisions were sold early in liberal quantities under the influence of heavy hog receipts. May pork started 15c to 10c lower at $16.80 to $16.85 and eased to $16.77½; May lard opened 5c to 2½c down at $9.60 to $9.62½ and declined to $9.57½, and May ribs started 2½c to 5c to a shade lower at $8.57½ to $8.60.

NOT THE FORMER MAYOR.

Many persons living in the country have been led to think that Charles Scherer, who is a candidate for the democratic nomination for county treasurer, is Henry P. Scherer, who was for a number of years mayor of Fort Wayne. The present candidate says that he is not aggrieved at any compliment that may be implied, only that the mistaken idea is being used against him in some localities, the argument being that he should not seek office in the county after having exhausted his eligibility in the city. Charles Scherer has never been elected to office, although he was four years ago a candidate for the nomination for county recorder, and it is but proper that he should be placed right.

Ex-Sheriff Frank K. Cosgrove was a visitor in the city Monday. He is located at Columbus and was here to visit his father, the venerable Dr. Cosgrove, of Springfield township, and look after some business interests.

PERJURED STORY

VALPARAISO BOY SOON TO BE RELEASED.

CONVERTED ACCIDENT INTO A MURDER TALE.

Valparaiso, Ind., Jan. 18.—The mystery which has surrounded the death of Edgar Davidson ever since his body was found lying beside the Pennsylvania railroad tracks in this city on the morning of December 20, has at last been cleared up in a startling manner.

Frank Sprencil, night watchman at the Napoleon street crossing of the road, by far the strongest witness for the state, broke down in his story yesterday afternoon while undergoing a rigid examination at the hands of the grand jury and confessed that all of his previous stories before that body and at the coroner's inquest were false and that the three prominent men who have been held in jail without bail on his evidence are innocent.

Davidson had been engaged in a little altercation in an uptown cafe the night of his death with Michael Curtain, a lawyer; Robert Fleming and Roy Sowers, three well known residents of this city. A few minutes after 11 o'clock the quartet left the place and the three men were heard to threaten Davidson. As they were under the influence of liquor no especial attention was paid to the fact.

Early the next morning the body of Davidson was found near the tracks. His gold watch and money were on the body. His head was cut and his skull was crushed. Blood was scattered about fifty feet from the body.

CHAIN OF EVIDENCE.

From the first day only one theory was advanced—that of deliberate murder—and every new detail went to corroborate it. After a long trial Coroner Carson returned a verdict of murder and held Curtin, Fleming and Sowers.

Judge Gillette called the grand jury and after a hearing which lasted more than a week, it returned indictments against the three boys for murder in the first degree. A remarkably strong and complete chain of circumstantial evidence was woven about the accused and their warmest friends were forced to confess belief in their guilt.

The strongest witness the state was able to produce was Watchman Frank Sprencil. He is a highly respected resident of this place and universally liked and trusted. His evidence was never doubted for a minute. He told of seeing the three prisoners come down town to his shanty shortly before midnight, carrying the body of Davidson. They made an ineffectual attempt to load it into a freight train that was just pulling out and later laid it beside the track, taking Sprencil's shovel to remove some of the evidences of the crime.

The watchman's testimony created a profound sensation, and especially since he was a life-long friend to Curtin. A number of circumstances discovered from time to time seemed to bear out his story. The stories told by the accused of their actions on the night in question were not entirely satisfactory and their conviction was considered certain. They were held without bail for trial on February 5.

BROKE DOWN AND CONFESSED.

Yesterday the grand jury was called and Sprencil was a witness for the second or third time. In a stiff examination he suddenly broke down and admitted his testimony had been false. He said that Davidson had been killed by a Pennsylvania train at his crossing and that he had himself dragged the body a few feet away to the point where it was found and used his own shovel to dispose of the blood and brain. He feared the loss of his job if the death was reported at his crossing. For the same reason he told the story concerning the three prisoners. His confession, made while the tears streamed down his cheeks, was complete in every detail. The grand jury, which had already returned indictments against the accused, will withdraw them and report no bill.

Sprencil will be held for perjury. He is 36 years old, an active church member, does not drink, smoke or gamble and is the sole support of an aged, invalid mother. Heretofore no man in the town has borne a more spotless reputation than he, and even now there are many among the people who will not believe his confession, but advance the idea that constant worry over his connection with the affair has turned his brain.

MANY NEW STUDENTS.

Since the opening of the winter term of the International Business college a large number of students from out of the city have enrolled for courses, and the students from other towns and cities now outnumber the students from this city. Those who have enrolled in the past week are: P. F. Hartman, Montery, Ind.; Harry Fritzinger, Decatur; Fred Jaebker, Preble; Rex Adams, Henry Gass, Decatur; Lotta Bananda, Altoona, Ind.; Lydia Burch, Petoskey, Mich.; Hugh Heit, Decatur; E. E. Willetts, Columbia City; Lester Hollopeter, Leo; Frank Kenner, Columbia City; Cornelius Schaefer, Geneva.

The hearing of Grant Banks, the Roan saloonkeeper, charged with selling liquor without having paid the government tax, has been continued by Commissioner Logan until Wednesday morning. District Attorney Lafollette can not reach the city until that time. The case was to have been heard Monday morning. Banks is in jail in default of bonds in the sum of $500.

GAMBLING JOINT HELD UP

TWO ROBBERS RAID AN OMAHA TIGER'S LAIR.

Take the Bank Roll and What the Patrons Had Left—Captured by the Police.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 18.—Two robbers held up a dozen men in a gambling room over the saloon of Cliff Cole, at Fourteenth and Douglas streets, early today, and secured the cash box and $200 in money from the customers of the place. They were captured ten minutes later, however, by a squad of policemen and locked up. They gave the names of Frank Williams and Frank Jones.

The robbery was a bold one, having taken place in the heart of the city. Neither of the men was masked. They drew revolvers and ordered the men in the room to hold up their hands. After securing their money and the cash box they rushed downstairs into Douglas street, where a policeman gave chase, firing several shots after them. A riot call was turned in to the police station and a wagon load of officers rushed to the scene. One of the robbers ran out of an alley and into the arms of a policeman and the other was found in a hallway.

At the station both men admitted their identity and said they had lost their money in the place and that they thought their game was as fair as that of the gambling house. All of the stolen money was found on the men, the cash box having been emptied and its contents thrown into the street.

The men are strangers in Omaha. They were seen lounging about the room where the robbery occurred during the evening, but the proprietors say they lost no money. The man giving his name as Williams said he had been working in a beet sugar factory at Ames, Neb., but later contradicted himself.

The police think they are the men who a week ago held up a Kansas City pool room and escaped with $1,500. They are said to answer the description given by the Kansas City police, with whom the local authorities will communicate.

SERIOUS CHARGES.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 18.—The annual report of the Chickamauga-Chattanooga National Military park commission to the secretary of war is just made public. The report in part says:

"We have now 71.36 miles of improved roads in the park. There has been expended for road construction and betterments $11,077.57.

"The only construction besides that heretofore ordered which the commission desires to build, during the coming year, is the road from Rossville to McFarland's Gap, a distance of 2.5 miles, the road over which the union army withdrew from the Chickamauga field to Rossville at the close of the fighting the evening of the second day.

"The central driveway of the park, which passes through or overlooks six of the seven battlefields embraced in the park project, is now complete.

"The health of ten square miles comprising Chickamauga park has been excellent, as has been that of the adjacent region for several miles in all directions around the park. There has been no death within its boundaries and only one case of typhoid and two of malarial fever. These cases are a mile from the park. The water supply in all sections of the park continues abundant and excellent.

"The attention of the secretary is reluctantly called to the mutilation of the official rosters of this commission in the report of the Indiana commissioners for Chickamauga National Military park. In the published report of that commission there was included what purports to be a transcript of the official roster of the union and confederate armies as published by the national commission. Examinations show various serious changes in the reproduction of this official document, arising in part through omission of certain clauses in the text, in part from direct changes and in part by interpolations. This column also contains a number of erroneous transcripts of authorized inscriptions on Indiana monuments and markers as they appear on the field."

WAIT FOR AN OFFICER.

Three young men have made application at the recruiting office for enlistment in the regular army, and are awaiting the arrival of a mustering officer from Indianapolis. They are Otto V. Bly, of Albion; Louis C. Joly, of this city, and Theodore P. Gladiuex, of Zulu.

WANT ADVANCE IN SCALE

MINERS MEET NEXT WEEK IN INDIANAPOLIS.

Will Demand 10 Per Cent. Increase—Operators Will Oppose the Delegates' Demand.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 18.—It is expected that several hundred delegates will be here by tonight, for the thirteenth annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America, which will open here Monday. The Pennsylvania anthracite miners, 200 strong, will reach here tomorrow by special train. Many delegates are already here. It is believed there will be over 1,000 delegates, making it the largest convention ever held by organized labor. President Mitchell will preside. Ben Tillett, the famous English labor leader, will arrive tonight to be the guest of the miners until Thursday. President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, may also visit the convention.

It is understood that the miners will present a demand for an increase of at least 10 per cent. over the wages they now receive, but it is almost equally certain that the operators will make a stubborn resistance, as many of them claim they are either operating at a loss or at a very small profit. The miners will also ask for an extension of the run of mine basis to the districts where the screen basis now prevails. This has been in controversy for a long time and probably will be one of the most important features of the convention. The agreement that now exists between the miners and operators as to wages was made here two years ago and ratified at the joint conference at Columbus, Ohio, last year. The miners feel that they are now entitled to an advance, inasmuch as the same scale has prevailed for two years. The fact, however, that they have failed to unionize West Virginia may prevent them from getting the raise, as the operators of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois who signed the competitive agreement, charge that the West Virginia operators who pay non-union wages are enabled to undersell them. An invitation was recently extended to the West Virginia operators to attend the convention here, but the mine workers' officials have but little hope that they will be present. The situation in West Virginia will probably receive considerable attention next week, as the miners are determined to unionize the state. President Mitchell, Vice President Lewis and Treasurer Wilson will probably be re-elected without opposition.

The national executive board of the miners met here today to take up grievances that will be presented to the convention. The joint conference of the miners and operators begins January 30.

STATE TAKES A HAND.

Milwaukee, Jan. 18.—The state of Wisconsin has taken a hand in the legal battle which is to be waged between Bayfield county and the receiver for the Washburn, Bayfield and Iron River railroad to prevent the tearing up of the railway. Attorney General Hicks this afternoon appeared before Judge Jenkins, of the United States circuit court, and presented a petition asking that the state of Wisconsin be allowed to appear in the proceedings. The grounds of the petition are that the railway is a public right, deriving its charter from the state, and that no orders should be allowed for its removal without the state being given a hearing.

DISMISSES WHOLE BOARD.

Dayton, Ohio, Jan. 18.—Governor Nash today asked for the resignation of the entire board of trustees of the state hospital here. It is the culmination of a condition growing out of bickerings in the board and consequent demoralization of the institution. Member Whitaker has declined to meet with his associates for many months, not wanting to be responsible for official acts.

Fancy vests worth $3.50, $4.00 and $5.00, all go at 98c at Patterson's.

DEGRADE SOLDIER

THREATENED TO ASSASSINATE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

HAD APPLAUDED CZOLGOSZ

SAID HE WOULD FIX ROOSEVELT LIKE M'KINLEY.

IS TRIED FOR HIS OFFENSE

IS DEGRADED AND SENT TO PRISON FOR TEN YEARS.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 18.—A special to the Oregonian from Astoria, Ore., says:

Frank Rakowski, a soldier in the United States army, was today degraded at Fort Canby and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment in the military prison on Alcatraz Island, Cal. Rakowski had threatened to assassinate President Roosevelt. Rakowski was a member of Captain Cook's company, stationed at Fort Stevens. He was on detached duty at Fort Columbia, Wash., when he voiced the anarchist sentiment and after arrest by the civil authorities was turned over to the military officials at Fort Canby. He was tried before a general court martial.

A few days before Christmas Rakowski became intoxicated at Chinook and while in a saloon there made the following statement:

"President McKinley got what he deserved. My time of enlistment in the army will soon expire and when it does I'll see that President Roosevelt gets the same dose that Czolgosz gave McKinley."

Rakowski's sentence is dishonorable discharge, forfeiture of all pay and allowances and confinement in the military prison at Alcatraz Island for a period of ten years.

Captain Cook states that he knew little of Rakowski, except that he formerly resided on Milwaukee avenue, Chicago.

"The man seemed to be a quiet fellow," said Captain Cook, "and prior to the time of his anarchist utterances at Chinook never gave any trouble. He was drunk when he threatened the life of the president."

EN ROUTE TO PRISON.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 18.—Frank Rakowski, the degraded soldier who threatened the life of President Roosevelt, passed through this city last night under guard on his way to California, to serve his sentence of ten years on Alcatraz Island.

HURT IN PECULIAR MANNER

MRS. G. NIEMANN SUSTAINS A BROKEN ARM.

Member Was Fractured by Her Own Weight in Attempting to Arise From a Chair.

Mrs. G. Niemann, residing at the corner of Brackenridge and Harrison streets, was the victim of a very peculiar, as well as painful accident Friday, when she sustained a fracture of the right upper arm.

Mrs. Niemann had been suffering for several weeks from a severe attack of rheumatism and was convalescing nicely, though yet unable to use her left arm by reason of the pain from the rheumatism. She was seated upon a chair at her home Friday, and in attempting to arise used her right arm to assist in gaining an upright position. The bone of the upper arm was so excessively brittle that it snapped beneath a portion of her weight, and the accident renders the lady almost totally helpless. Dr. E. A. Crull reduced the fracture.

BILL TO RELIEVE COYNE.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The senate committee on postoffices today authorized the introduction and report of a bill relieving Postmaster Coyne, of Chicago, from responsibility for the $74,000 worth of postage stamps stolen from the Chicago postoffice some time since. This action is in accordance with the recommendation of the postmaster general.

K. OF P. DISTRICT MEETING.

L. J. Geiss, keeper of records and seals of Phoenix lodge, No. 101, has received a letter from Grand Keeper Bowers, of Indianapolis, notifying him that the district meeting would be held at Huntington on February 20. The local district is composed of Allen, Huntington, Kosciusko and Whitley counties and Dr. R. F. Frost, of Huntington, is the district deputy. February 19 has also been designated as the day upon which to observe the thirty-eighth anniversary of the founding of the order. Dr. Frost, of Huntington, was one of the visitors to the city yesterday and he called on several dignitaries of the Pythian order while in the city. He said that Huntington members of the order are making amazing preparations for the entertainment of their guests on the 20th prox. and that they propose to make it the banner day of the order in this district. There will probably be a joint meeting soon of the two lodges in this city to prepare for the visit to the Lime city.

MOORE OUT OF JAIL.

Lloyd Moore, the man arrested two weeks ago for cruelty to animals, was released from jail this morning, his sentence having expired. Meantime some three dozen chickens and half a dozen turkeys were kept in the city hall basement, where they were regularly fed by the superintendent, who first tried them on corn fodder and bones until somebody told him that that was not the regular menu of well raised chickens; after that he provided corn. Moore was brought from the jail to the office of the superintendent, where he was told what he could expect in the future. The superintendent told him to take his poultry and dispose of it at once and then shake the dust of Fort Wayne from his feet. "I want you to move out and stay out," said the superintendent, "and I'll have you arrested on suspicion every time I find you here. You stole this lot of chickens, and you know it, and so do I, and the only reason you are not prosecuted on the charge is because the persons live so far away that they would rather lose the chickens than pay the expense of prosecuting you. But I want to tell you that that won't go again." Moore hung his head while the superintendent was talking, offered no defense and said he would leave town at once.

WILL TAX THE BREWERIES

MAYOR BOOKWALTER DECIDES ON MEASURE.

A New Source of Revenue for Indianapolis—Will Also Tax the Gas Mains.

Indianapolis, Jan. 18.—Mayor Bookwalter has asked City Attorney Joss to prepare ordinances for the taxing of gas mains, breweries and brewery agents and the attorney is drawing the ordinances.

The mayor says he expects, if the brewery ordinance passes, that the city will derive an income of about $12,000 a year from the tax, his intention being to tax each brewery and brewery agent $1,000 a year.

The gas-main tax ordinance will, in all probability, be drawn to tax natural gas companies three cents a foot on their mains.

Unless it is demanded by the people Mayor Bookwalter will not sign the meter ordinance, even though it passes the city council, where it is now pending. The mayor has kept silent on the meter question until yesterday, when, hearing that the council as a committee of the whole would take up the meter question after the regular council meeting Monday night, he said:

"I shall stand flatfooted on what I said in my letter of acceptance as to the compulsory use of gas meters."

LIABILITY IS CONCEDED.

Boston, Jan. 18.—A concession of liability by the Edison Electric Illuminating Co., in the subway explosion of March 4, 1897, in which a dozen persons were killed and scores were injured, promises to end speedily a mass of litigation for damages involving claims aggregating nearly $1,500,000. Previously the courts had found the Boston Gas Light Co. and the Edison Co. jointly liable, but the Edison Co. had contested the finding. From time to time the case has been postponed in view of the possibility of a settlement, and next Monday when the damage cases are called in court, on continuance, the announcement will be made that the Edison company concedes liability with the gas company. It is thought that this action will mean the payment of at least $500,000 of the damage claims by the Edison company. The explosion was said to have been caused by a spark from electric light wires igniting gas which had leaked from the gas company's pipes into the subway excavation at the corner of Tremont and Boylston streets.

ARBITRATION SETTLED.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Secretary Hay has received a telegram from Mr. Buchanan, president of the United States delegation at the Pan-American congress fully confirming the press reports that a complete understanding has been reached on the subject of arbitration before the congress. This subject was the only one promising serious difficulty in adjustment, and the officials are now satisfied that the congress will be a success. It is expected that, with this last obstacle removed, such rapid progress will be made in drawing up the final protocol and affixing the signatures of the delegates that the congress will be able to adjourn within the present month.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONGRESS

IMPORTANT CONVENTION TO MEET IN FORT WAYNE.

State Superintendent Carman Will Fix an Early Date in the Spring for the Meeting.

J. C. Carman, superintendent of the State Sunday School association, announces that there will be held in this state in the early spring eight Sunday school conventions, to be known as Field Workers' congress. The one in the northeastern part of the state will be held in Fort Wayne on the 20th and 21st of March and will include the following counties: Steuben, Lagrange, Noble, DeKalb, Whitley, Wabash, Huntington, Wells, Adams and Allen. Prominent Sunday school workers from this and other states will attend the meetings. Alfred Day, state superintendent of Michigan; Mary Foster Bryner, international primary worker, of Illinois; W. C. Hall, president of Indiana association; Mrs. D. W. Thomas, home department superintendent of Indiana; Rev. T. G. Pearce, of the Indiana normal department, and J. C. Carman, state superintendent, and others will take part in the Fort Wayne meeting. The object is to stimulate interest in the Sunday school and present up-to-date plans for teaching and conducting schools.

REUBEN S. PATTERSON.

Cliff Ellenwood, the Pennsylvania conductor, living on Laselle street, reported an outrageous bit of vandalism on Saturday which the police department will spare no effort to uncover. While skating on Reservoir lake Friday night his 15-year-old daughter was seized from behind and in a second about a foot of the middle braid of her hair was slashed off. The miscreant got away without being recognized and the girl cannot even give a fair description of him. The young miss is the possessor of an exceedingly fine head of hair, which she usually wears in long braids allowed to hang down her back. The act was committed out of pure, unadulterated meanness, Mr. Ellenwood is satisfied of, else the despoiler would have cut closer to the head. As it was only about half the length of one braid was taken—not enough to be of any commercial value, but just enough to disfigure the head. As stated, the matter was immediately taken up by the detective bureau and if diligent inquiry can effect anything the offender will be brought to justice.

Nearly everyone knows of our sale. If you should see a man who does not—tell about it. Do good when you can.

BUTCHERS IN CONVENTION.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 21.—The National Butchers' Protective association, organized in local, state and national bodies, and having a membership of 23,000, was represented by 165 delegates in a national convention in St. Louis yesterday. In the course of the proceedings resolutions were adopted calling an international convention of butchers in St. Louis in 1903.

A STUDY OF CONSUMPTION

The cause and cure of consumption is the subject of an interesting report to the department of state by United States Consul Covert, at Lyons, France, prepared from official reports. The annual number of deaths in Germany from consumption is stated at 170,000, of which 4,500 were charged to the single city of Berlin. It is estimated that the mortality from that disease in Austria is thirty-five for every 10,000 inhabitants. In Hungary the number of consumptives reaches over 400,000. In Buda-Pesth in a population of 492,237 there has been an average of 3,179 deaths from consumption per annum during the past five years. In twelve cities in Italy, the most populous of the kingdom, the average number of deaths from consumption was 337 per 100,000 inhabitants. In England it is reported that there are 150,000 to 200,000 sick with the disease and 41,000 deaths every year. In Switzerland, with 2,800,000 population, the number of consumptives reaches 50,000. In Portugal, with a population of 4,500,000, the deaths from consumption average 20,000 a year.

Pulmonary morbidity and mortality are very general in France. The number of persons sick with that disease is estimated at 500,000. The proportion of deaths is 49.9 per 10,000. Paris is one of the great centers of tuberculosis, with an average death rate of 49.9 from that disease. Statistics prove that consumption is increasing in France and Italy and is decreasing in England, Germany and some other countries. Its home is in all countries and it attacks persons of all ages. Statistics establish, however, that it is between the ages of 15 and 60 that a person is most exposed to it. Men are more subject to it than women, the proportion in Germany being stated at 35.48 among men and 28.55 among women.

FOSTERING CAUSES.

According to Consul Covert, it is not the breath of the consumptive which is contagious, the air which he expels not containing the germs, but it is the spittle, dried and reduced to dust, which is generally the agent of contagion. It is shown that sunlight very speedily—in a few hours, in fact—destroys the bacilli. It is also demonstrated that consumption is contracted through the respiratory organs, but also, but much less often, by milk and perhaps by meat of consumptive animals. The disease is by no means necessarily contagious. A healthy man, not predisposed, possesses a power of resistance to the bacilli, a natural immunity which enables him to escape the contagion.

Alcohol is considered by Consul Covert the great ally of consumption. "The influence of alcohol in developing consumption," he says, "is denied by no one today. All clinics have recognized this fact and Prof. Landouzy in a recent resume of his observations used the picturesque expression that 'alcohol makes the bed for tuberculosis.' Tuberculosis produced by alcohol generally occurs at an advanced age and its progress is very rapid. * * * The departments which are the greatest centers for tuberculosis are almost always those where there is the great consumption of alcohol. It is, therefore, of the first importance in the war against consumption to also combat drunkenness.

GERMS IN THE SPUTUM.

It should be thoroughly understood that the spread of this disease can be prevented. People must be prohibited from spitting on floors and the dried dust from expectoration must be rendered harmless. It has been proposed that the act of expectorating upon the ground or floor anywhere should be made a crime and punishable as such. Without going so far, for it seems to us it would be very difficult to prevent spitting in the street, it would suffice to confine the prohibition to buildings under the control of the state, depots, museums, etc. We should recall that this prohibition exists in America and has never called forth much criticism. Knopf reports that a few years ago in San Francisco a well-known millionaire, Mr. B——, was condemned to twenty-four hours in prison for violating this law.

Another precaution is profuse sprinkling before sweeping. This should apply to streets and sidewalks as well as to the interior of houses. Houses and apartments of consumptives should be thoroughly cleaned and ventilated after the departure of the patient.

In its general conclusions the report recommends careful inspection of meat and milk, the organization of a veritable crusade against tuberculosis in the barracks; the prohibition of the use of alcohol among the soldiers, a ration of 360 grammes of meat daily, the placing of large hygienic spittoons everywhere, raised three feet from the ground, and improved ventilation. The use of metallic spittoons containing an antiseptic solution is recommended and the floor should be well sprinkled before being swept. These recommendations also apply to the marine service, with the addition that all consumptives should be kept isolated. The use of disinfected metallic spittoons and the recommendation in regard to sweeping applies to all public buildings, depots, saloons, schools, places of amusement, etc.

HELD TO BE CURABLE.

The report declares that consumption is curable at all stages. Professor Bouchard is quoted as saying "this disease, which is so cruel to mankind, is curable in the greater number of cases. All medical action should be constantly inspired and directed upon the belief that the disease is curable. The contrary idea is nothing more than a historical souvenir."

Mr. Darenberg says that during the last ten years he has cured a number of consumptives, who have resumed their occupations, have married and now have healthy children. "I can even say," said he, "that I myself am the consumptive that I know the best, whom I have cured. I am therefore able to confirm that consumption is curable."

The consul concludes: "Pure air, such as is found on the seashore and on high mountains, is the best remedy for consumption. That air, free from microorganisms and dust, smoke, the numerous adulterations engendered by human activity, far from the industrial centers and the numerous fermentations of decaying substances in the large cities, contain all the necessary asceptique qualities. However, in order that this remedy should be effective this pulmonary asepsie should be continued; that is to say, the patient should not only keep his windows and doors open night and day, but he should perserve in this air cure for a long time. He should have plenty to eat and eat often, and should enjoy absolute physical and mental repose. Sanitariums for consumptives should be constructed in a place sheltered from unfavorable wind, in a healthy locality, in the neighborhood of pure water, where the air is free from dust and poisonous emanations; in an isolated spot a good distance from any large population, if possible, on the southern slope of a wooded hill or mountain where the summit of the hill and neighboring trees protect it from strong winds."

THE INDIAN DUCK TRICK.

A little tin or earthen pan, or sometimes a half cocoanut shell, supported on three stones, is filled with water, on which is sprinkled a red powder, rendering it practically opaque. A little duck of wood or porcelain is placed upon the surface, where it at first floats, but at the command of the performer suddenly dives, remaining submerged until again ordered to rise. This very ingenious trick depends upon the fact that in the bottom of the vessel there is a minute hole, through which passes a hair. One end of this is attached to the duck, the other remains at the disposal of the performer, and is attached, by means of a pellet of wax, to his tom-tom or to one of the hands with which he beats it. When he wishes the duck to dive he pulls the hair; when he desires it to rise he relaxes the pull. There is naturally some amount of leakage through the pinhole, and to cover this the performer takes care, when filling the pan, to accidentally (?) spill a little water. The ground being already wetted, the fact that it gets a little more is not noticed.—Chambers' Journal.

PARIS IS A CHARMING CITY.

The history of Paris begins with a collection of huts on the little island of La Cite, sheltering a horde of barbarians about the time when Caesar invaded the territory with his victorious army in the century preceding the Christian era. Paris grew century after century from such small beginnings, until the time of Louis XIV, who made it one of the greatest of European capitals in the splendor of its external appearance as well as its wonderful treasures of art. Napoleon I and Napoleon II did much to develop the city by improvements requiring immense sums of money.

More than any other city of Europe Paris today appeals to a wide variety of sculpture and architecture. It is an inexhaustible mine, yet at the same time it is regarded as a center of advanced thought and investigation in every department of science. The metropolis has been for centuries and still is the gayest and most brilliant city upon the face of the globe, but to appreciate the Parisian capacity for amusement it should be seen during the festival of July 14, the date of the falling of the bastile. The early part of the day is celebrated by a parade of the schoolboys of Paris, who are reviewed by the president of the republic in front of the Hotel de Ville in the very square where once the public executions took place—where the first victims of the great revolution of 1789 ere put to death, where Louis XVI made public submission to the people, where Lafayette presented Louis Philippe to his subjects and where 600 of the communists of 1871 perished while destroying the grand old Hotel de Ville.

No country in Europe surpasses France in the industry and self-respecting thrift of the people, yet in Paris is found on every hand picturesque groups of loungers adorning the steps of churches and public buildings. These quiet, orderly, apparently peaceful loungers are the very antithesis of the nervous, hurrying crowds in an American city, yet this same indolent class has formed a dangerous element in the body politic, for in times of political strife the fierce Parisian mob has been largely recruited from these idle people.—Detroit Free Press.

A PREHISTORIC MOUND

The plowshare of the farmer is slowly obliterating one of the first monuments left in southern Indiana by prehistoric man. One mile south of Petersburg, on the farm owned by James McCoy, is the largest mound in Indiana. That it was artificially constructed is beyond question, as there are no natural hills in the vicinity, and the land for miles around shows where the dirt was removed for its building. Whether thrown up as a perpetual monument to commemorate the virtues of the ancient mound builders, or laboriously constructed by the red men as a place of council, or a burying ground for departed braves, is a question that none can answer. It is believed, however, to be the work of a race that lived before the Indians, as the specimens of arms and various implements found in other Indiana mounds do not correspond in any way with the most ancient Indian relics found in this mound.

The mound is almost 500 feet in height. It covers five acres of ground. Until a few years ago the mound arose almost abruptly from the roadside, but the farmers who have tilled the adjoining fields have scaled the ascent higher and higher each year, until now almost one-half of the elevation is used for growing grain. When Pike county was first settled by white men a fort was erected a short distance from the mound, and the mound itself was used as a lookout station and a graveyard. Some of the old tombstones are still standing and mark the last resting place of many pioneers who died while pushing westward in search of the delusive fountain of health and fortune.

FRANCE WANTS MEN.

The alleged physical degeneration of the French race has caused numerous citizens of the republic a great deal of concern. One of the men who wanted to do something to improve his countrymen's stature was the late M. de Saint-Ouen de Pierrecourt, and he set about doing it in the characteristic French manner by offering a prize. He left 100,000 francs to the town of Rouen, the income from which is to constitute a prize to be given annually to the couple of the best physical appearance, who are willing to marry each other. The winning of this prize means modest competence to a frugal couple in France, and the town of Rouen rose up and with one acclaim declared that the donor was a public benefactor of the first water. The municipality claimed the right to bury the remains of the deceased and to erect a monument over his grave. His relatives insisted on their natural rights to perform these offices and the result was an action at law, which is still undecided, while the remains were committed to earth with scant ceremony. When the time for the first award rolls around the public will doubtless go into another ecstacy over the benefaction. It is to be hoped that the courts will have settled the question of who is entitled to build the monument before relatives and municipality lose interest in the project.

PEANUT MEN INVADE LONDON.

The floury potato and baked chestnut stalls are just now at a discount in the east end. It seems that a few weeks ago an enterprising American firm, mindful of the great success which has attended the street sales of hot peanuts in the United States, established a street oven for the sale of this delicacy at the junction of Bishopsgate with Shoreditch. The youths of the locality soon showed a decided preference for the crisp peanut, and the single oven venture being a most successful one, the firm decided to start other stalls, and in several parts of the east end hot peanuts were dispensed in large quantities.—London Express.

VAST FORTUNES AWAIT

Rewards for Inventors Who Meet the Needs That Have Not Yet Been Supplied to the World.

A few months ago a corporation made up of shrewd business men paid to Prof. M. I. Pupin, of Columbia university, a fortune for his invention of "ocean telephony," a deal based merely on theory backed by preliminary experiment, for there was no conclusive evidence that the Pupin invention would result in a single syllable ever being whispered from America to Europe. This transaction typifies the new conditions in the world of invention. The ablest inventors of past years have enriched innumerable other men, but have amassed for themselves little except fame—and that mostly posthumous. Henceforth the inventor's profit will be great and sure, and not he but the capitalist will assume the chances of failure.

In discussing the subject the other day Frederick Allen, the United States commissioner of patents, said: "I certainly do not agree with those persons who consider that we are approaching the end of invention. I believe that the whole creative realm will go on developing and expanding in proportion to the growth of the nation. The business of this office shows it. During the past quarter of a century there has been issued in this country more than half a million of patents or over three times as many as had been issued in the three-quarters of a century preceding it."

The imaginative mind naturally foresees the greatest possibilities of the future in the fields of electricity, aerial navigation and the harnessing of the great power forces of nature. It is interesting to note that this popular view has the support of Charles H. Duell, who but recently retired from the position of commissioner of patents. In discussing the matter Mr. Duell said:

"In my opinion all previous advances in the various lines of invention will appear totally insignificant when compared with those which the present century will witness. It will be but a few years until each private residence will be provided with its own plant or cooling room and cooling devices for houses will make bearable any climate under the stars and stripes; the sun and the wind will be completely harnessed, and possibly waves as well; automobiles will be in universal use and quadruplex apparatus should bring the cost of telephone service down to about ten cents a month."

Within the past few months devices have been patented which will enable Americans to talk with their cousins across the sea; which permit telephone messages and signals of various kinds to be transmitted through the earth or above or below the surface of the ocean without wires; which cause telephone messages to be recorded automatically and repeated mechanically hundreds of times; make it possible to transmit colored pictures by wire between distant points and enable the dispatch of sixteen telegraph messages over a single wire.

The future of electricity and of the whole transportation world waits upon the discovery of some means to harness the magic current and house it in light and compact form. For nearly a third of a centry inventors have been seeking to devise a storage battery that will answer all requirements and the specialist in novelties who first produces it has assuredly captured the grand prize in the lottery of invention—a "winning" that will bring him the fame of a Solomon and wealth beyond the dreams of avarice. Lately it was announced that Edison had solved the problem, and if his invention proves all that he claims for it, all the other marvels which have been brought forth from the wizard cabinet at Menlo park will pale in comparison.

A cheap, compact and durable storage battery will make possible electric air ships, steamless locomotives and horseless carriages of a character more perfect than has heretofore been dreamed of. Automobiles, the popular vehicle of the dawning century, have within a few months sustained a decline of hundreds of dollars in price owing to the perfection of equipment, but the discovery of the sorely needed storage battery would eventually make them within universal reach as any vehicle may be.

Even the subject of electric lighting has not been exhausted by any means. Greater brilliancy and the saving of the electrical energy now wasted so wantonly in present-day lighting systems are the goals to be reached, and the beginning has been made by the recent introduction of a modification of the old oxides as a light-emitting element has served to produce a glow which is more brilliant than an incandescent light and yet not so dazzling as an arc. Supplementary to electrical inventions proper will be the discoveries which may be expected in the field of electro-chemistry—"the new science." Already this new sphere has pointed a way to filch gold from ores which no other process could induce to release it and the newcomer among the sciences has awaiting it limitless possibilities for usefulness in the purification of water.

NO WEEPING IN HIS COURT.

According to a decision rendered by Judge Wiest, of Michigan, if a jury be influenced by the sight of beauty in distress its finding may be set aside and a new trial ordered. This revolutionary pronouncement came in connection with the case of Mrs. Bennett, who sued John Clear for the value of services claimed to have been rendered as housekeeper. A sympathetic jury awarded her $300, whereupon the defendant sought a new trial, alleging that the fair plaintiff's tears, shed most becomingly while the case was on trial, had influenced the jury in her behalf. The court held the contention to be valid, as there as nothing for her to weep about.—Kansas City Journal.

LOST PAPER MONEY.

It is estimated that of the United States paper money outstanding more than $10,000,000 has been lost or destroyed and will never be presented for redemption.

WHY TEA IS NOT POPULAR

The world's consumption of tea—aside from China and Japan, concerning which countries no statistics are available—is estimated at 550,000,000 pounds annually, of which the United States consumes about one-sixth. Great Britain and her colonies, Russia and the United States may be said to embrace the tea drinking world, but the Russians, who are popularly believed to be addicted to the "tea habit" and therefore heavy consumers, do not use as much tea per capita as do the people of the United States. This is accounted for, briefly, says the New York Sun, by the heavy duty—50 cents per pound—the monopoly, and the very inferior goods imported.

The large consumption of tea in England and Canada is attributed to the practical availability of only one kind of tea, 90 per cent. of all that is offered, sold and drank being of the "black" variety—India and Ceylon. But probably custom, sentiment and taste—those intangible qualities that laugh at weights and measures and are beyond the ken of statistics—are to be credited most.

Anyway, the Englishman does not possess any better quality at a lower cost than the American, for the tea consumed in England is subject to a duty of 6d (12c) per pound. Then, too, the American tea drinker is protected by rigid inspection laws from the very bad leaf marketed in other countries; as it is, the low grades offered are poor enough.

At the bottom of the difficulty met with in increasing consumption of tea in the United States, however, is the fact that small dealers and retailers make little profit. That is, they make less on one pound of tea than on ten pounds of coffee—which is the relative sale of the two staples, and, of course, the dealers will and do push the article that pays the more.

The poor people are the consumers of tea in this country, and sales are very largely of the lower grades or cargo teas, which retail at 30 cents to 40 cents per pound.

From the standpoint of economy the facts favor tea, as one pound of the leaf—making upward of 200 cups of tea—is equivalent to about eight pounds of coffee; the relative retail cost being 30 cents to 88 cents, respectively, (roasted package coffee being about 11 cents per pound).

But, apparently, the consumer sees only that, pound for pound, tea is the dearer. If it could be made plain that one-eighth pound of tea is equivalent to one pound of coffee and that one-fifth pound of tea can be purchased for 6 cents, while a pound of coffee costs 11 cents, some impression might be made.

But economy is not the strong point of the average American, and he will have what he likes, while eschewing what he thinks is being forced upon him.

CONSISTENT.

"Which season do you prefer?" asked the friend, "summer or winter?"

"It all depends," answered Mr. Sirius Barker, as he unwound a muffler from his neck. "In summer I prefer winter and in winter I prefer summer."—Washington Star.

DISCREET.

"That place you mention is regarded as a sinecure," said the politician.

"Then I don't want it," answered the applicant. "My observation has been that in order to hold a sinecure you've got to do enough hard hustling in active politics to earn the salary half a dozen times over."—Washington Star.

HOW SOUTH AMERICANS FIGHT

RIDICULED REVOLUTIONS ARE A GREWSOME REALITY TO THE SOLDIERS IN THE FIELD.

The ominous gathering of German and American warships off the coasts of Venezuela and Chile warrants the lively interest of professional fighting men in the possible belligerent powers of South American soldiers, writes Colonel Edwin Emerson, special correspondent of Collier's Weekly. It was with this object that I betook myself to South America, witnessed some desultory fighting on the Isthmus and in the Goajira, and finally joined Uribe-Uribe's forces as a commissioned officer. Accustomed to hear all South American warfare characterized as "opera-bouffe," I was struck by the grim humor of the play. It may be "opera-bouffe" for a lot of poor ragged boys, otherwise designated as soldiers, to run up against a barbed wire entanglement until the proper bullets find them, but afterward, when the camp women raise their shrill cries of lamentation and the vultures swoop down upon the battlefield, denouement of the play leaves you mirthless. In truth, it is a war which ceases to be "opera-bouffe" when one engagement leaves 1,300 on the field.

I recall a time when Uribe-Uribe rallied his little army of Colombian insurgents on Venezuelan soil to make a dash across the frontier into their native land. Among them were many boys in their teens and disheveled soldier women following the fortunes of their lords; other women stood in the doorways and wrung their hands. As I rode by a group of them I heard one of them exclaim passionately: "Ah, los pobrecitos! Manana se hay muchos muertos." ("Ah, the poor boys! Tomorrow there will be many dead.") The girl knew what she was talking about; she was the sister of President Castro.

By the time we came streaking back through that same little village we had lost some 600 men. They said that the enemy—meaning their own countrymen across the border—had lost twice as many. If they did, let it be hoped that they buried them. We did not bury ours.

That was not the worst horror. There were the men who had been shot through the body or were gashed with machete strokes whose wounds gangrened before your eyes until their time came to pass away in the throes of lockjaw. Plenty of others died of such ordinary failings as dysentery and plain camp fever. One day, when I accompanied our solitary army surgeon on his rounds, I began to realize why it was so hard to make their commander-in-chief smile. Yet the mortality of our camps, considering the utter inadequacy of the medical men, was remarkably low. As Uribe-Uribe once said, "our best doctor is the climate." It was indeed wonderful to see how men who had been shot straight through the body or who carried a bullet in their vitals not only survived but seemed to get well and hearty again of their own accord. I recall one poor wretch who was shot through one lung and had an arm shattered besides. All I was able to do for him was to stuff some culebra leaves into the open shot holes in his breast and back and to splint up his spoiled arm. When I last saw him his arm was well enough to handle a gun again and he no longer spat blood.

HAND-TO-HAND BATTLE.

In the Goajira—Venezuela's Indian territory—too, the army had but one medical man. He had lost his whole stock of medicines in the disastrous rout near Rio Hache. The last half hour of the battle had been fought out with the machete, and the effects were appalling. I came upon the battlefield shortly after the Venezuelans had yielded the ground. Around a rapid-fire gun where they had made their last stand the dead and dying lay in heaps. The head of one of the fallen gunners was all but severed from his body and another one of his dead comrades had his sword arm lopped off at the shoulder. The Colombian soldiers who ran up again the mitralladora had been mowed down in platoons. Those who had been struck full in the face were almost beyond recognition. Some of the survivors were not much better.

The day that I overtook Davila's army the men presented a heartrending sight, ragged, haggard and spent, their bodies covered with insect stings and their eyes yellow with fever. Even the officers went barefoot, and few had shirts to their backs. All were in mortal terror of the Indians. They had left their sick and wounded behind them, and told grewsome stories of what had befallen them. Their chaplain, who had undertaken to act as emissary to the Indans, had been brought back to them horribly mutilated, and had since died of his injuries.

LOOK LIKE CUTTHROATS.

Davila's staff were all generals of high rank, though none was over 40 years old. Some, like President Castro's brothers, for instance, were young fellows under 25. None wore a uniform, though all carried swords and pistols of widely different make. All were as dirty and unkempt as they could be, as was but to be expected after their disastrous rout and march through the Goajira. While some had high jack boots with enormous silver spurs, others wore Indian sandals or went barefoot. We stood around the campfire and poked for the broiling meat and plantains with our machetes. Of course, there were no forks nor spoons, and everyone drank his swig of aguardiente out of the same calabash. When we were through, we wiped our mouths on our sleeves, and our hands on our hair. The general effect was that of a band of genial cutthroats.

Presently we reached Sinamaica, a deserted town of some pretensions, infested by gnats and mosquitoes. Only the alcalde had remained in the town to receive the soldiers. General Davila clapped him into jail for letting his fellow towns folk depart. The soldiers did their best to demolish the empty houses. Nearby was a quaint Indian village of fishermen's huts, built on stakes in the Laguon of Sinamaica. The men still carried bows and arrows, and their wives and naked children paddled about in primitive canoes hollowed out of trees. Their manner of life was as aboriginal as that of the ancient lake dwellers. To reach their settlement boats were necessary, so the soldiers did not molest them.

BLUE BLOOD ON THE WATER.

Yachting has appropriately been called the sport of kings. Indeed, in these days of floating palaces few besides those with royal incomes can afford to indulge in the pastime. The number of royal yachts in existence and the immense sums lavished on them are amazing when it is taken into consideration how much royal and imperial personages are a prey to mal-de-mer. The German emperor is always ill when facing a gale at sea. The empress is a much better sailor in this respect. When the two of them went to the holy land the empress was the only person of the imperial circle on board who was not prostrated by seasickness during the trip down the Adriatic. Prince Henry of Prussin likewise confesses to seasickness each time on going to sea after being in port for a while. The duke of Cornwall is afflicted in the same way, and the duchess is such a martyr to seasickness that she hesitated for a long time before consenting to undertake the tour just concluded. She suffered intensely during the trip from Portsmouth to Gibraltar, the weather in the Bay of Biscay being very stormy.

King Edward, although devoted to yachting, has been absolutely prostrated by mal-de-mer when crossing the channel between Dover and Calais. Indeed, the only member of the English royal family who is absolutely immune from this ailment is the widowed duchess of Albany.

HOW TO KEEP WARM.

When the fires are commenced in late autumn you are struck by the fact that your rooms are very draughty. You sit near the fireplace, take an armchair or place something on the back of an ordinary chair, to keep the draught from your back and place your feet on the fender because they get so cold. You complain of being roasted in front and frozen at the back.

If you wish to keep really warm where there is a good fire you must seat yourself at some little distance from it—preferably in a position where you are out of the direct line from the door or window to the fire. The heat of the blazing coal draws the cold air toward it and up the chimney and thus makes you shiver. You may easily catch cold in that way.

The laws that govern ventilation and smoky chimneys are hard to understand. A room that is warm with a fire at one end and has a blocked chimney at the other will become cold and draughty as soon as you light a fire at the other end, and most probably one chimney will smoke hen both fires are lighted, although neither chimney smokes when the fire is only lighted in that grate which it serves. Again, the draught will differ according as the sun does or does not shine into the room.

RUMPLED RIBBONS.

To take the creases out of silk ribbons without making them shiny put them on an ironing cloth and lay a sheet of tissue paper over it. Press a hot iron firmly on one end and gradually draw the ribbon under it. Keep the iron stationary and repeat until the creases are out.

WILL BE CONNECTING LINK

ELECTRIC LINE FROM FORT WAYNE TO INDIANAPOLIS.

Indiana Northern Promoters Confident—McKinley Syndicate Has Solid Option.

With the completion of electric lines now in course of construction it will be possible to go from Fort Wanye to Indianapolis entirely over interurban lines. In this connection the Idianapolis News says:

"R. E. Breed, G. A. H. Shideler, of Marion, and Charles S. King, of Wabash, are at the head of a new company that proposes to build an electric line between Marion and Wabash that will be a connecting link in an interurban system between Fort Wayne and Indianapolis. Mr. Breed, who was in the city last night, said the new company will be known as the Indiana Northern and will have a private right-of-way. A line is now building between Fort Wayne and Wabash and the Union Traction operates from Marion to Indianapolis so that the new project will complete the line from Fort Wayne to this city."

IT IS UP TO THE BOYDS.

The Peru Chronicle says there is now hardly any doubt but that the McKinley syndicate has a solid option on the canal from Wabash to Lafayette. It is now up to the point as to what the Boyd syndicate proposes to do with their line—sell it to the McKinley syndicate or get squeezed out at length. The McKinley syndicate is a long line and not a jump-short affair. When completed as projected one can ride on it west as far as Peoria, Ill., and east as far as Toledo.

The British war office has placed with a Montreal firm an order for 1,000 tons of Manitoba flour for delivery in South Africa for the use of the army.

VERY MUCH WANTED.

THE LAST FEW YEARS HAS SHOWN A REMARKABLE INCREASE OF SLEEPLESSNESS—HOW TO OVERCOME IT.

Sleeplessness is one of the most prolific sources producing weak, nervous and restless conditions. There is no sense in using opiates—they only undermine the constitution. Nothing has ever been known to perfectly control this condition until the advent of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. Their action is so gentle and soothing, sweet, refreshing sleep follows; then nature has a chance to build up. Mrs. E. S. Hiner, of No. 32 Calhoun street., Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "I think as a nerve tonic Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Meyer Bros. & Co.'s drug store, No. 14 Calhoun street, are just fine. I was nervous, felt restless and listless and did not sleep. The medicine soon brought me back to a condition of health and strength, with steady nerves and an ability to sleep naturally nights."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

A regard stronger than that usually felt for a step-mother found lodgment in William's heart. The young Mrs. Randers looked with admiring eyes upon her good-looking step-son, and love soon took the place of admiration. THE COURT NEWS.

Deputy Clerk Nicodemus, of the superior court, Bailiff Joe Mason, of the circuit court, and General Custodian Scherer are all enjoying a vacation, which commenced on Monday. Nicodemus and Mason are candidates for the democratic nomination for county clerk and Mr. Scherer is willing to immolate himself on the altar for the county treasurership. The jury in the case of Joseph Shrack vs. Barney Borkenstein reached an agreement Wednesday night and presented a sealed verdict this morning upon the convening of the superior court. The finding was for the plaintiff in the sum of $300 and there has as yet been no notice of an intended motion for a new trial, or an appeal. The jury received the case yesterday afternoon and was eight hours in reaching a verdict; it is understood that there was at no time any difference among the jury as to the question of damages, but the question of amount was the tough bone of contention. Shrack was last summer employed as a laborer on line construction work by the Fort Wayne Traction company and while watching a live wire at the corner of Wayne and Calhoun streets offended Mr. Borkenstein, who struck him in the face with a whip, causing injuries to an already blinded eye, which, it is alleged, affected the other and good eye to the damage of $5,000. The jury thought differently and awarded damages in the sum of $300.

Anna Schotemeyer has commenced suit against the Union Life Insurance company to recover $1,025 on a policy held by her husband at the time of his sudden death a month or more ago. It may be remembered that the deceased, Frederick Schotemeyer, last September commenced divorce proceedings against his wife, who was then living in Kansas. In December she commenced suit against him at Russel, Kas., also asking for a divorce. A day or two later the husband dropped dead and now the widow, claiming that at the time of his death he was still her legal husband and therefore is entitled to recover the amount of the policy held by him when he died.

Judge Aiken has granted Arthur B. Chisholm a divorce from Myrtle B. Chisholm.

In July 1898 Frederick Meyers was divorced from Caroline Meyers, but the decree was never entered owing to the fact that the order of the court for the payment of costs had never been complied with. The plaintiff paid his attorneys $68, which he supposed covered the costs and over a year ago he remarried. Last April he discovered that his previous divorce was null. Friday Judge Aiken satisfied the record by making a nunc pro tunc entry approving the original decree and legalizing the marriage contract entered into during the interim.

Fred Peters, who was acquitted at police court on Tuesday of a charge of misappropriating money given him by his partner, Kramer, to purchase some calves has retained Attorney F. H. Kleekamp to bring suit against Butcher Kramer for damages, claiming false imprisonment.

The damage suit of Mary A. Schmitt vs. the Pennsylvania company, in an action relating to the death of her husband while in the defendant's employ, has been transferred from the Allen circuit to the United States district court.

FRIGHTFUL ERROR

ENGINEER SIBLE VICTIM OF A HALLUCINATION.

SHOUTED TO HIS FIREMAN

"JUMP FOR YOUR LIFE, BURT," AND LEAPED HIMSELF.

FOUND WITH SKULL CRUSHED

NOW IN HOSPITAL WITH LITTLE CHANCE TO LIVE.

As the result of a strange hallucination, J. E. Sible, an old and trusted engineer of the Wabash railroad, was fatally injured last Tuesday night. He was at the throttle of the big locomotive of the limited, which was thundering along at a rate of forty miles an hour. When the lights of the town of Attica appeared, the old engineer gave a start and shouted to Burt Frick, his fireman:

The sentence was not finished, for in an instant Sible had applied the safety brake, reversed the lever and had jumped to escape the spectre his harassed nerves had conjured up. The fireman followed, but was not injured. The train came to a stop and Frick went back to find the engineer. The latter lay on the roadbed horribly injured. His skull had been crushed, an arm and a leg broken, his ribs fractured and his spine injured. He was carried aboard the train. Meanwhile an investigation showed that there had been no danger to the train. The signal lights of the switch showed an unobstructed path. Sible was taken to the company's hospital at Peru, where he managed to gasp out his story. According to Fireman Frick, Sible has been more or less nervous since he was in a wreck at Lafayette some months ago. The passengers were shaken up by the sudden stopping of the train, but none of them were injured.

At the scene of the wreck there is a curve in the road, forming an almost complete crescent. At the west end of the curve is a deep rock cut and at the other end is the Attica station and the bridge across the Wabash river. There was a freight standing upon the siding between the bridge and the rock cut, with its lights covered so as to not be visible to the engineer. As the train came out of the rock cut, Mr. Sible probably saw through the darkness the dim outlines of the freight cars and the lights in the city and imagined that he was about to dash into the train. Without a moment's hesitation, he applied the brakes, reversed the engine, shouted to his fireman and sprang from the cab, with the result told in the foregoing.

John Sible is an Allen county boy, his father now residing upon a farm a short distance from Churubusco. Twelve or fifteen years ago he left the farm and came to this city. For some time he was employed as a driver by the Adams Express company and later worked in the same capacity for the American Express company. Eight or nine years ago he went to Ashley and took a position as fireman on the Wabash road and was soon promoted to engineer. Then he was transferred to the Toledo division and for a long time ran through this city. Last summer he was assigned to the accommodation run out of this city and during his service in that department he and his wife and two children boarded with Mrs. Bond, on Baker street. Mrs. Sible was formerly Miss Zimmerman, who resided with her mother a number of years on Lafayette street, between Berry and Wayne.

ALLEN COUNTY ON THE LIST

NEW ELECTRIC ROAD MAY BE HEADED THIS WAY.

LaPorte and Michigan City Company Changes Name and Turns Toward Fort Wayne.

There are indications that another electric railroad is headed in this direction, though at present nobody in the city appears to be in position to give definite information concerning it. There has, however, been filed in the office of the secretary of state a certificate setting forth that the name of the LaPorte and Michigan City Railroad company has been changed to the Chicago and South Shore Railroad company.

The certificate further shows that the road will operate in the counties of Lake, Porter, Elkhart, Kosciusko, Noble, Whitley and Allen. The naming of these counties is accepted as meaning that the road will ultimately be built through Porter and Lake counties to the Illinois state line and east and southward to establish communication between Laporte and Fort Wayne and contiguous points.

BURIED GOLD FOUND.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Jan. 16.—Buried in the ground in old tin cans $34,000 in gold has been found on the farm of Mrs. Rozella Wright, who died Jan. 4, near this city. How long this money has lain in the ground no one knows, and its location was known only by one person, Miss Sallie Williams, a woman whom Mrs. Wright reared from childhood. At Mrs. Wright's death she left a will in which she made bequests to relatives and friends amounting to $4,011, Miss Williams receiving $1,000. John Potter was named as administrator of the estate, and besides a farm valued at $4,000 he found $6,000 to Mrs. Wright's credit in a local bank. He believed that this was all of the estate until Miss Williams divulged the secret of the hidden treasure. The money was all in $20 gold pieces. Mrs. Wright was eighty-four years old at the time of her death.

LOCAL CONCERNS PROFIT.

There has been a scramble upon the part of Fort Wayne concerns to take advantage of the recent copper war which has resulted in a drop of nearly fifty per cent. in the price of copper wire, and many of the companies will profit largely by it. The Home Telephone company, the Fort Wayne Traction company and other extensive users of copper wire have recently made extensive purchases of the product at the reduced prices.

Ray Winebrenner, the young son of the Hecla blacksmith, who committed suicide at Columbia City some weeks ago, caused a sensation at Etna a few days ago and got himself in jail by demanding poison with the evident intention of committing suicide. He was refused, when he made a vicious attack upon the druggist. It took the whole population to capture the young man, who was firmly bound by ropes and several hours later turned over to the sheriff.

COMES TO APPEAL FOR BOERS.

New York, Jan. 18.—Dr. G. L. B. Clark, ex-member of parliament for Caithness and formerly consul general of the Orange Free State in London, will arrive in New York on the steamship Ivernia on some mysterious mission, cables the World's London correspondent. His exertions in th Boer cause have evoked bitter animosity among the "jingoes" and it is now alleged that he has gone to Washington to influence President Roosevelt toward intervention. This object was attributed to him in an interview by a correspondent of the Paris Matin, but Dr. Clark denied having said so. Whereupon the correspondent, in a letter to the Times, repeated his statement.

A KISS OF DEATH

SOLDIER ANSWERS CARESS WITH A BULLET.

MUNCIE STIRRED BY MURDER

RETURNED TROOPER SHOOTS YOUNG WIFE.

WERE BUT LATELY REUNITED

MURDERER FAILS IN EFFORT TO COMMIT SUICIDE.

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 15.—While in the act of kissing his young and pretty wife and making plans for their future Charles Pittser, aged 22 years, a soldier who recently returned from the Philippines, suddenly drew a revolver in the home of William Cavanaugh, at Seventh and Blaine streets, yesterday afternoon, and shot the young woman to death. The mad impulse of the frenzied husband came without warning and three shots were fired at close range, one of the bullets piercing the victim's heart and killing her instantly.

The murderer left the body of his young wife lying on the floor and fled, attempting to swallow strychnine as he ran, closely pursued by citizens and police officers, who were attracted by the shooting.

FAILS TO END HIS LIFE.

He was captured a short distance from the scene of the tragedy and was taken in the ambulance to a physician's office as it was believed he had been successful in his attempt to take poison. It was discovered that he had not swallowed enough of the strychnine to injure him, and he was hurried to the jail to prevent possible mob violence.

The murderer and his victim, who was Miss Dona Cox, of Middletown, were united in marriage about three years ago. It is said they quarreled and Pittser deserted his wife and enlisted in the army in the Thirty-first United States infantry. His regiment was sent to the Philippines. Pittser was recently mustered out of service and returned to his home and affected a reconciliation with his wife. They were apparently very much attached to each other, and it is said were completing arrangements to move to this city to live.

RELATIONS WERE PLEASANT.

Mrs. Cavanaugh, sister of the murdered woman, stated yesterday that Pittser met his wife by appointment at Daleville several days ago and that the reunited husband and wife were apparently very happy. They came to this city and had been at the Cavanaugh home for several days. Mrs. Cavanaugh says a short time before the crime was committed she heard her sister and Pittser in an adjoining room laughing and talking as they laid plans for the establishment of a home at Muncie. Their relations during the time Pittser and his wife stayed at the Cavanaugh's were pleasant. Mrs. Cavanaugh says, and the first intimation of trouble was when she heard the fatal shots fired.

KILLED WHILE KISSING MURDERER.

She had just passed to the door an instant before the murder was committed and says she saw her sister in the act of imprinting a kiss on the murderer's lips.

Pittser paces the floor of his narrow cell in the jail and refuses to talk of the tragedy. He says he remembers of shooting a woman, but will make no other statement. He nervously peers around his cell as if he was being pursued and frequently gives out to wild screams. It is believed his mind is unbalanced or that he is feigning insanity.

Pittser is a son of Henry Pittser, a well-to-do resident of Yorktown. Miss Cox was the daughter of prominent parents near Middletown.

Frank and Wilson Hamilton this morning pleaded guilty to hunting upon the enclosed lands of William Orr, of Aboit township. They had no permit from the owner and Justice Huser assessed a fine of $10 and costs in each case, which fine was stayed on the docket.

LEONARD CHOSEN

RE-ELECTED DISTRICT CHAIRMAN BY REPUBLICANS.

CONVENTION IS HELD HERE

JOHN MORRIS, JR., ENDORSED

E. V. HARRIS MADE REPUBLICAN COUNTY CHAIRMAN.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

Elmer Leonard, of this city, was unanimously re-elected a member of the republican state central committee by the Twelfth district convention in session this afternoon at the assembly room of the court house.

There was a very good representation of delegates from every county in the district present when Chairman Leonard called the convention to order at 1:34 o'clock, and upon motion of R. B. Hanna, Judge Frank S. Roby, of Auburn, was made chairman of the convention. Mr. Roby accepted the place in a graceful speech, in the course of which he expressed confidence that the republican counties of the district would show increased majorities in the coming campaign, and that in democratic counties the majorities would be reduced. Judge Roby then read the convention call, and Sol. A. Wood, of Steuben county, presented the name of John T. Dougall, of this city, as secretary. Mr. Dougall was chosen, with the republican newspaper men present as assistants.

R. B. Dreibelbiss, of this city, introduced a resolution endorsing the candidacy of John Morris, jr., for a place upon the United States district bench, and it was passed unanimously.

W. E. Doud moved that the chair appoint a committee on resolutions to which all resolutions be referred. It was carried, and Judge Vesey arose to ask the suspension of the rules for a resolution which he presented, endorsing Judge Roby, now of the appellate bench, for the place upon the supreme court bench to be vacated by the appointment of Judge Frank E. Baker. Judge Vesey put the motion and it was carried unanimously. Judge Roby arose and said:

"The chair is overcome. The chair may properly say that he is not a candidate for the place, but he may also say, sub rosa, that if he is selected for the place he will take it."

Judge Roby then appointed John Morris, of Allen; Mr. Mains, of Whitley; T. M. Reed, of Noble; J. N. Babcock, of Lagrange; Mr. Bishop, of DeKalb, and Sol. A. Wood, of Steuben, as the committee on resolutions.

J. E. Rose, of Auburn, moved that the convention proceed with the selection of a chairman, and when his motion prevailed Mr. Rose presented the name of Elmer Leonard, of Fort Wayne, for the place. Mr. Rose paid the highest compliment to Mr. Leonard as a gentleman and as a man eminently qualified for the chairmanship. Mr. Leonard's nomination was promptly seconded by R. B. Dreibelbiss and J. B. Harper, of Allen; B. E. Gates, of Whitley; E. G. Melendy, of Steuben; J. S. Conlogue, of Noble, and by a delegate from Lagrange. R. B. Hanna moved that the selection of Mr. Leonard be made unanimous, and the vote was carried with much enthusiasm.

There were repeated calls for Mr. Leonard, and as he arose to speak there was vociferous applause. He expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred in his re-election, and pledged his efforts for the success of the republican party in this district.

The resolutions were presented by John Morris, of Allen, for the committee, and were quite lengthy. Allegiance to republican principles was reaffirmed, the administrations of both McKinley and Roosevelt were endorsed; there was a feeling reference to the martyred president; the recommendations of the president upon the currency question were endorsed; additional rural free delivery was favored, as was also the construction of the Isthmian canal, and SenatorsFairbanks andBeveridge, aswell as Governor Durbin and Lieutenant Governor Gilbert were also commended for their services to the people, and were given an expression of confidence. After a clause expressing regret at the death of ex-President Harrison, had been added upon the suggestion of H. A. Rogers, of this city, the resolutions were adopted.

This concluded the business of the convention, but there were calls for a number of speakers, and brief addresses were delivered by Lieutenant Governor Gilbert, Judge R. S. Taylor and R. B. Hanna.

NEW COUNTY CHAIRMAN.

Attorney E. V. Harris, of this city, was elected chairman of the Allen county republican central committee this afternoon. Ronald R. Purman was chosen as vice chairman.

Chairman H. G. Keegan called the meeting of the Allen county committee to order shortly after 1 o'clock. Not all the members of the county committee were present, but a number had issued proxies. John T. Dougall was chosen secretary of the meeting.

When nominations for chairman were asked for Judge W. J. Vesey arose and presented the name of E. V. Harris. A number of delegates to the district convention were seated in the room and there was some confusion about the doors, so that at this juncture a motion was carried requesting all who were not members of the committee to retire. P. L. Zorbaugh then presented the name of Attorney Thomas J. Logan for chairman. There were no other nominations and the committee proceeded to ballot, with the following result:

Harris, 17; Logan, 6.

Mr. Harris was declared elected and as he took the chair expressed his thanks for the honor and spoke of the work of the approaching campaign, laying particular stress upon the necessity of harmony in the ranks of the party.

John T. Dougall presented the name of Ronald Purman for vice chairman. There were no other nominations and Mr. Purman was elected unanimously.

By a vote of the committee the chairman was empowered to select the secretary of the committee, and the choice of a treasurer was deferred until the next meeting of the committee. Chairman Harris was also empowered to appoint his advisory and executive committees, subject to the approval of the central committee. This concluded the business and the meeting adjourned to make way for the district convention.

THE COUNTY COMMITTEE.

The members of the republican central committee for Allen county, so far as had been reported to Chairman Keegan at the opening of the meeting this afternoon, were as follows:

HOLD CONVENTION APRIL 30

District Chairmen Meet in This City Today and Fix Upon Kendallville as Place.

In response to an invitation extended by District Chairman S. B. Fleming, the several democratic county chairmen of the Twelfth district met at the Wayne hotel Wednesday last. There were present Chairmen Frank Dunten, of Lagrange; W. K. Sheffer, of Steuben; C. A. Shorb, of Noble, and H. C. Berghoff, of Allen; Chairman Fleming held the proxies of Whitley and DeKalb. The stated business of the meeting was the fixing of a day and place for holding the congressional convention, and that matter was speedily disposed of. It was unanimously decided to hold the convention at Kendallville at 1:30 p. m. on Wednesday, April 30. After disposing of the business in hand the gentlemen named went into executive session and discussed matters of importance only to themselves as chairmen. The prospects of party success in the state were discussed liberally and Chairman Fleming invoked the loyal support of every county organization in the district for State Chairman O'Brien.

FIGHTING BLACKLIST CASE.

Wellsville, Ohio, Jan. 15.—As a result of the sitting of the grand jury at Lisbon, Ohio, yesterday, D. S. Brookman, manager of the Wellsville plant of the American Sheet Steel company, was indicted on the charge of discharging one Leonard Shaffer, an employe at the local mills.

Shaffer was one of the men who went out on a strike last summer in order to join the Amalgamated association. When the strike was settled he was taken back in the mill and was given a job of rolling. A few weeks ago, it is alleged, Manager Brookman called him into his office and asked him for his "union card." Shaffer refused to give it up and a few days thereafter he was discharged. The Amalgamated association took up Shaffer's case, with the above result.

The case is one of unusual interest and will be bitterly contested. Judge P. M. Smith, of this city, has been employed to defend Mr. Brookman.

WILL SAVE SOUVENIRS.

The old Berry street M. E. church building, at Berry and Harrison streets, which is soon to give way to a handsome modern business structure, is to be perpetuated in an appropriate souvenir, which is now being issued by the Epworth League, connected with the church. The souvenir is in the form of a handsome photograph showing the historic old house of worship with the parsonage adjacent, and there is already a large demand for the pictures. The building was among the earliest of Fort Wayne's more pretentious houses of worship and there is a very general desire to possess a souvenir commemorative to the old structure, which has been a landmark in the city for many years.

FORAKER IS AGAIN ELECTED

The Senator Makes a Speech Thanking His Friends—Gorman's Election is Ratified.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 15.—What interest was lacking in the present session of the Ohio legislature was fully made up today at the time fixed for the formal re-election of Joseph B. Foraker to the United States senate. There was a one-hour session of the senate at 10 o'clock, which was adjourned.

Senator Foraker had practically no opposition, the division being purely partisan, the democrats supporting Hon. Charles H. Baker, of Cincinnati. Every republican present passed his vote for Senator Foraker. The election of Senator Foraker was purely informal. There were no addresses except that of the senator, and no demonstration except the spontaneous applause which greeted the senator when he was introduced to the general assembly.

The ballot of yesterday taken by the separate houses was confirmed in joint session.

PAYNE TAKES OFFICIAL OATH

NEW POSTMASTER GENERAL SWORN IN.

Washington, Jan 15.—In the presence of the president and his cabinet, the entire Wisconsin delegation in congress; Governor Durbin, of Indiana; Senator Hanna, and a number of other friends, Harry C. Payne, of Wisconsin, was sworn in as postmaster general at 10:05 o'clock this morning, in the cabinet room at the white house. The oath was administered by Chief Justice Fuller. The retiring postmaster general, Charles Emory Smith, also was present, as well as Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Payne, wife of the new member of the president's official family.

At the conclusion of the ceremony President Roosevelt advanced toward Mr. Payne and with a smile and hearty handshake, addressed him as "Mr. Postmaster General." Mr. Payne then received the congratulations of all present, after which he engaged in a long private conversation with the president.

Mr. Payne took charge at the postoffice department about noon. The personnel of the department, who are in the city, were presented to the new postmaster general and took leave of Mr. Smith this afternoon. Mr. Smith will leave Washington probably tomorrow, though possibly not until Friday. He will return, however, to attend the Gridiron club dinner a week from next Saturday night.

He was a building contractor in this city for many years, but has lived in retirement for some time.

PASSED BY HOUSE

PENSION APPROPRIATION IS DISPOSED OF.

NO AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

HALE TALKS OF MILITARY

Washington, Jan. 15.—The house this afternoon passed the pension appropriations bill carrying over $139,000,000. No amendments were adopted and the closing debate was without special feature.

IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, Jan. 15.—When the house met today Mr. Montague Lessler, who was recently elected to succeed Mr. Nicholas Muller, of New York, was sworn in. Many of Mr. Lessler's friends were in the gallery and gave him a rousing reception when he took the oath.

Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, then presented the resolution for holding the McKinley memorial exercises in the hall of the house on February 27, and it was unanimously adopted.

THE RESOLUTION.

"Whereas, The melancholy event of the violent and tragic death of William McKinley, late president of the United States, having occurred during the recess of congress and the two houses sharing in the general grief and desiring to manifest their sensibility upon the occasion of the public bereavement: Therefore,

"Resolved, By the house of representatives (the senate concurring) that the two houses of congress will assemble in the hall of representatives on a day and hour fixed and announced by the joint committee, to-wit, Thursday, Feb. 27, 1902, and that in the presence of the two houses there assembled an address upon the life and character of William McKinley, late president of the United States, be pronounced by the Hon. John Hay and that the president pro tem and the speaker of the house be requested to invite the president and ex-presidents of the United States: ex-vice presidents, the heads of the several departments, the judges of the supreme court, the representatives of foreign governments, the governors of the several states, the lieutenant-general of the army and the admiral of the navy and such officers of the army and navy as have received the thanks of congress, who may then be at the seat of government ,to be present on the occasion and such others as may be suggested by the executive committee. And be it further

"Resolved, That the president of the United States be requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to Mrs. Ida S. McKinley and to assure her of the profound sympathy of the houses of congress for her personal affliction and of their sincere condolence for the late national bereavement."

OTHER BUSINESS.

Mr. Moody, of Massachusetts, reported a joint resolution appropriating $90,000 in connection with the government exhibit at the Charleston exposition. Mr. Payne, of New York, opposed the measure. Mr. Moody said that with this resolution the government's expense in connection with the Charleston exposition would cease. The resolution was passed.

Mr. Payne called up the bill to allow the redemption of war revenue stamps within two years and it was passed.

A resolution was passed authorizing the secretary of the treasury to return bank checks and drafts with war revenue stamps, after such stamps were cancelled. The house then went into committee of the whole to consider the pension appropriation bill.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, Jan. 15.—When the senate convened today Mr. Hoar, in presenting a petition from railroad, insurance and shipping interests, praying for the construction of lighthouses in some dangerous places where lightships are located now, said that a proposition had been made by a responsible and intelligent builder to construct lighthouses at points where government engineers had considered it impracticable to build lighthouses. He thought such a proposition ought to be treated with respect. It was an illustration of the marvelous inventive ability of this nation.

SPIRITED DISCUSSION.

A spirited discussion was precipitated by Mr. Hale, of Maine, in respect to the value to the country of a militia force. In introducing some bills relating to the organization and maintenance of a naval reserve, Mr. Hale declared that the reliance placed by some people upon the naval reserve never would be realized.

"If," he said, "we are to become a great war power we will have to learn the lesson other nations have learned. Every one of the nations of the world that stand snarling at another depends to some extent upon some sort of compulsory military service."

England had learned this lesson from her smallest and wickedest war. Mr. Hale declared that England was about to resort to conscription to raise men to fight "a band of freemen thousands of miles away."

WANTS SOME OF THE GLORY.

In the course of the debate Mr. Tillman spoke of the achievements of the South Carolina troops in the revolutionary war and said that the battles fought in that state were more important than those fought in Massachusetts. "We don't want Massachusetts to bag all the glory," he said, "for, as our illustrious Admiral Schley has said of a later triumph of our arms, 'There is glory enough for all.'"

Mr. Hoar presented a resolution, which was agreed to, calling upon the president to inform the senate whether the state department had any official information as to whether the British government charges duties on goods intended for prisoners of war in Bermuda, in violation of the fifteenth article of The Hague convention. He stated that information had reached him from a high authority that such duties have been imposed.

At 1:12 p. m. the senate went into executive session.

WANT FREE TRADE.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The senate committee on the Philippine islands today had under consideration the house Philippine tariff bill, but upon the request of the democratic members for more time, adjourned until next Monday without reporting the bill.

All the amendments suggested by the republican members were adopted. The most important of these amendments reduces to the extent of 25 per cent. the rate of duty collected upon Philippine articles coming into the United States and also provides for a further reduction equivalent to the export duty charged on such articles when shipped from the Philippines. The 25 per cent. reduction is accomplished by providing for the payment of 75 per cent. of the duty required by the Dingley tariff act.

Senator Lodge, chairman of the committee, expressed the opinion after the committee adjourned that a report on the bill would be secured at the meeting Monday. He also said that the total reduction made by the committee on the Philippine sugar coming into the United States would amount to about 35 per cent.

The democratic members of the committee did not suggest any amendments, but it is understood they will press for a still further reduction of rates.

After the committee adjourned the democratic members of it held a conference and decided to present a minority report to the senate recommending that so long as the Philippine islands remain a part of the territory of the United States, free trade be permitted between the islands and this country, and urging that the islands shall be put upon an independent footing at as early a day as possible, when they will suggest that the full Dingley rates be charged on Philippine imports.

Washington, Jan. 16.—When the senate convened today it was decided on motion of Mr. Hale, of Maine, that when the senate adjourned today it be until next Monday.

A bill was reported and passed providing that persons living in Porto Rico and the Philippines may execute deeds for property in the district of Columbia and territories of the United States.

Upon request of Mr. Hoar the resolution adopted yesterday in reference to supplies sent to Boers in Bermuda was recalled, the senator saying the United States had not adopted the particular provision of The Hague treaty covering this question. The resolution went to the foreign committee for investigation.

The house concurrent resolution providing for memorial services Feb. 27, in honor of the late President McKinley was adopted.

Mr. Mallory, of Florida, and Mr. Clay, of Georgia, declared they had been misrepresented in a New York paper, which said they favored the Panama canal. Both said they were for the Nicaragua canal.

Senator Nelson called up his bill to establish a department of commerce and a number of minor amendments were adopted.

Mr. Hale sharply criticised the department of commerce bill, saying it proposed to strip other departments of important bureaus and make the new department the most important in the cabinet. He made reference to "navies" in the various departments and Mr. Tillman said he would like to include one more navy to the list. "That's the army transport service. It is assuming great proportions and about it I have heard some scandal."

The senate passed the house resolution appropriating $90,000 to pay the expenses of the government exhibition at the Charleston exposition.

Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, introduced a bill prepared by the Pacific coast senators and representatives for Chinese exclusion. He said that the gentlemen who prepared it agreed to its provisions generally, but reserved the right to offer amendments when the bill was under consideration.

The senate at 2:27 p. m. went into executive session.

FIXED ISLAND PARK DATES

ASSEMBLY DIRECTORS WERE IN SESSION HERE.

Rome City People Confer With Superintendent Hunter—Promise a Great Program.

The session of Island Park assembly at Rome City for 1902 will commence July 23 and continue in progress twenty-three days, closing August 15.

This was decided upon at a meeting held in the office of Supt. J. W. Hunter, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad, in Fort Wayne on Wednesday afternoon. Those present included Mr. Hunter and the board of assembly directors, H. G. Cobbs, M. F. Owen and W. A. Williams, of Rome City. The meeting was called for the purpose of fixing the dates for the assembly and to formulate plans for beginning work upon the program.

At the close of the conference Mr. Owen said to a reporter for The Sentinel: "We are going to have the best assembly ever given at Rome City and work has already begun upon the preliminary details. The past few seasons have been very encouraging and we hope to vastly increase the attendance and interest this year. There will be no radical departure from old methods of conducting the Chatauqua, but we are going to secure the best platform talent available, and the people will be well repaid for coming. At least $3,500 will be spent upon the program."

ELECTED DIRECTORS.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Haberkorn-Haley Manufacturing company was held last week and the following board of directors was chosen: F. L. Jones, E. W. Cook, T. H. Haberkorn, J. A. Shoaff, H. A. Vesey, F. D. Hoham and G. H. Loesch. Reports of the president, secretary and treasurer were presented, showing the affairs of the company are in a most gratifying condition. Officers will be elected by the board of directors at its meeting in February. The engine which is to furnish power for the new works is nearly completed. It is being built after the Haberkorn-Haley models.

HALF HOUR OF SUSPENSE.

Frank Miller, a driver, employed by Soliday, Hite & Co., residing at 312 Thomas street, had an experience last week which he will not soon forget. Miller crawled through a freight train at the Gay street crossing, when in some manner his foot caught and he was thrown heavily forward. Being partially stunned he was unable to extricate himself for more than half an hour and lay with one foot across the rail in momentary expectation of having it crushed off. Fortunately no train came for some time and Miller at last succeeded in wrenching himself free. He sustained a badly wrenched ankle and will be confined to his home for some time.

FAIRBANKS LEADS

WILL CONTROL ITS WORK

MEETINGS ALL HARMONIOUS

PERSONNEL OF THE COMMITTEE JUST CHOSEN.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—Republicans of Indiana organized for the coming campaign by meeting in delegate conventions yesterday, in the cities designated for that purpose in the thirteen congressional districts of the state. Harmonious action and hopeful enthusiasm were the distinguishing features of all the meetings.

THE NEW COMMITTEE.

First District—George A. Cunningham, Evansville.

Fourth District—Oscar H. Montgomery, Seymour.

Fifth District—Julian D. Hogate, Danville.

Sixth District—Miles K. Moffett, Connersville.

Seventh District—Floyd A. Woods, Indianapolis.

Eighth District—George T. Lilly, Anderson.

Ninth District—Fred A. Sims, Frankfort.

Tenth District—Thomas J. McCoy, Rensselaer.

Eleventh District—Adam Beck, Huntington.

Twelfth District—Elmer Leonard, Fort Wayne.

Thirteenth District—Walter Brown, Elkhart.

SEVERAL RE-ELECTONS.

Several of the old committeemen were re-elected. The most noteworthy of these was in the First district, where George A. Cunningham, who has been at death's door for several days, and still is in a very critical condition, was unanimously named to succeed himself and in addition was sent a cheering message of comfort by his fellow party workers. Other men who were again called to the same field of party service were George W. Self, in the Third district; Miles K. Moffett, in the Sixth; Fred A. Sims, in the Ninth; Thomas J. McCoy, in the Tenth and Elmer Leonard, in the Twelfth. Nearly all the chairmen called their committees together and fixed the dates and places for the district conventions to nominate candidates for members of congress.

A FAIRBANKS VICTORY.

The Sentinel says:

"In the election of republican committeemen in the different districts yesterday Senator Fairbanks won signal victories in almost every district and the effort of Senator Beveridge to gain control of the state organization has failed. The indications point to the re-election of James P. Goodrich, of Winchester, as chairman without opposition, as nearly all the committeemen are known to favor him.

"In only one or two districts at the most did Senator Beveridge succeed in naming the committeeman, although fights were started originally in every district. Walter Brown, in the Thirteenth, is credited by some with being a Beveridge man, and by others with being a Fairbanks supporter. George Lily, who was chosen to succeed Chairman Goodrich as committeeman from the Eighth district, is said to be favorable to the junior senator. The other committeemen are either neutral or outright Fairbanks supporters.

FIGHT IN THE SIXTH.

"In the Sixth district the re-election of Miles K. Moffett was a distinct Fairbanks victory and the re-election of Thomas J. McCoy in the Tenth district is regarded in the same light. John Billheimer, the new committeeman from the Second district, is for Fairbanks, while Harvey Cushman, who was defeated, was counted a Beveridge man.

"No opposition has developed to Chairman Goodrich and he will undoubtedly be re-elected. The committeemn are divided in regard to the secretary and it is not likely the question will be settled until the committeemen meet here to reorganize. Many politicians are predicting that Warren Bigler, of Wabash, will accept the position for another term."

The prevention of consumption is entirely a question of commencing the proper treatment in time. Nothing is so well adapted to ward off fatal lung troubles as Foley's Honey and Tar. Sold by Dreier & Bro., Pellens & Polster.

Thirty million stamps bearing King Edward's portrait were placed on sale in the postoffices throughout England on New Year's day.

CONFESSES CRIME

SLEW A MAN IN MICHIGAN

PRESIDENT MORRISSEY ILL

GENERAL NEWS OF THE STATE OF INDIANA.

Elkhart, Ind., Jan. 17.—It seems probable that James S. Mather, a well known citizen of this city, who is now a patient at Longcliff hospital for the insane at Logansport, may be called upon to answer for the death of Peter Olson, which occurred near Muskegon, Mich., twenty-six years years ago. After years of silence Mather confessed the crime, because, as he expressed it, he could not be arraigned for a capital crime after the expiration of twenty-five years. He declares that his periodical attacks of insanity are due to remorse over the deed.

These statements were made during his confinement in the city jail pending his commitment to the asylum. They were supposed to be simply the idle boasting of a diseased mind, but a remark from his aged father, Jonathan R. Mather, one of the oldest and best known residents, as well as one of the most successful in his business career as a contractor, led the officers to consider the clew worth investigating. Mather was encouraged to tell his story, and said that one night in October, 1875, when he was employed as telegraph operator at Big Rapids Junction, two miles east of Muskegon, he and Olson, also a young man, quarreled on their way to Big Rapids Junction, and at the end of a railroad trestle he shot Olson three times, the first in the thigh, the second in the breast as Olson was approaching him with a dirk, and the third time in the head, the last shot to be sure that he was dead. This shot was fired after Olson had worked his way to a small clump of trees. Mather took the dirk, and resumed his way to the Junction, where he assumed the routine of his duties as though nothing had happened. A heavy snow fell that night, and covered the body, which was not discovered until spring, when a coroner's jury decided that Olson died of self-inflicted injuries.

Mather continued to act as operator for some time, but one night, while playing a piano in a hotel, he suddenly became insane, and put the guests to flight by flourishing the dirk which he had taken from Olson's body. Some time later he came back to Indiana, and within a few months was committed to the insane hospital. He was dismissed as cured, but has three times since then been an inmate. In 1897 he was taken to the hospital and released the next day, the authorities there not regarding him dangerous enough to warrant confinement.

Superintendent Silvers wrote to Chief of Police Thomas Geraghty, of Muskegon, giving the outline of Mather's story, without the use of names, and the result of the correspondence has been a confirmation of the story, so far as the finding of Olson's body and some other details are concerned. Of the coroner's jury but one survives, and he is the man who found the body. The records show that the coroner's jury considered the case on Oct. 5, 1875, which antedates the time of the discovery of the body according to Mather's statement. This juror is now a lawyer of Muskegon, but Chief Geraghty wrote some days ago that he was critically ill at his home. Geraghty learned that Mather was operator at the junction at the time claimed. The officers in both cities have been quietly working on the case.

KILLS LEADER OF A GANG.

Frankfort, Ind., Jan. 17.—Clem Pruitt, the leader of the notorious Pruitt gang, died yesterday from the effects of a revolver shot fired by William Pittser, a young farmer. The gang invaded the home of William Pittser, where a dance was in progress. They broke down the doors, smashed the furniture and insulted the dancers. Pittser remonstrated and the gang attacked him, but he finally shot Clem Pruitt. Pittser, who is seriously hurt, is here in jail under the care of a physician. Public sympahy is overwhelmingly in his favor.

BOY IS TAKEN FROM HOME.

Laporte, Ind., Jan. 17.—Andrew Lerick has disappeared with the 10-year-old son of Joseph Chlebowska and it is the theory of the police that the boy has been kidnaped. Lerick came here about a month ago and secured employment. He left his job last Saturday. Tuesday he prevailed on young Chlebowska to accompany him for a walk, since which time the police have been unable to find any trace of the man or the boy. The lad's parents are crazed with grief and anxiety and they profess to believe that Lerick will kill the boy if he gets beyond his control or attempts to escape. Lerick's place of residence before coming here is not known.

FATHER MORRISSEY VERY ILL.

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 17.—Father Morrissey, president of Notre Dame university, is dangerously ill with pneumonia. Callers are not allowed to see him, and eminent specialists are in attendance. Last Sunday evening Father Morrissey, who for some time has not been in good health, was confined to his room by what he supposed to be a mere cold.

REV. ANDREW J. MORRISSEY,
President of Notre Dame University,

but his symptoms soon became alarming, and Dr. Bertling, who was called, pronounced the disease pneumonia. Father Morrissey sang vespers at the college church Sunday afternoon and at that time his voice was noticeably weakened. Immediately after vespers he went to the university infirmary and has not left his bed since. Wednesday night Dr. Coynes, of Chicago, was called in consultation with Dr. Bertling, and while the doctors say that the president's condition is critical, still, in case no unforeseen complications arise, there is hope for his recovery.

KIDNAPERS AVOID A TRAP.

Marion, Ind., Jan. 17.—The police learned yesterday that John Feathers and Ray Howell, the young men wanted for kidnaping Lillie Winters, were in hiding near the city and that A. M. Pilcher, the man who drove the cab the night the girl was taken to a roadhouse, drugged and mistreated, was to meet the fugitives at a house three miles from the city at 12 o'clock and take them to Wabash, where they were to board a train. Pilcher was arrested and an officer drove the cab to the meeting place. Three officers lay in waiting along the road for the purpose of holding up the cab and arresting the two men.

Feathers and Howell, however, learned of the arrest of Pilcher and did not go to the farmhouse. James Roan, who conducted the roadhouse where the girl was mistreated, was arrested this evening as an accomplice.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

The home of Mrs. G. P. Gray, 35 Liberty street, was the scene of a very pretty wedding Thursday when Miss Maud Webster was united in marriage to Ira Deardorff, of Payne, Ohio, Rev. J. W. Lake, of Calvary U. B. church, performing the ceremony, and at the close an elaborate wedding dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Deardorff left at noon for Dixon, O., where they will visit the bride's parents a few days and will then go to Cincinanti, which is to be their future home. The bride was attired in a pretty gown of white, and carried carnations.

NOT AN EPIDEMIC.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 16.—Dr. J. N. Hurty, of Indianapolis, and Dr. Herman Spaulding, medical inspector for Chicago, were in the city yesterday to investigate the smallpox situation. Their trip resulted in finding four cases here at the present time, and as a consequence this city will not be quarantined nor quarantined against. The physicians came here to investigate rumors to the effect that the city was pestridden, and that the authorities were making no effort to abate the epidemic. There have been thirty-eight cases here altogether, since November 18. Both physicians left the city satisfied that no epidemic exists here and that all possible precautions are being taken.

RINKARD HANGED

AGED WIFE MURDERER'S LIFE IS STRANGLED OUT.

EXECUTED IN STATE PRISON

ASCENDED GALLOWS WITH FIRMNESS.

DID NOT MAKE A STATEMENT

STORY OF CRIME FOR WHICH RINKARD DIED.

Michigan City, Ind., Jan. 17.—Bent with age and the toil of years, his hands stained with the blood of his wife, hoary-headed old John Rinkard marched to the gallows in Michigan City prison a few minutes past midnight and atoned for the cold-blooded crime on the black engine of death. The aged murderer met his doom with an attempt to preserve the stoical demeanor that has characterized him since he tried to end his life after slaying his wife at Marion eighteen months ago. Supported by Deputy Warden Barnard and a guard, he approached the scaffold with a tread not of the firmest and declined the privilege of making a statement on the gallows.

When the guards quickly bound his hands and feet with straps the doomed man's face turned livid, and as the aged murderer's single eye swept the death chamber with a look both of dumb appeal and stubborn defiance, his mouth twitched nervously. The sightless socket, the mark of his attempted suicide over his wife's dead body, gave the drawn and wrinkled visage the appearance of death itself as the gray beard of the old fellow was swept beneath the black cap.

SHOOTS DOWN TO DEATH.

In an instant the noose was adjusted, the rope was pulled and the trap was sprung, and when the weight of human flesh had tested the strength of the seven feet of hangman's rope the gallows had claimed its prey Murderer Rinkard's neck was broken and death was almost instantaneous. The swaying body dangled for a moment in front of Prison Physician Dr. Brose H. Horne, until he grasped the pulse of the dying man and placed a phoenetelegraph over the doomed murderer's heart. With bowed head he listened as the heart fluttered more feebly and in eight minutes the body was lowered to the ground.

Rinkard was taken from his cell at 12:09 o'clock and the march to the scaffold was begun. He mounted the scaffold and stepped forward to the center of the trap, where he stood motionless while the straps were being adjusted. At exactly eleven minutes past the midnight hour the drop fell, and three minutes afterward Dr. Horne pronounced him dead. Rinkard was accompanied during the brief march to his death by Warden Reid, Deputy Warden Barnard, Chief Clerk Lewis, Dr. Horne, Dr. W. J. Hill, the assistant physician, Chaplain Henderson and four guards

LEFT A LETTER.

Rinkard left a letter to his old friend, the Rev. Constantine M. Shugart, of Marion, with the request that it be not opened until after his death. The letter was rambling and incoherent. In it he gave directions for the disposal of his body and expressed sorrow for the crime.

Rinkard's last day was spent as the other days have been spent since his confinement began. That he feared his impending fate was evident by his remarks to the chaplain, which were few. He eagerly accepted the ministrations of the clergyman who was with him almost all day and night, until he was taken from his cell. He listened attentively to the reading of the Bible, prayers and spiritual consolations, and then said:

"I don't deserve to hang. I killed her, but she wouldn't live with me."

The chaplain spoke to the aged murderer about his army experience. Rinkard was a private in the Fifty-fifth Ohio infantry during the civil war, seeing much hard service. The chaplain led Rinkard to think that the ordeal would be no worse to face than the bullets and cannon of the confederate army.

CONDEMNED MAN SLEPT WELL.

Rinkard slept well Wednesday night and ate his meals heartily yesterday. The prison physician saw him but found it unnecessary to prescribe for the old man. The death warrant was read to Rinkard by Warden Reid at 11 o'clock, after which final preparations were rapidly completed for the last act. Rinkard was provided with a new black suit, which he donned without much show of trepidation. The execution followed, as related in the foregoing.

Only those for whom the law provides witnessed the execution. These were Warden Reid, Deputy Warden Barnard, Chief Clerk Lewis, Chaplain Henderson, Dr. Horne, the prison physician and his assistant and the six guards. Rinkard had desired the presence of the Rev. Constantine Shugart, of Marion, but when the latter arrived Thursday afternoon he said he did not care to witness it. Mr. Shugart brought a request for the body and will take it to Marion, where he has a lot in readiness for the burial today.

John Rinkard's crime was the brutal murder of his wife at Marion in September of 1900. He was arrested on the spot, and a few days later was indicted in the Grant circuit court, sitting at Marion. On Sept. 25, 1900, on the application of Rinkard's attorneys, Kersey, Peters & Allen, Judge Paulus granted a change of venue and sent the case to Wabash county for trial. The case was not reached until January of 1901, and in the meantime, while confined in the Wabash county jail, Rinkard made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide. The trial was conducted before Judge Shively and lasted several weeks. The jury returned a verdict on Feb. 19, after a few hours' deliberation, finding Rinkard guilty of murder in the first degree and fixing his punishment at death.

The evidence showed that Rinkard possessed an ungovernable temper and by nature was very brutal. The woman he killed had been his wife thirty-three years, and from the beginning he had mistreated her, often beating and kicking her. He was cruel to his children, using sticks or anything he could get his hands on when in a passion. Five children were born to the Rinkards, of whom but one is living, a young man at Marion, who left his father's home. Rinkard was angry because his wife left him and had gone to live with her brother. He had previously beaten her in the presence of her mother, for which offense he was arrested and fined.

On the morning of the tragedy Rinkard went to the office of an insurance agent, to whom he paid dues for insurance for his wife and himself. He then sought his wife and found her at the home of her brother. A few moments later shots were heard, and when neighbors rushed into the house Mrs. Rinkard lay dead on a couch, shot in four places. Rinkard lay on the floor badly wounded, with two revolvers under him. Rinkard rapidly recovered.

There was no one in the house at the time of the tragedy but a little girl and a sick boy, who died before the trial. A woman of the neighborhood testified that she saw the tragedy through a window. She stated that Mrs. Rinkard was in the kitchen, ironing, and that after he had fired the first shot and missed the mark she struggled with her husband until the last breath left her body.

Judge Shively sentenced Rinkard to hang on Aug. 23 last, but on July 23, the case having been appealed to the supreme court, a stay of execution was granted until Jan. 17. The defense pleaded insanity, but the supreme court affirmed the judgment of the lower court, announcing its decision on Dec. 11.

Rinkard was nearly 64 years old. He was received at the state prison on May 7, 1901, and was confined in a hospital ward until the last week in December, when he was placed in one of the six cells of the death chamber and the death watch established. During his confinement he never spoke unless spoken to or unless he wanted something. Unable to read and write, he spent his wakeful hours sitting in a chair staring blankly into space, and evinced little or no interest in his impending fate.

OF UNITED STATES CONSUL AT JOHANNESBURG.

MILITARY CENSOR ACTIVE

FACTS BROUGHT IN TREASON TRIAL IN LONDON.

KITCHENER BLAMES BOTHA

FOR THE NECESSITY OF CONCENTRATION CAMPS.

London, Jan. 17.—The trial of Dr. Krause, the former governor of Johannesburg, on the charge of inciting Cornelius Broeckman, the public prosecutor of Johannesburg, to murder John Douglas Foster, an English lawyer, who was on the staff of Lord Roberts, opened at the Old Bailey today. If the prisoner and his friends had been suspected of a design to explode dynamite in the court the precautions against the admission of unauthorized persons could not have been more stringent. Every one was closely scrutinized and compelled to produce a card of admission.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty, and the solicitor general, Sir Edward Henry Carson, proceeded to detail the facts already testified to in the police court.

Broeckman, whom Dr. Krause is alleged to have incited to the murder of Foster, was executed by the British in South Africa.

In the course of the examination of the press censor of Johannesburg it transpired that the postoffice officials there were in the habit of sending to the censor all letters addressed of the United States consul, Mr. Gordon. The lord chief justice asked if such letters were subject to censorship. On being informed that he was not bound to reply, the censor declined to answer the question.

THE CONCENTRATION CAMPS.

London, Jan. 17.—A blue book issued this morning on the subject of the concentration camps in South Africa contains further detailed explanations from Lord Milner, the British high commissioner, and Lord Kitchener, as to the causes of the excessive death rate in the camps and refutations of the charges of cruelty.

Lord Kitchener emphatically denies Commandant Schalk-Burger's allegations of forcible removal and exposure of pregnant women and of rough and cruel treatment of women and children, and says:

"I offered Botha to leave the families and relatives of fighting burghers in undisturbed possession of their farms if Botha would agree to spare the farms of the families of surrendered burghers. Botha emphatically refused, saying:

" 'I am entitled to force every man to join, and if they do not join, to confiscate their property and leave their families on the veldt.' "

The blue book gives statistics for the month of December last, when there were 117,017 inmates of the camps, and 2,380 deaths, of which number 1,767 were children.

MR. BALFOUR ANSWERS.

London, Jan. 17.—A. J. Balfour, the government leader, replied in the house of commons today to a series of questions in regard to the reference in the recent speech of the German imperial chancellor, Count Von Buelow, to assurances received from Germany on the subject of the utterances at Edinburg of Mr. Chamberlain, the colonial secretary. Mr. Balfour declared that no assurances had been officially asked for by Germany, but that in unofficial conversation Lord Lansdowne, the foreign secretary, had pointed out to the German ambassador that Mr. Chamberlain had made no charges of barbarity aginst the German or any other army. In the opinion of the government nothing was required to be said either in the direction of qualifying or withdrawing the remarks of Mr. Chamberlain.

Replying to another question, Mr. Balfour said Col. Arthur Lynch, the recently elected member for Galway, who is said to have fought on the side of the Boers in South Africa, would be arrested immediately after landing on British soil.

A NEW RECEIVER IN CHARGE

CHANGE IN THE AFFAIRS OF THE EVERETT-MOORE.

Chairman of the Bankers' Committee Has Assumed Charge of the Affairs of Syndicate.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 17.—Chairman Newcomb, of the Bankers' committee, appointed to take charge of the Everett-Moore syndicate properties, stated today that an amicable agreement had been reached with Strang & Co. and other creditors of the Detroit & Toledo Shore Line.

The receiver appointed for the road at the instigation of Strang & Co. will be discharged at once and Receiver Edwards, who was appointed by the United States court at the suggestion of the bankers' committee, will assume charge of the property. It is understood that the road will be placed in full operation at the earliest possible time.

The board of directors of the Federal Telephone company, with the approval of the bankers' committee, has appointed J. W. Judd, of this city, as treasurer of the Federal and its constituent companies. Mr. Judd's headquarters will be in the city.

Referring to a report that the securities company, the financiering concern which was organized largely for the purpose of floating the bonds and securities of the Everett-Moore syndicate, would shortly go into liquidation, Chairman Newcomb said today:

"It is true that the matter has been under consideration, but as yet no official action has been taken. Hence the announcement bearing on the subject is premature."

MEDICAL COLLEGE INSTRUCTOR DISMISSES HIS CLASS.

There was a slight ripple in the even tenor of things at the Fort Wayne College of Medicine on Thursday and one lecture which was upon the program was not delivered.

One of the instructors was about to begin his lecture on osteology, when another member of the faculty drifted into the class room casually and took his seat to hear the lecture. For some reason or other this was not satisfactory to the lecturing physician in charge of the class and the visitor was requested to leave the room.

This invitation was declined upon the ground that he was wholly within his rights as a member of the faculty in visiting the class room, and, it is said, volunteered to complete the lecture if the regular instructor were unwilling to do so. The students were all attention and awaited the outcome with considerable manifestation of interest, but the incident was closed by the dismissal of the class without the customary lecture.

GOES OVER A YEAR

ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION IS POSTPONED UNTIL 1904.

OFFICIALS ADMIT THE FACT

CAN MAKE IT BIG BY 1903

BUT THE BIGGEST EVER BY THE YEAR FOLLOWING.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The Louisiana Purchase exposition which was to have been held at St. Louis in 1903 will not take place until 1904. This fact was practically conceded by ex-Governor Francis, president of the exposition company, and Adolph Busche, the financial agent of the company, at the white house today. Since arriving here and conferring with the foreign representatives, Governor Francis and Mr. Busche have come to the conclusion that unless the exposition is postponed for a year the exposition will not be able to secure the elaborate foreign exhibits which are desired. They find, for instance, that a Japanese fair is to be given under government auspices in 1903 and if the exposition is postponed until 1904 everything of interest exhibited there can be brought to St. Louis the following year. It is the desire of the exposition management that the foreign exhibits especially shall be very complete. "In 1903 we can make the exposition as great as any ever given," said Governor Francis, "but if we postpone it a year it will surpass anything in the exposition line ever attempted. We can be ready in 1903, but it is questionable whether we can secure what we want from abroad by that time."

In order to interest foreign governments it is the desire of the exposition management that the foreign agents of the exposition be appointed and accredited by the state department and steps are being taken to that end now. Yesterday Governor Francis and Mr. Busche extended an invitation through the German embassy to Prince Henry to visit St. Louis during his stay in this country, but no reply had been received up to noon today.

SURPRISE IN ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis, Jan. 17.—The dispatch from Washington quoting President Francis as intimating that the Louisiana Purchase exposition, scheduled for 1903, might not be held until 1904, was a great surprise at world's fair headquarters here today.

"I have received a dispatch from President Francis, saying: 'I have not talked of postponement or admitted it at all.' "

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

LESSON IV., FIRST QUARTER INTERNATIONAL SERIES—COMMENTARY BY REV. D. M. STEARNS.

Lesson for Sunday, Jan. 26, 1902. Text—Acts iii., 1-16. Memory verses—6-8. Golden text—Ex. xv., 2. (Copyright, 1901, by American Press Association.)

1-3. It was the hour of the evening sacrifice, the hour when Jesus died on Golgotha (Matt. xxvii, 46, 50), that found Peter and John going into the temple on this occasion. While the unbelieving Jews continued their forms the believers in Jesus Christ met for prayer, knowing that the true and only sacrifice for sin was in heaven on their behalf and that they, His witnesses, could do nothing without Him.

4, 5. As Peter and John said, "Look on us," he looked, expecting to receive something in the way of money, for he knew not of the durable riches and righteousness of Prov. viii, 18. "He gave heed, expecting to receive," and that is more than many believers do when they pray, for they ask, and wonder if they are heard, and are surprised if they receive, and talk about its being so wonderful and so strange. How much better it would be when we pray to expect, according to Ps. v, 3; John xiv, 13, 14. This lame man was expecting from people, but Peter and John had learned to expect from God. If believers would lay hold of or be laid hold of by these words: "Cease ye from man," "It is God who worketh" (Isa. ii, 22; Phil. ii, 13), great things might be seen.

6. "In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk." Silver and gold could not do this nor all the power of man, but those who have neither gold nor silver can be friends and partners with Him who doeth all such things. There is something better than money which can be had without money (Isa. lv, 1; Rev. xxii, 17). Many profess to have the gift of God, but some really possess Him. It would be well to consider, "Have I Christ, or do I only seem to have or think I have?" (Luke viii, 18, margin; I John v, 12). Peter could say: "I have." "I give."

7, 8. "Walking and leaping and praising God." This by a man over forty years of age who had never walked! Well might the people call it a notable miracle (chapter iv, 16, 22). It was accomplished in a moment. As soon as Peter took him by the right hand immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength. It was written by the prophet that the lame man should leap as a hart (Isa. xxxv, 6). But how few would have expected that such words would have such a literal fulfillment. And that is one of our great difficulties and hindrances. We seem so slow to believe that God means just what He says.

9, 10. The people saw Him and knew Him and were filled with wonder and amazement. So on the day of Pentecost they were all amazed and marveled (chapter ii, 7, 12). The change in this man was so manifest and unmistakable that it could not be denied (iv, 16), yet the authorities would, if they could, stop all such doings. A lady whom I know, whose eyes were miraculously healed after all the doctors had failed to help, put the story in tract form, and a doctor who read it told her she was doing wrong, as others might think they could have a similar experience. What are we on earth for if not that the works of God may be seen in us? (John ix, 3).

11. "The lame man which was healed held Peter and John." The healed man naturally clung to his deliverers, and the crowd ran to see the healed and the healers. There is so little power of God in the church today that the crowd has to be drawn by entertainments, suppers, concerts, etc.; but let some of the power that was seen on this occasion be again manifested, and the things which now disgrace the church might speedily vanish. This man's help came through Peter and John, and he clung to his visible deliverers. When we learn to say sincerely, "My help cometh from the Lord, who made heaven and earth," we will not longer look to the hills for help (Ps. cxxi, 1, 2, margin, and Jer. iii, 23).

12. "Why look ye so earnestly on us?" Not knowing the invisible God, people gaze with wonder upon the visible instruments by whom God is graciously pleased to work, but if those whom God uses would continue to be used by Him they must be careful to give God the glory, for no flesh shall glory in His presence (I Cor., 29-31). As soon as the instrument is willing to be magnified the power ceases. Concerning Pharaoh's dream, Joseph said that it was not in him to interpret it, but that God would do it, and Daniel said that there was no wisdom in him more than in others, but that the God in heaven, who revealeth secrets, would make known the dream (Gen. xli, 16; Dan. ii, 28-30).

13-16: "His name, through faith in His name, hath made this man strong." As on the day of Pentecost, he told them that Jesus, whom they had crucified, had by God been raised from the dead and received up into heaven, so now he again tells them that the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob had glorified His Son Jesus, having raised Him from the dead, and that the perfect soundness of this man who had been lame was due wholly to the risen Christ, whose witnesses they were. We do not know that the man had any faith in Christ, but Peter and John had, and as the faith of the woman of Tyre and Sidon brought health to her daughter and the faith of the centurion brought health to his servant (Matt., viii., 10-13; xv., 28), so their faith brought health to this man. Who can tell the possibilities of faith in God, and what do we know of the faith of the Son of God? (Mark, xi., 22-24; Gal., ii., 20). As the Mephibosheth was lame through no fault of his own, yet was made to live with the king and eat continually at the king's table (II. Sam., iv., 4; ix., 12), so we who are all lame through Adam's sin, without strength, ungodly, may be healed by Him who, having died for us, is now alive forevermore (Rom., v., 1-16; iii., 24). Peter, in the power of the Spirit, preaches unto them Jesus and the resurrection, as taught by the prophets, and, telling them that Jesus Christ shall come again to restore all things of which God hath spoken by the mouth of all His holy prophets, he urges them to repent, that their sins may be blotted out and that the times of refreshing may come with the coming again of the Lord Jesus (verses 17-21 and see R. V.) To the Jew first (verse 26) and to every creature (Mark, xvi., 15) we are to give the gospel, that out of all nations the people for His name may be gathered (Acts, xv., 14), and thus His Eve builded, that He may take her to Himself and come again in His glory.

IN BAKER'S FAVOR

HIS CONFIRMATION WILL BE RECOMMENDED.

SENATE JUDICIARY DECIDES

CASE OF FEDERAL JUDGE IS DISPOSED OF.

OBJECTIONS ARE TAKEN UP

NOTHING IN THE WAY OF HIS CONFIRMATION.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The senate committee on judiciary today agreed to report favorably the nomination of Hon. Francis E. Baker, of Indiana, to be circuit judge in the Seventh circuit. The opposition to Judge Baker's confirmation was withdrawn, but the circumstances connected with his case were discussed at some length. There was especial reference to the fact that his faher is district judge in the Indiana district and the point was made that with the son occupying the circuit bench it might fall to his lot to review his faher's decisions. There was, however, a general expression to the effect that the prominence of a man's father should not be allowed to stand as a bar to his own preferment. It was suggested also that in such cases Judge Baker's delicacy could be depended upon to find the proper solution of the problem. This view was accepted and the decision favorable to report the nomination was not opposed.

Among other nominations which the judiciary committee decided to report favorably were those of Fletcher M. Doan and Richard E. Sloan to be associate justices of the supreme court of the territory of Arizona.

POULTRY SHOW CLOSES

The poultry and pet stock show in the Saengerbund building closed Saturday after a most successful season. The attendance that day was day.

The Fort Wayne Poultry and Pet Stock association is to be congratulated on the unqualified success of the exhibition, which is by all odds the best ever given in Fort Wayne. The gentlemen composing the club have labored unceasingly in the face of numerous obstacles to give in Fort Wayne a poultry show equal in every respect to the shows given in cities larger than this city, and their efforts have been crowned with success.

The association has met all expenses and has a small sum in the treasury which will be used in having a much larger exhibition in this city next year.

The work of awarding the prizes at the pet stock branch of the poultry show was completed last Thursday by the judges, S. B. Lane, of Spiceland; O. P. PRIZES FOR BELGIAN HARES.

The judges at the poultry show late this afternoon completed the prize Friday afternoon completed the prize list in the Belgian hare department. The principal prizes were won by William Glenn, who took three firsts, viz.: Buck one year old, doe one year old and buck eight months old. A card on his exhibit pronounced it the best in the show. J. D. King, of Ossinn, was awarded three first prizes. Other prize winners were Arthur Stockbridge, Zimmer & Son and the Fort Wayne Pigeon lofts. The latter exhibitors took first prize for an Angora buck.

STOMACHS ON STILTS

The man who stands on stilts does not increase his stature a particle. He may feel taller while he's on the stilts, but when he's off them he feels shorter than he ever felt. A man can't live on stilts; he must come off them sooner or later, and then he realizes that whatever seeming advantage he gained from his artificial elevation was only temporary.

Stimulants are the stilts of the stomach. They lift a man up for the time being, but the good feeling they give is only temporary. A man can't live on stimulants, and when he leaves them he feels worse than ever. In this age of hurry and worry a large percentage of the population have some form of stomach "trouble," popularly described as "weak stomach." The first impulse of the average man whose stomach is "weak" is to have recourse to stimulants. He feels bloated after eating, has frequent eructations and a general feeling of physical discomfort. He takes a glass of something to "stimulate his stomach" and make him "feel good." He may get the desired result for a time, but he is doing nothing for the disease which is in reality aggravated by stimulants instead of benefited. The need of the "weak" stomach is strength, and it is obvious that stimulants can't strengthen the stomach because there is no true strength in stimulants but only a false strength. The jaded horse is no stronger because he mends his pace when pricked by the spur. His extra effort is a drain upon the reserve of his vitality, which may result in a complete breakdown. The seeming strength of stimulants is the false strength of a body spurred to effort and making a call on the reserve of vitality, which may and does often result in total physical collapse.

The success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in re-establishing the health of weak, run-down, dyspeptic men and women is due to the fact that it perfectly and permanently cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It does not brace up but builds up the body. It contains no alcohol and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics.

"Last spring, early, I wrote you my feelings and condition," says Mr. A. J. Vanderwater, of 873 West Division Street, Chicago, Ills., "and you advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In all I have taken six bottles of the 'Discovery' and four or five vials of the little 'Pellets.' They have done me worlds of good. All my friends say: 'Vanderwater, how well you are looking. What in the world have you been doing?' I tell them I have been doctoring with Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. 'Why!' they say, 'you haven't been there?' 'No,' I say, 'but I took his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and his little 'Pellets.' These medicines have made the great change in me': from a slow mope of a man that could hardly crawl, tired and sick all the time, and who could do no work, to a man who can work, sleep, eat, and feel fine, and that tired feeling all gone away. I am very thankful that I wrote to Dr. Pierce. His 'Golden Medical Discovery' and his little 'Pellets' have almost made a new man of me. I feel as young as I did at thirty years. No other doctor for me, only Dr. Pierce."

"It is with pleasure that I tell you what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pellets' have done for me," writes Mrs. T. M. Palmer, of Peetle, Kaufman Co., Texas. "Two years ago I was taken with stomach and bowel trouble. Everything I ate would put me in distress. I lived two weeks on milk, and even that gave me pain. I felt as though I would starve to death. Three doctors attended me—one said I had dyspepsia, two said catarrh of the stomach and bowels. They attended me (one at a time) for one year. I stopped taking their medicine and tried other patent medicine; got no better, and I grew so weak and nervous my heart would flutter. I could not do any kind of work. Now, since using your medicines, I can do my housework very well; am gaining in flesh and strength, and can eat anything I want."

No man can be stronger than his stomach. When disease fastens on the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, the consequences are felt by the whole body. A "weak" stomach means a weak man, because when the stomach is "weak" the digestive and assimilative powers fail to a greater or less extent, and the nutrition of the body is inadequate to its needs. But if "weak" stomach means weak man, then weak man means "weak" heart, "weak" kidneys, "weak" liver, "weak" lungs, etc., because the physical man is only the sum of his organs and members, and his weakness is the weakness of each and all of the organs of his body.

This fact explains the cures of "weak" heart, kidneys, liver, lungs and other organs, by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery." First the diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are cured, and thus the weak stomach is made strong. Digestion and assimilation are now perfect. The nutrition derived from food is all used, and not partly lost or wasted. The effects are at once shown in physical gain. The body puts on sound flesh and becomes strong, and as the body is composed of its organs and members, its restored strength means strength of heart, liver, lungs, kidneys — every organ receiving strength from the only source from which physical strength is derived, that is from food when properly digested and perfectly assimilated.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse and regulate the liver and bowels. They produce permanent benefit and do not react on the system.

THE FUNNY SIDE OF WAR.

—Copyright, 1898.

By .... CHARLES B. LEWIS.

There were occasions, as we lay in front of Petersburg, when Gen. Grant went strolling about by himself, and as he never wore any insignia of rank it was hard to tell him from any other officers. I had been in one of the rifle pits with a comrade for 16 hours, and as we finally crept back along the ditch and reached the federal works we found the relief standing there and ready to take our places. With them was Gen. Grant, but looking so dirt-stained and shabby that we took him for no greater man than a captain.

To get into or out of one of the rifle pits on the front one had to creep on his stomach, and once in the pit not a finger could be lifted without drawing the fire of a dozen sharpshooters. Grant asked if it was hot out there, and my comrade hunted about for his pipe and replied:

"Say, Cap, you look as if you could put two and two together."

"I think I can," replied "cap."

"Well, then, you take two h——lls and add two more to 'em and you'll get what's out there. Haven't got a match about your clothes, have you?"

The general produced his match box and sprung back the lid and extended it, and at the same time asked if the enemy seemed to be very busy.

"Busy!" shouted the private in reply. "Say, old man, why don't you try one o' them pits for yourself for about an hour? If you don't find the busiest lot of Johnnies over there you ever run across then you hain't got no hair to stand on end. Mebbe you are hankerin' after a new experience?"

"N—o, not particularly," replied Grant, as a lot of dirt from a "high" bullet rained down on his hat.

"Then I'd advise you to get back and stay back. If you are curious to know what 'h—ll and repeat' means I'll come around to your tent and write it out for you for a plug of tobacco."

Grant smiled and smoked and watched the relief crawling up the ditch, and as we made for our quarters we met one of his staff looking him up. It was probably the only bit of advice he got from a private soldier during the war.

A Funny Man Wanted.

We had in our company a private named Baker, who could tell a funny story so funnily that none of the men around him had a show to get homesick. At second Bull Run he became panic-stricken and bolted, and for this he was afterwards brought before a court-martial. Baker's description of how a sudden fear came upon him—how he found his hair crawling up and his knees knocking together, while his chattering teeth were biting away at the end of his tongue, was said by a member of the court to be the funniest thing he ever listened to. He told of his flight—how he seemed to have wings—how he ran into and knocked down a fat major—how he whirled a mule end to end and frightened a band into running away—and his looks, voice and gestures upset the dignity of the court and hastened a verdict. It was a serious charge and merited heavy punishment, but Baker got off with a few days in the guardhouse.

A month later we had a sharp little fight between outposts, and in addition to our killed we had a dozen wounded men. There was a surgeon with us, but owing to some accident or blunder he had no anesthetic with him. A trooper's arm had been so shattered that amputation was necessary, and he was asked if he thought he could stand it without chloroform. If not, he would have to be sent about 12 miles in an ambulance. He thought it over for a minute and then replied:

Inquiries were made and Baker was found to be unhurt. Then the wounded man said:

"If Baker will show up and tell me one of his funny stories you can go ahead and chop the old arm off and have done with it."

The story teller was soon on hand. He realized the gravity of the occasion and made the effort of his life. Fifty of us stood around while he told and acted out a yarn about a farmer's courtship. He hadn't been talking a minute when the wounded trooper began laughing, and the surgeon was the only one in the crowd who didn't enjoy the story. He had to shut his ears to it and do his work. The arm was off and the stump dressed in seven or eight minutes, and the victim cried out only once.

Attacked by a Mule.

While neither the federal nor the confederate army would have carried on the war for ten days without the help of the army mule, the animal was responsible for a good many things which went wrong on both sides. As Sheridan lay comforting Early on the Opequan a drove of mules was forwarded from Washington. Among them was one which attracted attention by his unusually long neck. It was the general opinion that nature started in to make him a giraffe, but changed her mind after finishing up his neck. It was a day or two before anyone discovered what the extra two feet had been put into his neck for. Then the beast got his bearing and sent forth such brays as had never been heard even about an army camp before. He could outbray anything on legs. He could wake up more men with one effort than any score of mules could by braying for an hour. After the third night of his arrival the teamster to whose lot he fell was ordered to take him two miles to the rear, but even then his tones reached the ears of 10,000 men and his jaws had to be tied.

This mule differed from other mules not only in length of neck, but in having feelings to be hurt. When they choked off his bray they grieved and wounded him, and he determined on revenge. After a day or two he slipped his halter and made his way on the neutral ground. The videttes and pickets on both sides tried to capture him, but it was no go. On the second night of his liberty, just after the midnight charge of pickets, the mule suddenly "opened fire" against the federal lines. He came down on the left flank at a gallop, braying as he came, and inside of three minutes he had routed out 6,000 soldiers and got them into line. In the ears of the half-asleep men his brays sounded like cheers, and our lines had scarcely been formed when we began firing. A minute later the confederates were under arms and blazing away, believing it was a night attack, and it was subsequently figured that at least 20,000 bullets were fired by both sides. Not one of them even grazed that mule. Our fire halted him for a time, but bracing up to the occasion he presently came charging into and over the lines, knocking men right and left and almost starting a panic. When he was finally captured, the soldiers demanded that he be instantly wiped off the face of the earth, but discipline prevailed and he was turned over to the quartermaster and shipped back from whence he came.

Working Out of the Army.

After the first two or three battles men began to discover that war was not a picnic, and as a result a certain per cent. of officers as well as of the rank and file began to lay plans to get out with honor. Few officers dared forward a resignation without a certificate from the surgeon, and as for an enlisted man, he had to be sharper than a fox to produce any ailment to baffle those who must sign his application. Rheumatism was a favorite complaint for awhile, but when it would work no longer and men with liver complaint and consumption were stood out on extra duty to be cured, the homesick chaps had to go down deeper. Then it came about that they suddenly went deaf or lost their voices. The surgeons were put to no end of trouble by these malingers, and when a soldier had hung out for any length of time he was given some severe tests.

We had in C troop a man named Hope, who proved himself a good fighter until homesickness overcame him. His was the first "lost voice" heard in our brigade. He went out on sentry one night, and at the end of two hours came in with his voice down to a whisper. It was supposed to be a hoarseness which would soon disappear, and Hope seemed very anxious to be cured as speedily as possible. As his case did not yield after a few days he was carefully examined. His lungs and throat were found to be all right, and the surgeons were puzzled to know what was the matter. A soldier who can't speak aloud is of no use, and at the end of three weeks, as Hope had not got his voice back, there was talk of discharging him. Then somebody broached the idea that he was "codding," and he was taken in hand to experiment on.

One of the first experiments tried on Hope cost the experimenter pretty dearly. By advice or order of the surgeon one of the company fell in behind him as he was walking up and down and gave him a kick. It was a kick in earnest, and one calculated to make the victim cry out, but Hope uttered no word. He simply turned on the kicker and blacked his eyes and broke his nose. Then tacks were put under the saddle of a horse and Hope ordered to mount him and ride off with a message. The horse kicked and bucked for five minutes, and then threw the trooper over his head, but there was never a yell. They made him chew soap to grease his vocal chords, and they followed it with whatever was nauseating in the drug line, but he made no complaints. Things were even carried so far that a bullet was fired through his hat, but that lost voice of his could never be found. When the poor fellow had been harrassed for a month or more, and when everybody began to believe that his case was genuine, one of the experimenters accidentally discovered that Hope had been a prize fighter before enlisting. This fact was taken as the basis for a new experiment.

We were in a remount camp, with discipline rather lax, and two men who had a grudge were given a show to fight it out with gloves. Hope was not only on hand, but acted as second for one of the fighters. The battle was hardly begun when he became excited and as his man was getting the worst of things in the second round the voiceless man suddenly yelled out in tones which could be heard half a mile away:

"Swing on him with your right, Jimmy—swing on him with your right!"

Hope got 30 days in the guardhouse and was then returned to duty, and no other trooper in that regiment ever lost his voice for more than an hour at a time.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

BARMAIDS OF CALCUTTA.

Their Presence in That Country Has Lowered the White Man in the Estimation of the Natives.

Calcutta is threatened with the loss of its barmaids, and a no small portion of the community violently resents it. An order has recently been issued by the government of Bengal that a clause is to be inserted in the licenses of all hotel proprietors absolutely prohibiting the employment of women in any capacity in or about the bar. This prohibition is to take effect from the 1st of April, 1902, on which date a number of women will be thrown out of employment. The result is a widespread agitation.

The number of barmaids in Calcutta has considerably increased in recent years. In the majority of cases they are brought out from England by the hotel and bar proprietors under contract for a term of years, generally three. The loss to them of a means of livelihood is to be deplored, but as they are entitled to a passage back to England it does not entail the facilis descensus Averni that the more violent among the agitators predict. The correspondence columns of the Calcutta Press show that their sympathizers are numerous, but they further show that the sympathy, though doubtless merited, is the outcome of a very erroneous estimation of the duties which the occasion demands. The justice delivers two lectures weekly at Columbia university. One afternoon recently a late arrival among the students brought with him an extra edition of an evening paper, which, on taking his seat, he eagerly scanned for war news. Justice Harlan did not choose to tolerate such inattention, so after pausing for a moment or two in his remarks he said, in cold tones: "I hope I do not disturb the young gentleman who is reading his paper." The student instantly put his paper out of sight, and for the remainder of the lecture Justice Harlan had no more attentive listener.

DRINK STATISTICS.

Figures by the British Board of Trade Which Tell an Interesting Story.

The British board of trade has just published a memorandum which will give pleasure or pain, according to the point of view of the person for whom the figures have interest. They show as accurately as possible, from the averages of five to ten years, the per capita consumption of wine, malt liquor and spirits in the principal countries of the world. The averages of Great Britain, France, Germany and the United States are given as follows, in gallons per head of population:

	Wine.	Beer.	Spirits.
United Kingdom.....	.33	31.7	1.12
France	24.04	6.3	0.93
Germany	1.45	27.6	1.94
United States.....	.33	13.3	1.06

	Gallons.
United Kingdom.....	33.21
France	25.8
Germany	30.89
United States.....	14.69

This comparison would seem to show that practical temperance obtains to a much greater extent in this than in other countries. That this is true of the spirit consumption of the people of this country as compared with that of France and Germany is surprising. Equally surprising, perhaps, is the relatively small consumption of wine in the German empire; also, that the consumption of beer in Germany is less than that of the United Kingdom.

The net national revenue last year from excise and import duties in the four countries named was: United impression regarding the reasons upon which the prohibition is founded.

The measure is one, in fact, of considerable political significance. It is deplorable, while none the less true, that the veneration with which the white man used to be regarded by the native is rapidly declining, especially in large towns like Calcutta, where the European population is composed of almost every stratum of society. Moreover, the freedom which western nations allow to their oriental idea, and the spectacle of an English girl selling spirituous liquors, a trade which among the natives of India is relegated to the very lowest castes, is one which tends still further to lower the "izzat" (the reputation) of the dominant race. The oriental is slow to move; the inborn prejudices of a thousand generations cannot be uprooted in a day. Where the west jostles the east, where the most advanced of modern ideas come into contact with a conservatism such as is undreamt of out of Asia, friction is bound to ensue. By wise concessions to prejudice that friction may be reduced, and the skillful driver of the engine of state is he who knows where and what to concede. Let the barmaids and their sympathizers take comfort; if they are sacrificed, they are sacrificed for the sake of the stability of the British empire in India. —London News.

THE STRONGEST BOY IN THE WORLD.

When first high ambition asserted its power,
When he looked upon evil with hearty disdain,
And with vigorous will broke habit's iron chain.

These are the boys who make our strong men,
These are the fellows who "get there," and when
They are called to positions of fame,

Justice Harlan's Rebuke.

Of all the justices of the supreme court bench perhaps Justice Harlan is the most courtly, but this does not prevent him administering severe rebuke when occasion demands. The justice delivers two lectures weekly at Columbia university. One afternoon recently a late arrival among the students brought with him an extra edition of an evening paper, which, on taking his seat, he eagerly scanned for war news. Justice Harlan did not choose to tolerate such inattention, so after pausing for a moment or two in his remarks he said, in cold tones: "I hope I do not disturb the young gentleman who is reading his paper." The student instantly put his paper out of sight, and for the remainder of the lecture Justice Harlan had no more attentive listener.

USE SOFT WATER.

Never, under any circumstances, use hard water for washing the face. Distilled water is best, and next to this comes pure, clean rain ater. If neither of these can be obtained the hard water must be softened by artificial means. The face should not be washed more often than twice a day—in the morning and just before retiring. Soap should be used at least once a day, but in cases where the skin is hypersensitive the use of soap even of the mildest kind, causes irritation; it may be cleansed by gently rubbing in a little cold cream and washing afterward with oatmeal water, made by pouring a pint of boiling water over a dessertspoonful of fine oatmeal tied in a piece of muslin. Allow the water to become lukewarm before using, occasionally squeezing the muslin bag during the cooling process.

Rough towels, vigorous rubbing of the face and, indeed, all rough friction should be avoided. A little good toilet cream should be applied after drying. Take a very little on the tips of the fingers and rub gently until the skin has absorbed the cream, then wipe the face with a soft handkerchief or towel and finally dust rice powder lightly over the surface. It is quite a mistake to imagine that powder is injurious to the skin. The dust which accumulates on the face when traveling, or even when a day is spent in crowded stores, is far more injurious to the delicate skin than a good face powder. If, however, there is any objection to the powder, a clean piece of chamois should be carried in one's purse to rub lightly over the face when it is required.

CHILDREN POISONED.

Many children are poisoned and made nervous and weak, if not killed outright, by mothers giving them cough syrups containing opiates. Foley's Honey and Tar is a safe and certain remedy for coughs, croup and lung troubles and is the only prominent cough medicine that contains no opiates or other poisons. Sold by Dreier & Bro., Pellens & Polster.

GAVE AWAY $4 BILLS.

The circulation of sheets of four one-dollar bills as an advertisement by George W. Driver, a restaurant man of Washington, has led to action by the treasurer of the United States forbidding the further use of bills in an uncut form to anyone. Prior to the Christmas holidays, Driver, it is said, advertised that he would during the holidays give as change to his customers "new four-dollar notes." The card was a drawing one, and the host was beseiged with demands for the new bill. Many people thought the advertisement was a hoax, but were surprised to find that he had kept his word by issuing sheets containing four one-dollar notes.

THE TAPESTRY BAG.

There is a revival of old tapestries, velours and medallion embroidered silk boxes. The are to be used for gloves, handkerchiefs, jewelry and for embroidery bags.

One of these bags, found in an East End belle's stocking on Christmas was really exquisite. The piece of tapestry was beautiful in coloring, and in the center of the bag was embroidered the daintiest little medallion, consisting of two small pages in Louis XIV. costume. It was most effective and made a very acceptable gift.

A box covered with this tapestry and intended for bon-bons was also greatly admired, and in place of the silk medallion center a very beautiful Renaissance lace medallion was outlined in gilt and applied to the cloth.

HE WAS STRICKEN SUDDENLY

GEORGE U. DARKER DIED WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Well Known Young Man Was Ill but an Hour—Other Deaths and Funeral Notices.

George U. Darker, for many years timekeeper at the Bass works and one of the best known young men in the city, died at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The precise cause of death will be determined at a post mortem. He had been ill but an hour and his sudden death is a severe shock to the countless friends of the young man, who have known and esteemed him during his entire life.

Two months ago Mr. Darker resigned his position at the Bass works and entered the International Business college to perfect his education in the commercial branches preparatory to accepting a splendid position at Duluth. He attended the college Wednesday, apparently in usual health, but immediately after leaving the building at 3 o'clock fainted and fell to the sidewalk in front of the Elektron building. Friends called a cab and drove the young man to the office of Dr. Whery. Without leaving the cab the young man was given restoratives and within a short time had revived sufficiently to be conveyed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lancaster, 67 West Butler street, where he had boarded for the past two years.

Here also every attention was given him, but despite the efforts of the physicians a severe chill soon followed and the patient sank rapidly until death ensued shortly after 4 o'clock. During a short period of consciousness the young man told of having experienced a chill on Tuesday, but had thought it of little consequence and had not sought medical attention.

Mr. Darker's age was 34 years, 2 months and 15 days. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Darker, both of whom have been dead some years, and was born, reared and educated in Fort Wayne. He was a young man of fine accomplishments and lofty character and prominent in his life were the traits that characterize the most admirable manhood. Among his wide acquaintance, both at the shops and in social circles, he was universally popular. He was an active member of the Baptist church. He was an only child and it is noted that all three members of the family have died suddenly. His father was an engineer and was killed while at work. His mother died very suddenly from heart disease a few years ago, and friends had noted that since the death of his mother the young man had never regained his previous buoyancy of spirit and seemed to be in failing health, having told some of his intimate friends that he feared consumption. Mrs. James Humphrey, of this city, is an aunt of the deceased. There are no nearer relatives.

Mr. Darker was a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

TRACEY.

Mrs. Sarah Jane Tracey, wife of Jacob W. Tracey, died Wednesday at the family home in Lake township, after an extended illness from tuberculosis. Mrs. Tracey was 54 years of age.

She was born in Fairfield county, Ohio, and spent her earlier life there. Reaching womanhood she removed to Van Wert county, where on October 3, 1868, she was united in marriage to Jacob W. Tracey by Rev. Mathers, of the First M. E. church. Three years later they removed to Allen county, Ind., where she has since resided.

Mr. and Mrs. Tracey were the parents of nine children, three of whom died in infancy. Surviving are the husband and six children—Mrs. Francis Lemay, of Roanoke; Albert Tracey, of Fort Wayne, and Edward, Miss Mary, Miss Jennie and Miss Mattie, who reside at the old home. Mrs. Tracey had been for many years a devoted member of the Methodist Episcopal church and her life was a splendid exemplification of beautiful Christian womanhood.

COSGROVE.

Franklin D. Cosgrove died Tuesday at the Indiana school for feeble minded youth from intestinal tuberculosis, at the age of 18 years, 10 months and 10 days. The young man was a son of ex-Sheriff Frank Cosgrove, who is now a traveling general agent for a Mishawaka firm of windmill builders. The father arrived in the city Thursday.

The remains were removed to the undertaking rooms of Klaehn & Melching, where the funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Field officiating.

MILLER.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller died Wednesday at her home in New Haven at the age of sixty years. Mrs. Miller removed from Ohio to New Haven in girlhood and had resided in that place since 1846. She leaves one son, George Miller. Mrs. Mary Reynolds, of this city, is a sister, and Martin Miller, of New Haven, is a brother.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 1:30 from the M. E. church at New Haven.

YARIAN.

Mrs. Mary Yarian, 74 years of age, died Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Reehling, 363 South Hanna street, after an extended illness from heart trouble. Mrs. Yarian was the widow of Isaac Yarian, who died nine years ago. She was born in Wittenberg, Germany, January 27, 1828, and came to Fort Wayne fifty-four years ago. Surviving are two daughters—Mrs. William Reehling and Mrs. Mary Hahn.

GARDT.

Henry Gardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gardt, residing in the rear of 188 Wells street, died at 2:15 o'clock a. m. Friday from typhoid fever, at the age of 6 years, 10 months and 9 days.

BOYER.

Safare Willmor Boyer was born in Springfield township, Allen county, February 21, 1879; died January 10, 1902, aged 22 years, 10 months and 19 days. He was united in marriage to miss Addie C. Bair, June 5, 1901, by Rev. W. H. Schrock, of Spencerville.

The surviving relatives include a loving wife, father, mother, three sisters and two brothers. Mr. Boyer was a most estimable young man and he enjoyed the friendship of a very wide circle of acquaintances. He united with Salem Evangelical Lutheran church in February, 1895, Rev. E. W. Erick, as pastor, administering to him the rite of confirmation, and he remained faithful to the vows of his church to the day of his death. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. E. W. Erick, assisted by Rev. Schrock and Rev. Burket.

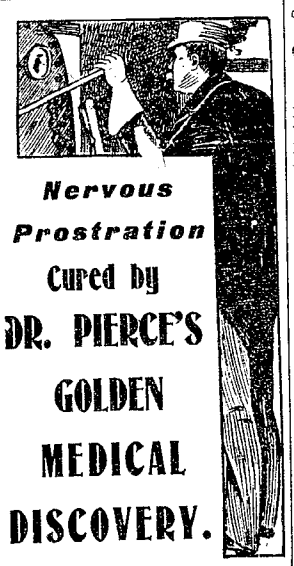
WERE TO WED HERE.

(Huntington Herald.)

In another part of this paper will be seen a "lost" notice in which a lady is minus a purse and over $40 in money. The unfortunate lady has not been in the city long and the mental distress she suffered as a result of her loss started her tears to flow and caused much sympathy in her behalf. Her name is Laura Varner and her home is in Missouri. She left home to marry her lover, her parents being opposed to her marriage to him. She was joined here last evening by her "intended," who gave her $40 with which to come to Fort Wayne, where they would be united in marriage. One rumor is to the effect that they are already married, but this cannot be confirmed. Why her lover joined her here last evening and left without taking her with him is not understood. An effort to locate the young lady proved futile. The total amount of money in the purse was $47.50.

DR. DINNEN IS TREASURER.

At the meeting of the state board of medical examiners in Indianapolis last week officers for the ensuing year were elected and thirty-five applications for physicians' certificates were received. The new officers are: President, W. E. Spurgeon, of Muncie; vice president, J. C. Webster, of Lafayette; secretary, W. F. Curryer, of Indianapolis, (re-elected); treasurer, J. M. Dinnen, of Fort Wayne.



Nervous Prostration Cured by DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

"I am an engineer by trade and the hard work and worry of running a large engine brought on nervous prostration," writes Mr. Chas. F. Dixon, of Arbuckle, Colusa Co., Calif. "A friend recommended Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to me and I bought one bottle; thought that it helped me so continued the use of it until I had taken six bottles. I feel better than ever in my life. Am not a particle nervous, can work hard all day and sleep sound at night. I not only think so but I know that the 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured me and therefore I will recommend it to others."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels and stimulate the sluggish liver.

THE EMPLOYER IS LIABLE

A CONTRACT WITH WORKMEN AGAINST DAMAGES VOID.

Important Decision Is Made by Supreme Court in Case Against Davis Coal Company.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—The supreme court yesterday affirmed the judgment recovered against the D. H. Davis Coal company by Samuel Polland, who was injured by coal falling from the roof of the company's mine in which he was working. The court held that an employer cannot by any contract he may make with his workmen relieve himself from duties and liabilities the law expressly imposed upon him. The opinion was written by Judge Baker.

Polland claimed his injury was due to negligence of the company. The company claimed that Polland knew the mine was not properly propped and was therefore not entitled to damages.

The common law rule is that if the employer does not provide his workmen a safe place to work and they continue to work in the unsafe place, knowing the dangers, they will be deemed to have assumed all risks. Judge Baker, in his opinion, says: "If a statute, as in this case, sets up a definite standard and requires specific measures to be taken, other considerations come into view."

ON DIFFERENT FOOTING.

It is then stated that the very fact of such legislation indicates that the law-makers did not believe the common law afforded sufficient protection. The opinion then refers to the centralization of capital and labor resulting in the employe not being on the same footing with his employer and "having to put up with defective place and tools without complaint for fear of losing his place."

From these developments, the opinion explains, it became necessary for the legislature to take specific measures for the protection of workmen. It is the duty of the employer to use every means named in the statute and he is not at liberty to adopt others. "How, then," the opinion says, "can there be any lawful basis for an agreement that the employer shall violate the law and that the employe shall be remediless?

"The statute in question is not class legislation. Employments differ in degree of hazard. Each has its separate dangers, which must be guarded against in the appropriate way. To classify legislation by distinctions that naturally inhere in the subject matter is not to indulge in class legislation. A law is general and uniform if all persons in the same circumstances are treated alike."

IN FAVOR OF ARCHITECT.

The judgment for the defendant in the case of Charles R. Weatherhogg, of Fort Wayne, against Jasper county was yesterday reversed by the supreme court. Weatherhogg entered into a contract with the commissioners of Jasper county for plans for a $100,000 court house at Rensselaer, which required him to make necessary changes in the plans and to bear all expenses of changes in the building due to defects in his plans. It also provided that he should receive as commission 3 per cent of the cost of the completed building for the plans, specifications, etc., and 2 per cent for superintending the construction. The completed cost of the court house was nearly $150,000, but the commissioners would pay the architect commision on only $100,000.

GETTING READY TO PUSH WORK

Bluffton Banner: "The work of plowing and otherwise opening the way for the electric line north of Muncie has been abandoned. The work of laying out the route between this city and Hartford City, however, has been taken up and this will be continued until the entire line has been opened. The work of grading will not be taken up for some time, according to one of the gang foremen. He stated that the force of workmen would be increased to such an extent that one could almost see the road growing when spring weather comes. The company having the contract will construct a wire fence on either side of the right of way land and the line will be inclosed from Muncie to Fort Wayne. The officials are busy as can be getting other features in condition for the completion of the road."

BURY FATHER AS A PAUPER.

Niles, Mich., Jan. 16.—Incidents in connection with the recent demise of Samuel Weyburn, aged 85, for thirty years a well-to-do resident of Millersburg, Elkhart county, Ind., have caused a sensation. A week ago the decedent suffered a stroke of paralysis. No physician was summoned and he died four days later. His piteous appeals for medical aid, it is alleged by neighbors, were unheeded by his wife and three stepsons. The latter buried the remains in the potter's field. Neighbors say that the family is parsimonious in the extreme, and could well afford to pay doctor's bills and funeral expenses. The decedent was a veteran of the civil war and lately received $2,600 back pension. He received a monthly pension of $17. The community is highly enraged and threats have been made against the stepsons.

BROUGHT IN A PRISONER.

Deputy United States Marshal Martin, of Indianapolis, reached Fort Wayne Wednesday evening with Grant Banks, of Roann, Wabash county, whom he arrested upon the farm of his brother north of Churubusco. Banks was a saloonkeeper at Roann and he is charged with having sold liquor in June last without having paid the government tax and without having his license properly displayed, as provided by law. Banks was taken before Commissioner T. J. Logan, who fixed his bond at $500 pending a preliminary hearing next Monday. Banks could not give the bond and went to jail. He says he is not guilty.

LEG BROKEN; ANKLE INJURED

GEORGE SHORDON PAINFULLY HURT IN FALL.

Was Alone in the Woods, But Managed to Reach Home Suffering Intense Agony.

George Shordon, a well known farmer residing near Georgein, was painfully injured Wednesday in a fall from his wagon. One of his ankles was severely sprained and the leg was fractured a short distance above the ankle.

Mr. Shordon, who is 63 years of age, had taken his team and gone to the woods half a mile from his home to get a load of rails. In attempting to mount the wagon his foot became caught in the rails and losing his balance he toppled backward. The foot remained pinioned between the rails and in the fall the leg was fractured and the ankle sprained severely.

The injured man was alone in the woods, and he called vainly for assistance. None came and he finally managed to extract himself by unloading a portion of the rails. As quickly as possible he drove home suffering the most intense agony. Physicians were summoned to attend him, but the proximity of the fracture to the sprain makes the case extremely difficult to care for, and the patient is suffering severely.

Mr. Shordon is a veteran soldier, a brother of Dan Shordon, of this city, and widely known all over Allen county.

Frank Bevier, secretary of the board of health at Waterloo, was unable to show credentials as a graduate of some reputable medical college, as required by law, and the town board requested him to vacate. This Mr. Bevier declines to do, and the town marshal and attorney have been directed to secure Bevier's books and records and turn them over to Dr. F. Broughton, who has been chosen as secretary of the board of health.

CURES

Catarrh of the Stomach

This disease is principally caused by too cold or too hot food or drink, certain kinds of food, mental exertion, excitement, worry, fright, grief, strain, or as a metastasis of catarrh of the head or other portions of the body, and its most constant symptoms are mental depression, often with doubts of recovery and sometimes with suicidal ideas, general weakness, moroseness, irritability, great sleepiness or obstinate insomnia, no appetite or ravenous hunger with aggravation after eating, discharge of white or gelatinous mucus with stool, general constipation, sometimes alternating with mucous diarrhoea. As the disease progresses the skin becomes pale and dry and the patient is emaciated. We offer the only remedy for this prevalent disorder, and guarantee results. Price 50 cents.

M. H. Kershner, a prominent farmer of near Spartanburg, Ind., was cured of catarrh of the stomach after his case was declared hopeless by physicians and after Mr. K. himself considered his death as a matter of a very short time. This summer he superintended his own harvest and did a man's work for the first time in four years. The cure has created much comment in the neighborhood, and the Enk Preparations are in demand there. Send a stamp for reply and write Mr. Kershner.

TO EXAMINE SCHLEY CASE

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TO GO INTO MATTER.

Attorney General Knox Has Become Interested in the Affair—Both Sides Confident.

New York, Jan. 17.—President Roosevelt has changed his mind in regard to the disposition of the Schley case, says a Washington dispatch to the Herald. In order to forestall the charge that he was unwilling to consider the exceptions of the rear admiral to the findings of the court he has decided to defer action until they have been submitted and he has considered them.

In the investigation which the president is making he has the legal assistance of Attorney General Knox. The latter has taken a deep interest in the Schley controversy and is familiar with its history. Since Rear Admiral Schley appealed to the president for a revision of the findings of the court he has given it closer consideration than he had prior to this development. The president will undoubtedly consult the attorney general when the bill of exceptions under preparation by Messrs. Rayner and Teague is filed by the rear admiral.

Not the slightest inkling of the character of the president's proposed action has leaked out. Friends of Rear Admiral Schley are convinced that he will do their hero justice and they support this view by the determination just reached by the president to wait until Rear Admiral Schley files his brief.

The navy department is equally confident that the president will uphold Secretary Long and the unanimous findings of the court and the majority findings of Rear Admirals Ramsay and Benham.

Considerable curiosity is evinced as to what action the president will take on the question of command, which Admiral Dewey decided in favor of Admiral Schley. Here again a division of opinion exists as to the opinion he will render, but the navy department claims it has no fear of what the verdict will be.

INDIANAPOLIS BRIDGE GOES INTO THE RIVER

Indianapolis, Jan. 16.—At 1:30 this afternoon the center span of the West Washington street bridge, crossing White river, gave way under the weight of a work train consisting of two trolley cars and four teams. Twelve workmen were precipitated into the river, but all were rescued alive. Four were injured. The bridge had recently been condemned and closed, but repairs were made and it had been reopened for traffic.

BEAR CAUSES PANIC IN CITY.

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 16.—A big brown bear escaped last night from a band of gypsies who were passing through the city. Bruin had his own way and soon cleared the streets. He entered Sam Ellis' house, frightened Mrs. Ellis into hysterics, toppled over the table and emptied the larder. The police were notified and Chief Cashmere ordered the bear captured and loaded into the patrol wagon. The animal was brought to police headquarters and later he returned it to its owners.

THE SUBSIDY BILL.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The senate committee on commerce today authorized Senator Frye, its chairman, to make a favorable report on his ship subsidy bill. Senator Frye's report accompanying the bill places the cost of the mail subsidy at $4,700,000. He says the receipts from ocean mail postage will provide $3,000,000 of this amount, leaving a deficit under the system proposed of nearly $2,000,000.

Based on actual navigation of American vessels in foreign trade in 1900, the subsidies proposed would amount to $1,072,000. The bounties on deep sea fisheries is estimated at $175,000.

The democratic members of the committee voted against reporting the bill. They also voted solidly for a motion offered by Senator Mallory to strike out the general subsidy provision of the bill. The committee made several amendments to the bill. The most important were: Allowing mail carrying vessels under the bill to be either iron or steel, instead of steel only, as originally provided, and another reducing to 1,000 gross registered tons the vessels receiving a bounty under the bill.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney and Co. Testimonials free.

THE HARDEST TO GET.

A would-be philosopher was discussing with H. B. Kirk, a millionaire merchant of this city, the qualities in young men that make for success.

NEEDS NO ASTROLOGER.

Mr. Croker was chatting in the democratic club, in his accustomed place in the middle parlor, when a friend asked:

"Have you ever had your horoscope cast by an astrologer?"

"No."

"No, I would not, for I read the papers," was the "chief's" sententious response.—New York Times.
